Hermitage Piano Trio makes triumphant return to Shandelee Music Festival

SHANDELEE, NY: "The Hermitage Piano Trio turned in a performance of such power and sweeping passion that it left you nearly out of breath," said The Washington Post.

A little closer to home, after their September 2016 performance at Bethel Woods in collaboration with the Shandelee Music Festival, music critic Barry Plaxen of the DH Canvas said, "The performing trio, Misha Keylin, violin; Sergei Antonov, cello; and Ilya Kazantsev, piano, are ... each a soloist in his own right, they imbue their chosen selections with much technical power, inspired phrasing and, most importantly, emotion that is deeply and easily communicated to the audience ..."

On Tuesday, August 6, the Hermitage Piano Trio returns to the area to bring the great Russian musical tradition to local audiences when they perform an "Evening of Chamber Music" at the second 2019 Sunset Concert presented by the Shandelee Music Festival.

The Trio has performed at major chamber music series including Los Angeles, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Tucson and New Orleans, and they recently released their debut CD in May of 2019. (Contd. Pg. 4)

Words of Wisdom: "Women Drivers " (Don't always judge a story by its title!) Driving to town one morning on the interstate, I looked over to my left and there was a woman in a brand new Mustang doing 65 miles per hour with her face up next to her rear view mirror putting on makeup. I looked away for a couple seconds and when I looked back she was halfway over in my lane, still working on that makeup! It scared me so bad I dropped my electric shaver, which knocked the donut out of my other hand. In all the confusion of trying to straighten out the car using my knees against the steering wheel, it knocked my cell phone off my lap which then fell into the coffee between my legs - disconnecting an important call! Women drivers! (The Fishwrapper 2/19/19)

Steven D. Drobysh Elected Chair of the SUNY Sullivan Board of Trustees

(Loch Sheldrake, NY): The SUNY Sullivan Board of Trustees, at its annual reorganizational meeting, today elected Steven D. Drobysh as Chair. He succeeds Dr. Theresa Hamlin, who has lead the board since July 2016 and chose not to seek re-election. She will serve as Vice Chair, the position that Drobysh had held. The remaining slate of officers includes Susan Jaffe as Treasurer and Patricia Adams as Secretary.

Drobysh, who was appointed by the Sullivan County Legislature, has been a Board of Trustee member since 2006, and has previously served as the board's Treasurer. Vice President of Commercial Lending for Ulster Savings Bank in Goshen, Drobysh also volunteers for other community organizations. He has been a board member The Arc Sullivan-Orange Counties, NY, for many years and currently serves as President. He is also a Past President of the SullivanArc Foundation Board. On a state-wide level, he sits on The Arc New York's Board of Governors and is Assistant Treasurer. Additionally, he is a board member of The Times Herald-Record's People for People Fund.

In 2017, The Arc Sullivan-Orange Counties, NY, honored Drobysh with the Presidents's Award during its annual Community Recognition Dinner.

"I have every confidence that Steve will continue to move the college forward," said outgoing chair Hamlin. "Steve places a high priority on the fiscal stewardship of the college, and values the benefits that partnerships and workforce development initiatives with the community can bring us."

"Many thanks to Terry for her dedication and leadership during her tenure as Chair," said Drobysh. "I know I speak on behalf of the entire Board of Trustees when I commend Terry for her selflessness and guidance over the past three years," he added. "The college has been able to redirect itself with her at the helm."

DEC Seeks Participants for 2019 Summer Wild Turkey Survey Citizen Scientists Help DEC Gauge Turkey Population

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos today encouraged New Yorkers to participate in the state's annual survey for wild turkeys.

"For more than 20 years the public has partnered with DEC on the Summer Wild Turkey Survey-a critical citizen science effort," Commissioner Seggos said. "The public's observations help DEC biologists to monitor and manage this great game bird and sustain it for the future."

Since 1996, DEC has conducted the Summer Wild Turkey Sighting Survey to track wild turkey populations and estimate the number of wild turkey poults (young of the year) per hen statewide. Weather, predation, and habitat conditions during breeding and brood-rearing seasons can significantly impact nest success, hen survival, and poult survival. This index allows DEC to gauge reproductive success and predict fall harvest potential.

During August, survey participants record the sex and age composition of all flocks of wild turkeys observed during normal travel. Those interested in participating can download a Summer Wild Turkey Sighting Survey form along with instructions and the data sheet from DEC's website. Survey cards can be obtained by contacting regional DEC offices, calling (518) 402-8883, or emailing wildlife@dec.ny.gov (type "Turkey Survey" in the subject line). Participants can also submit observations on-line. Visit the DEC website and click "Summer Wild Turkey Sighting On-line Report."

A tribute to the memory of all of the Townsman Ladies that we have lost and loved so much... Peggy DeWire, Avril Pappa, Joan Hall, Polly Hill, Joyce Lockhart, Jean Helthaler, Karen Curry and Barbara Slater.

Delightful Day Lilies

Cultivated Classic Caper

I want to let Martha Ahrens know that the Day Lilies she had given me several years ago are the most beautiful we have ever seen them! Every time I pass them I say in my heart, "Thank you, Martha."

While the Day Lilies in our garden are cultivated, the Day Lilies that you are seeing along the road are the old-fashioned orange Day

Lily of the genus Hemerocallis.

The word Hemerocallis is derived from two Greek words meaning "beauty" and "day," referring to the fact that each beautiful flower lasts only one day. To make up for this, there are many flower buds on each Day Lily flower stalk, and many stalks in each clump of plants. The flowering period of a clump is usually several weeks long.

Day Lilies are perennials with stout, fleshy roots, straplike leaves, and tall flower stalks that don't branch below the inflorescence. The flowers are terminal, meaning they are situated on the end of a stalk. The branched stalks are erect, with 3 sepals and 3 petals of dull orange color. The sepals are slightly smaller, spreading, to 3 1/2 inches long. Each flower lasts only one day.

The leaves consist of a rosette of basal leaves, coming from the base. They are narrow, straplike, hairless, somewhat folded lengthwise, and grow to about 2 feet long and have a tendency to bend down and outward around the middle, and are somewhat floppy in appearance. It is from this center of the rosette the flower stalk grows. The stout flowering stalks are held erect and are usually much taller than the leaves.

The seed capsules, if any are produced, are 3-celled and contain rows of black seeds. However, these seeds are infertile because the Orange Day Lily is a sterile hybrid. The root system consists of fleshy fibrous roots and rhizomes.

Once established, the Day Lily will spread by its roots and forms dense clumps that usually out-compete other plants.

Day Lilies tolerate most soils, but do best in rich loam. Generally, neither insects nor diseases bother the plant.

The Day Lily is a native of Eurasia. The common or Orange Day Lily was introduced into the United States in the late 19th century as an ornamental and still is a very popular plant favored by homeowners and landscape designers for its showy flowers, hardiness and ability to spread. The blossoms are rich in protein and can be eaten. They can be fried or broiled much like squash blossoms or used as a flavoring in soups, or just placed on a platter of fruit as an attractive garnish or as a tea.

Thank you again Martha, for the beautiful flowers in our gardens this year! They sure are giving competition to the bountiful and also beautiful Day Lillies that are gracing the Catskill landscape.

Household Hints

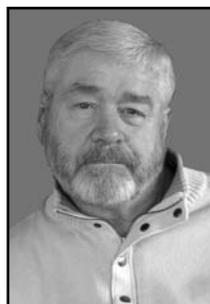

Lost Sock Sense

What to do with the mate of the lost sock

Make curlers out of socks. Cut several socks into strips. Take a section of damp hair, tie the sock strip onto the section of hair and slide it down to one inch of the end. Roll the hair like you would with a curler and tie it at the scalp. Sock curlers are easy to sleep on and the curls will set overnight.

Mysterious Book Report No. 38

by John Dwaine McKenna

There are moments that come along so infrequently, when all the elements line up for someone in such a way that they're considered fortuitous . . . lucky beyond belief . . . because somehow, that person has managed to get the right pieces in the right places at just the right time to command success. Such is the case for this week's Mysterious Book Report number 382.

Rogue Strike, (Berkley, $27.00, 399 pages, ISBN 978-0-399-58576-0) by David Ricciardi, begins in the bombed out town of Zanzibar in southern Yemen, where a pair of deep undercover CIA operatives – acting on a tip – have eyes on a notorious, most wanted terrorist named Mullah Muktar . . . the object of twenty years of intense searching because he was one of the masterminds behind the September 11th attacks. Serial character Jake Keller, along with his partner and mentor, a legendary CIA ops man named Curt Roach, have a pair of UCAVs, unmanned combat aerial vehicles, circling overhead at 18,000 feet, waiting to drop their precision-guided Hellfire missiles down the Mullah's throat. They're cleared to go hot via SATCOM link, but the bat-winged stealth drone, code-named Drifter-72 does not respond to their commands. Instead, it turns around and disappears over the horizon to the north . . . where it drops both missiles onto the crowd of pilgrims at Mecca . . . the holiest site in Islam, where millions are completing an ordained religious duty called The Hajj. The entire event, including a hazy picture of what looks like a B-2 Stealth bomber seen turning away after the strike, is caught on TV, and POW! Just like that, the world turns against America and a billion and a half Moslems want to destroy it. SATCOMS down, Jake and Curt are marooned in a hostile, lawless land surrounded by armed-to-the-teeth Jihadists who want to kill them.

And that, my friends, is but the first twenty-five pages or so in this hot-off-the-presses thriller that's one of this summer's best. It's a pulse pounder ripped from the headlines, and one you won't soon forget!

Like the review? Let your friends know, You saw it in the Mysterious Book Report, because the greatest compliment you can give is to share our work with others.

And Hey! When you have a moment, please check out our secure, all brand-new and combined website that's redesigned, prettier, simple to use, and makes it as easy as pie to send us your comments! Please do. We're looking forward to hearing from all of you.

New Hope Community Partners with Local Builder to Enhance Independent Living

(From Pg. 1) The location complex will consist of three, three-story buildings that house a total of 64, one and two bedroom apartments. All apartments feature smart technology compatibility and are ADA compliant. Approximately 25% of the apartments are set aside for occupancy of people currently associated with New Hope Community. All apartments will be available at fair market value to the general public and would be appealing choices for workforce housing, seniors and students.

The project, which is expected to be completed in 2020, is likely to be the first of many to bring unique, integrated apartment living and a holistic lifestyle for all in the community.

A lifelong Milwaukeean, Goff enlisted in the Navy in 1965. He served in the USS Kitty Hawk's shipboard hospital during its 1967-1968 combat deployment, when the aircraft carrier set a record for consecutive days launching missions into Vietnam at the peak of the conflict. Upon leaving the military, Goff became a staple of Milwaukee life as photojournalist. His photographs are black and white, and they tell the story of the concert with extraordinary sensitivity and a unique perspective.

On Saturday, August 3, Little Sparrow, Greg Castro, and friends will perform songs of the Woodstock generation between 2 and 4 p.m., followed by a reception for the work of Mark Goff. Then from 4-7 p.m., at Gallery 222 (located down the street from the Museum, at 222 Main Street, Hurleyville), a second exhibition of Mark Goff's Woodstock photography will open. The public is cordially invited to both shows.

On Sunday, August 4, from 2-4 p.m., the Sullivan County Historical Society's First Sunday Music and History program will celebrate the music of the Grateful Dead. The Grateful Dead is one of the most iconic bands to emerge from the sixties. They performed at Woodstock, and then in the '70s, Jerry Garcia returned to Sullivan County to perform a concert in Fallsburg!

The Olive Jar - By Carol Olsen LaMonda

On Monday, July 15th, Ulster County's BYOB Bag law banning plastic bags and imposing a five cent fee on paper bags will go into effect. The new law will encourage shoppers to remember their reusable bags, and will help keep single-use plastic bags out of our environment and waterways.

This new law involves a shift in behavior for me and all my neighbors. I have, for years, used cloth napkins instead of paper, and I always intend to bring my vast collection of BAGS into the store when I shop. However, my good intentions often left me with bags in the closet, bags on the kitchen counter, and bags in the back of my SUV. I often, almost always, wound up using the store bags because my bags were never with me. Each week I would accumulate a wad of plastic bags which I would save and return to a grocery store with my returnable bottles. That has got to change.

I certainly have all the bags I will need. I have plastic and cloth ones galore. I even have the very special Shirley Bachor Rose bags made from old feed bags. My favorite is the one made from Goat Feed. These are amazing because they are so sturdy, after all they were designed to hold 25 to 50 pounds of critter food.

I decided to make one myself with the skills I learned from MaryAnn Shultis, the "bag" lady who teaches us to make designer bags (purses) at our Senior Fiber Art Workshops. Mine was a bird seed one. Not only do these feed bag bags win an award for sturdiness and recycling, they are really colorful and attractive. Next time you buy pet food, notice the art.

I am proud of Ulster County for being a forerunner in protecting the environment. Just remember to BYOB, bag that is!

CHOREOGRAPHY ON THE EDGE 2019

Woodstock, New York: On Friday August 9th, Saturday, August 10th at 8:00 pm, and Sunday August 11th at 3pm, Choreography on the Edge will present its 30th performance at the beautiful, historic and air conditioned Byrdcliffe Theater in Woodstock, NY. Since 1990, this innovative program has given professional choreographers and dancers a chance to experiment and push their boundaries, much to the benefit of Hudson Valley's lovers of dance!

This year we are celebrating our 30th year by bringing back some of the original choreographers as well as some relatively newer favorites. The program promises to stretch the audience's envelope as well. The line up is comprised of choreographers and dancers spanning a wide range of styles and techniques; primarily modern dance, contemporary ballet and cultural motifs. A number of choreographers will be performing their work as solos, and others will work as duets and trios. Among this stellar group are: Laura Ward with Octavia Cup Dance Theatre and D'amby Project. Louisa Barta and Sara Senecal from the Ellen Sinopoli Dance Company in Albany will be performing solos, while Laura Teeter will be choreographing and performing a duet with Damon Honeycutt from Pilobolus. Damon will also be presenting one of his own works. Celeste Graves, one of the original choreographers will be presenting a new work. This show promises to be an excellent showcase for the best that the Hudson Valley has to offer.

Also, in honor of the 30th anniversary as well as the 20th year at the Byrdcliffe Theater, Choreography on the Edge will be presenting a second weekend of new works by a different group of local choreographers. On Friday and Saturday, August 16th and 17th at 8pm and Sunday August 18th at 3pm, Choreography on the Edge will present new works by local choreographers Andrea Pastorella, Laura Ward, Julie Manna and Rebecca Frank among others. Also presenting will be Jai Mason from Albany, Jess Lewis from NYC and Jocelyne Danchick from Poughkeepsie by way of France.

A Choreographers Concert began when a group of local choreographers decided to present a showcase of new work, the only requirement being that they combine movement and music in a way that was completely new for them. The presentation was so well received that it became an annual event that drew the participation of non-local choreographers as well, moving from the Woodstock Town Hall to its current home at the Byrdcliffe Theater and updating the name to Choreography on the Edge. Keeping the experimental nature of any artistic endeavor alive is always a challenge, one that Choreography on the Edge has risen to time and again. To maintain this focus on fresh, innovative work and a high standard of professionalism, choreographers are asked to dig deep, incorporating elements they haven't used before. The pieces are not auditioned and most of them will be premiering, giving the work an immediacy that engages the audience in a more energetic and intimate way.

Choreography on the Edge is produced by Zack Jacobs with greatly appreciated support from The Ulster Ballet Company, The Woodstock/Byrdcliffe Guild, and the D'amby Project. The historic Byrdcliffe Theater is located at 380 Upper Byrdcliffe Road, in Woodstock, NY. Please visit www.woodstockguild.org for directions (bottom of the "about us/contact" page), or on Google Maps. Tickets are affordably priced at $12 each and can be purchased at the door or reserved by calling Zack Jacobs at 845-453-8673, or email ChoreographyontheEdge@gmail.com.

Fawn in a Fence

On July 14, ECO Scott Marshall responded to a call of a fawn stuck in a fence in the town of Clarence. ECO Marshall arrived to find that a fawn had attempted to jump over a fence and got its hind quarters caught between the slats.

The officer contacted ECO Tim Mach-nica for assistance, and together they removed the fawn while Fuzzy Fawn Rehabilitation came to take the animal for treatment. The animal appeared to have only lost circulation to its back legs and was dehydrated. The fawn is expected to be released near the site of its rescue after several days of care.

How to Make A Feedbag Tote

If you buy large bags of pet food, rock salt, or many other items at the grocery store, you are purchasing packaging that you can re-use once it's empty to make great tote bags like Carol's. This is a great re-use re-think kind of project that takes a used material and stops it from ending up in the landfill while creating a robust and durable bag that will be safe to use for years. Given the kind of material the bags are made of, it easily wipes clean, so it is no big deal if a grocery item leaks.

- Flatten the bag.
- Cut the top and the bottom off the bag at the desired location, to make a bag size similar to a brown paper shopping bag.
- Now turn the bag inside out and thoroughly wipe down the "fabric." Allow it to dry thoroughly before sewing.

To make handles:

Using material from the piece cut from the top of the bag, cut two strips off, 3-inches wide each.

Cut through each one crosswise to create two long strips. Fold the edges to the center.

Then fold in half again, enclosing the raw edges inside the strap. Use paper clips to hold as pins would leave holes

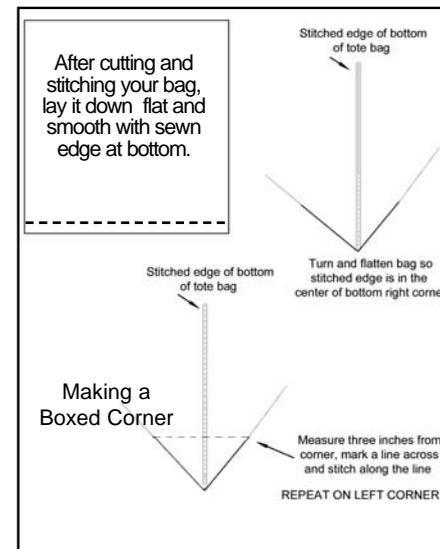

Using your sewing machine, you may want to change the needle to a size 16. Next, lengthen your stitch length. If you don't do this, the closer stitching may perforate the bag too closely in a line and weaken the stitching.

Stitch the handles near the double-folded edge to secure the layers together. Repeat with the other handle.

To make the tote:

With the bag still turned inside out, stitch across the bottom. Fold up that end, and stitch again for strength. Box each corner 3 inches. Squaring the bottom of the bag creates a bag that is easier to pack than a bag that does not have a squared bottom. To make a square bottom:

- Lay the bottom of the bag so it is flat. Then create a triangle corner.

(See diagram)

• Measure from the tip of the triangle up approximately 3" and sew across the bag. You may want to sew this across the second time for extra strength.

Next, on the inside top, fold the top edge down one inch, then fold again one more inch. Insert the handle under the fold, with each end 3 inches from the center.

Stitch all the way around on the lower edge, and then stitch around the top edge. For extra strength you can sew an 'X' where each of the handles have been placed.

Turn the bag right side out and you are ready to go shopping!

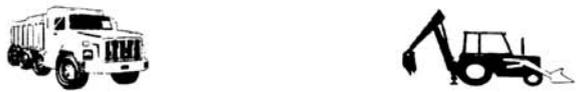

Thank you Carol for this great idea!

Seggos said. "With sites from the New York Harbor to Waterford, there are many places for young and old alike to join the Great Hudson River Estuary Fish Count and have fun supporting DEC's research efforts and fisheries management."

The public is invited to join naturalists from the Capital Region to New York City to explore the variety of creatures usually hidden below the river's surface. Fresh upriver and salty at New York City, the Hudson River's estuary and watershed serves as the habitat to hundreds of fish species, including several that migrate into the river from the Atlantic Ocean each spring to spawn.

During the fish count, participating organizations encourage visitors to help collect fish using seine nets, minnow traps, or rods and reels. Seining involves pulling a 30-foot net through the water and checking out the fish, crabs, and other river-life caught in the mesh. Participants may watch from shore or jump into available waterproof waders and help pull in the net. The fish are released after everyone has a chance to see them up close.

Participating groups share their catch results by posting to the DEC Twitter feed with the hashtag #hudsonriverfishcount. Comparing notes builds understanding of the diversity of fish and habitats in the Hudson, the vitality of the estuarine ecosystem in urban and rural settings, and the influence of salinity and tides.

For more information, including a video clip about seining in the Hudson River on DEC's YouTube Channel, visit the Great Hudson River Estuary Fish Count page on DEC's website. All Fish Count programs are family-friendly and free-of-charge. For more information email hrep@dec.ny.gov or call (845) 256-3115.

Felled Pole Folly - Sullivan County
 On July 12, ECO Tom Koepf responded to a construction site in Mountandale for a complaint of someone illegally cutting down a utility pole. Workers at the site stated that there was a work order in with NYSEG to remove the pole, which no longer had wires attached, but that someone had prematurely knocked down the pole and buried it. When ECO Koepf arrived, he observed the pole covered with dirt but the transformers were protruding from the ground. The ECO also observed a small petroleum spill. Koepf called construction managers and later that day met with a subject who admitted to cutting and burying the pole on July 11, because he didn't want to wait for NYSEG to perform the work. Tickets were issued to the subject for unlawful disposal of solid waste, illegal discharge of petroleum, failure to immediately contain a petroleum discharge, and failure to notify DEC of a petroleum spill. DEC Spills Technician Brian Weeks responded to the site and informed the subject that he needed to immediately hire a cleanup contractor to clean the site and test for possible contamination.

New music and Argentine tango influence the Ansonia Quartet at Shandelee Music Festival

Clockwise from top left: Sumire Hirotsuru, Grace Takeda, Byungchan Lee and Isabel Kwon are the talented musicians who make up the Ansonia Quartet.

SHANDELEE, NY: The ever-popular "Evening of Chamber Music" continues at the Shandelee Music Festival's 2019 Sunset Concert Series with a performance by The Ansonia Quartet on Saturday, August 10.

Formed at The Juilliard School in September 2016, the Ansonia Quartet was awarded a Gluck Community Service Fellowship through the school to pursue community engagement endeavors. The Quartet's members are Sumire Hirotsuru and Byungchan Lee (violins), Grace Takeda (viola), and Isabel Kwon (cello). In a page right out of modern history, the Quartet's international career was launched by a successful crowdfunding campaign in 2017, where they met their goal of $10,000 in only nine days. Recitals and workshops in Japan followed.

The Ansonia Quartet has performed in Toronto, the Harvard Club of New York, Nicholas Roerich Museum and SOPAC (South Orange Performing Arts Center) among others.

While their passion to push string quartet boundaries has led them to pursue fresh literature, they also infuse Argentine tango into their repertoire, having held a tango presentation for the Juilliard community in collaboration with Grammy-award winning bandoneon player, Hector del Curto.

The program for the Saturday, August 10 concert "An Evening of Chamber Music featuring the Ansonia Quartet" will include the music of Beethoven, Ravel and Mendelssohn, and will be performed at the Shandelee Music Festival's fully accessible, climate controlled Sunset Concert Pavilion, located at 442 J. Young Road, Livingston Manor.

All performances in the Sunset Concert Series begin at 8 p.m. and will be followed by a specialty dessert reception.

Concert tickets are $35 for adults, $30.00 for Shandelee Music Festival members, and $10.00 for students 17 and under. Advanced reservations are required by calling 845-439-3277. Or purchase your tickets online and find out more about membership and sponsorships at www.shandelee.org.

Frost Valley Offers School-age Child Care at Tri-Valley

Claryville - With school just around the corner, Frost Valley YMCA is preparing for another exciting year of School-age Child Care at Tri-Valley Elementary School. The program is offered to students in Kindergarten through sixth grade after school until 5:45 p.m.

Frost Valley's School-age Child Care gives children values-driven programming in a safe, nurturing, and supportive environment. Children enrolled in the program will enjoy a healthy snack, time for homework or reading, age-specific activities, and structured programs such as sports, crafts, games, and more. The cost of the program is $13 per day. Limited bussing is available for a small additional fee. The bus leaves the school at 5 p.m.

"Quality school-age child care is crucial for a healthy community," says Jessie Emmons, Director of Community Programs for Frost Valley. "Not only does it give children a positive and safe place to go after school, it also gives parents much-needed peace of mind that allows them to complete their work day without the stress of worrying about their children's care."

Research shows that attending an afterschool program can improve a student's academic performance, particularly in reading and math. It can also improve classroom behavior, school attendance, academic aspirations, and reduce the likelihood a student will drop out. Afterschool programs save working families and businesses billions of dollars annually in lost productivity due to worker absenteeism created by a lack of quality child care.

Since spots fill quickly, families who are interested in registering their child for the Frost Valley School-age Child Care Program at Tri-Valley Elementary School should call 845-985-2291 right away to ensure their child's spot.

Restoration Updates

Blue Hill Lodge and Denning Town Hall

Vegetation is our greatest ally in our fight against erosion. New growth is sprouting along our most recent restoration sites: Blue Hill Lodge and Denning Town Hall. A great deal of planning has gone into establishing healthy vegetation at these restoration sites. Efforts include hydroseeding, hand-seeding native wildflowers, installing willow fascines/stakes, and planting over 300 native trees. Both sites feature an area dedicated to edible native plants, where you can find trees and shrubs that will mature to produce delicious edible fruits and nuts. We are proud to announce we have moved away from using plastic tree tubes, which contribute harmful microplastics to the watershed. Installation of wooden, biodegradable tree protectors has been successful at both restoration sites.

Healthy plants create a strong root system, stabilize stream banks and prevent fine sediment from eroding into our rivers and streams. We're looking forward to watching our restoration projects continue to develop resilient, diverse, vegetation in the years to come.

UC Dedicates Rochester Bridge In The Memory of Arthur D. Lapp, Sr.

TOWN OF ROCHESTER, N.Y. - Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan announces today the dedication of the County Route 6 bridge in Alligerville as the Arthur D. Lapp, Sr. Memorial Bridge in honor of the fire district's former chief. The bridge carries County Route 6 over the Rondout Creek in the Town of Rochester.

Lapp was a dedicated volunteer firefighter and trainer at the Accord Fire District. He served the Ulster County community for over sixty years serving in several positions at the Accord Fire Company, including several years as Chief and Commissioner. Lapp also was the former Director of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and a member of the Ulster County Fire Advisory Board.

Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan

"Arthur Lapp, Sr. can be summed up in one word, 'service.' Lapp dedicated his life to help his neighbors and enhance the community that he grew up in and loved. It is a fitting tribute that after spending over 60 years as a volunteer firefighter and trainer that this bridge will be in the shadows of the Alligerville Fire House. I am thrilled that we as a county are able to honor an individual who dedicated his life to public service in such a way."

Arty Lapp, High Falls Fire Department Chief, Son of Arthur D. Lapp Sr.

"My father was born in a house that was on the other side of this bridge. From there, he went to school in a one room schoolhouse and eventually helped turn it into a fire-house which we are standing in front of today. Fire service was his passion, giving 65 years of service. Thank you to everyone for honoring him; I know he wouldn't have wanted us to, but we are all his family and we got this for him."

Rich Demorest, Accord Fire Department Chief

"I got to know Arthur D. Lapp Sr. and his family through many years in the fire service as I moved up to the ranks to Chief of the Accord Fire District. With the bridge being named after him, hopefully it will continue his legacy for future generations to come."

The Scene Too

By Jane Harrison

It was a beautiful day for a party, Saturday was! The gathering/fund raiser 1930 HOEDOWN was held on two levels: The dinner was served on the stunning 2nd floor patio with the music and square dancing down below. I appreciate museums, all museums, and this brought home to me that even though I have been to the Daniel Pierce Library many times, I had not yet been to the TIME AND VALLEYS MUSEUM, something I will have to remedy.

The party was a virtual who's who of prominent persons from this side of the County. It was heartening to see so many coming together for such a worthy cause. And I was surprised at how many people I knew and those who knew me! Chris Mathews, of course. The Muthigs. The Coombes. John and Diana of STORY'S NEVERSINK PLANT COMPANY. David and Theresa Trestyn of THE HEARTBEAT MUSIC HALL. Alan and Lori Fishman, who I haven't seen in quite a while and had a chance to catch up with. Even Mark McLewin of the NEVERSINK GENERAL STORE that provided the amazing spread and helped arranging some of the other donations of edibles and drinkables, popped in.

Then on to the dancing, square dancing that is. With music provided by THE COUNTRY TRAVELERS, I was surprised at how many younger people joined in and KNEW how to do this! Patty Legg's style is absolutely perfect for calling a square dance.

Paul Lounsbury deep melodic voice and fiddle breathed new life into old country. When Bob Hunt brought out his banjo, I knew I had to stay a bit longer. Dave Trestyn's bass laid a strong base for the tunes. And Bill Engle and his autoharp brought in a true authentic sweetness. I've never been a big fan of old country, but this band just might change my mind.

It was still early when I tore myself away at 8:30 so off I went out to CABERNET FRANK'S and THE JOHNNY JULES BAND. As most of you already know, Johnny and this band are good friends in addition to being a terrific bluesy band, covering a range of (yes) old country, Dylan, The Band, The Grateful Dead etc, weaving it seamlessly into their sets. CABERNET FRANK'S is also a favorite place of mine and the two together is just great for me. This night was a bit different though. The audience at the tables and bar seemed to held rapt and it was a night where THE JOHNNY JULES BAND played a concert, not a gig. This is a rarity for Frank's and it was wonderful to see the people hanging on every lyric and note. The band's strength is performing what people want to hear, transporting them back to a time that makes them smile.

Next week, I'm off to Jersey for the celebration of INTERNATIONAL BLUES DAY; the day where all over the world, the best of the best come together to celebrate the Blues. For me, it's bittersweet. Several of the musicians who will be at this event were in bands at one time or another with my late husband.

Until next time....

This is what's coming up this week:

Statement from UC Executive Pat Ryan on the Ulster County Fair

"The Ulster County Fair must be an event that everyone can enjoy while representing the values of all members of our community. Any showcasing of a symbol of division and racism runs counter to that principle and will be vigorously opposed by my administration. We are proud that we have come up with a solution addressing the concerns of many while still providing high-quality entertainment. Stay tuned, we are really excited about the act that will be headlining the fair Thursday night and that we will be announcing shortly."

Governor Cuomo Signs Legislation Banning Cat Declawing - New York Becomes First State in Nation to Ban Cat Declawing

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today signed legislation (S.5532B/A.1303) banning the performance of declawing procedures on cats, making New York the first state to prohibit the practice. The bill takes effect immediately.

"Declawing is a cruel and painful procedure that can create physical and behavioral problems for helpless animals, and today it stops," Governor Cuomo said. "By banning this archaic practice, we will ensure that animals are no longer subjected to these inhumane and unnecessary procedures."

Senate Deputy Leader Michael Gianaris said, "Cat declawing is a brutal procedure similar to severing a human finger at the first knuckle and has lifelong ramifications for cats. I am proud of the new Senate majority's emphasis on animal welfare and am glad the Governor enacted this legislation."

Assembly Member Linda B. Rosenthal said, "Today, New York becomes the first state in the nation to ban cat declawing. Declawing is cruelty, plain and simple, and with so many low-cost and pain-free alternatives available, there is no reason to allow this barbaric practice to continue, not here in New York or anywhere. It's a wonderful day for the cats of the state and the people who love them. Now that my bill has become law, New York has been catapulted onto the leaderboard of humane states, and we expect other states to quickly follow in our footsteps."

Declawing, also known as onychectomy, involves the removal of all or most of the last bone of each of the toes of the front feet, and tendons, nerves and ligaments that allow for normal function of the paw are severed, resulting in intense and chronic pain and other serious medical or behavioral issues. After the claws are removed, cats often shift their gait and where it places most of its weight, causing strain on its leg joints and spine, which can lead to early onset arthritis and prolonged back and joint pain. Cats' claws play an important role in various aspects of their lives, including to assist in climbing and maintaining balance and to escape danger.

DEC Launches New 'DECinfo Locator' to Increase Transparency and Access to Data and Reports- First-of-its-Kind Online Map Delivers Public Documents and Recreational Information, Tailored to Location

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos today announced the launch of DECinfo Locator, an interactive map that provides access to DEC documents and public data about New York's environment and outdoor recreation resources. This first-of-its-kind DEC mapping application generates results specific to locations across the state, including water and air permits, enforcement actions, recreational assets, environmental education facilities, and sites in the State Superfund and Brownfield Cleanup programs.

"DEC created this platform to make information about New York's environment accessible to everyone," said Commissioner Seggos. "For the first time, the public can use DECinfo Locator to generate maps to check out both their favorite fishing location and learn about water quality. From viewing permits to searching for state land regulations, DEC's new tool provides transparency to our work and helps New Yorkers better understand the full breadth of DEC's work protecting the environment and our communities."

With more than 50 interactive data layers, DECinfo Locator lets users see and download permits, former industrial site cleanup plans, water quality reports, and more based on where they live, work, or play. Selecting a map feature can bring up links to database records for petroleum bulk storage facilities, oil wells, or permitted mines. Users can also view potential environmental justice areas and Climate Smart Communities or find out what local wastewater facilities are doing to reduce their impact on New York's waterbodies. FCC Recently Announced New Proposal That Could Force State and Local Municipalities to Choose Between Continuing to Provide Public Access Channels or Lose Vital Funding for Other Community Services

New York State Has Over 70 Public Broadcast Channels that Could Be Under Threat If New FCC Proposal Is Implemented; Senators' Letter Comes Ahead of FCC's Vote on this Proposal Next Week

Washington, DC - U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand and U.S. Senate Minority Leader Charles E. Schumer today announced their call on the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to reject a proposal that could threaten local public access television channels and force local municipalities to choose between providing public access channels or funding other vital community services. Earlier this month, the FCC released a proposal that would allow cable companies to place a dollar value on public access channels, and then deduct that amount from the fees they pay to local and state governments and municipalities. Local programming, officially known as public, educational, and governmental (PEG) channels, is supported by franchise fees that cable companies pay cities and towns. The senators' push comes ahead of the FCC vote on this proposal scheduled for August 1st.

"We have heard from local governments and municipalities across our state who fear, if enacted, this rulemaking would undermine their ability to provide critical services to their communities by putting funding for these services at risk," Gillibrand and Schumer wrote to FCC Chairman Pai. "Congress understood the important role PEG programming and I-Net services play in communities, and expressly intended for these services to flourish by being included in franchise agreements separate from the franchise fees. PEG channels act as a platform for local voices to be heard, news to be shared, and local government transparency to be enforced... We urge the FCC not to adopt any rule that would undermine the value PEG channels and I-Net services provide to New Yorkers and the rest of the country, or that would harm existing local government authority over franchising agreements."

New York State has over 70 public access channels that could be put at risk by this proposal. These channels are vital for New Yorkers across the state to stay informed with locally produced programming, such as local government proceedings and business, town school board meetings, high school and college news and events, religious news from local places of worship, and important local and regional emergency alerts. In addition, this new rule could also force municipalities to choose between supporting Institutional Network (I-Net) services, which provide high-speed internet, video, and data services to public buildings such as schools, libraries, community centers, and government office buildings, or collecting revenue from the franchise fees.

If enacted, the FCC proposal could fundamentally change the terms of the negotiated agreements between cable operators and municipalities to allow cable operators to assign a dollar value to PEG channels and I-Net services and then subtract those amounts from the franchise fees that they pay to local communities. Gillibrand and Schumer noted in their letter that this proposal could also restrict the ability of local municipalities to tailor franchise agreements to meet unique community needs.

Attorney General James Announces Equifax Breach Website - Now Accepting Consumer Claims; Consumers Can Check if Personal Information Was Breached, Sign Up for Credit Monitoring and Restoration, and Apply for Restitution Directly on Site - Third Party Administrator - Not Equifax - is Operating Website

NEW YORK - Attorney General Letitia James announced that consumers can now visit a new website - www.EquifaxBreachSettlement.com - and input limited information to see if their personal information was compromised in Equifax's massive breach of 2017 that ultimately affected more than 147 million consumers. The site not only has information about the breach and the settlement reached, but also allows consumers to check if they were victims of the breach, file claims for financial restitution, set up credit monitoring and restoration services, and check on the status of all these services.

"For two years, nearly half the U.S. population has wondered if their personal information was compromised because of Equifax's irresponsible and negligent behavior," said Attorney General James. "Today, we can finally provide every American with clarity and undoubtedly tell them whether their information was stolen or not. I urge all to visit www.EquifaxBreachSettlement.com and check to see if their data was illegally breached, and if so, file a claim for restitution. Consumers will need to deal with the fallout of this breach for years to come, and this website is just the first step in helping provide consumers with the tools to recover."

On July 22, Attorney General James announced a multistate settlement with Equifax following their 2017 breach that compromised Social Security numbers, names, dates of birth, addresses, credit card numbers, and, in some cases, driver's license numbers of nearly half the U.S. population. While the company created a website, in 2017, for Americans to check and see if their personal information was breached, that website was riddled with vague and inaccurate information that only provided consumers with more uncertainty and no clear answer as to whether they were impacted by the breach or not.

Now that the settlement has been provisionally approved by the court, www.EquifaxBreachSettlement.com has been updated so that consumers can easily input their last name and the last six digits of their Social Security Number to find out if their information was breached. A third party administrator - not Equifax - is overseeing this new website.

If consumers find out they were victims of the breach, restitution can be provided in a multitude of ways.

Consumer Restitution Fund

A single Consumer Restitution Fund of up to $425 million - $300 million of which will initially be dedicated to compensation, with an additional $125 million available if initial funds are depleted - will be provided to victims. Consumers can claim up to $20,000 to compensate for money lost due to identity theft or fraud. Consumers who are eligible for redress will be required to submit claims showing they have been a victim of fraud or have taken proactive steps to set up credit monitoring services by submitting documents online or by mail. Consumers, however, do not have to prove direct causality from the breach to identity theft. As long as an individual was a victim of the breach and a victim of identity theft in the two years since the breach, they can apply for restitution. Consumers can also be compensated for the time spent dealing with identity theft - at the rate of $25 per hour, for up to 20 hours. In addition to filing claims online, consumers can also call 1-833-759-2982 to request a paper application be sent to them by postal mail.

Credit Monitoring and Restoration

Equifax has agreed to offer consumers, who had their data exposed, with free credit-monitoring services for up to 10 years. Consumers that take part in the service will have up to $1 million of identity theft insurance available - at no deductible - to cover identity recovery expenses and legal costs. The first four years of credit-monitoring service will include monitoring by all three of the big three credit reporting agencies, while years five through 10 will be made available through Equifax.

Additionally, Equifax has agreed to take several steps to assist consumers who are either facing identity theft issues or who have already had their identities stolen. These steps include making it easier for consumers to freeze and thaw their credit, and dispute inaccurate information in credit reports, as well as maintain sufficient staff to assist consumers who may be victims of identity theft. Under the settlement, Equifax has also agreed to pay $175 million in fines to the Attorneys General of 48 states, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico; $100 million in fines to the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB); and $10 million in fines to New York State's Department of Financial Services.

Equifax has also had to spend hundreds of millions of dollars to strengthen its security practices as part of the settlement, and will continue to do so going forward. The company has agreed to regular third-party assessments to evaluate whether its administrative, technical, and physical safeguards meet the requirements provided in the agreement.

DEC Launches New 'DECinfo Locator' to Increase Transparency and Access to Data and Reports

(From Pg. 11) Several information layers can be active at the same time, allowing users to see the many ways DEC is working to protect and enhance the state's environment and recreational opportunities.

The map's Near Me feature lets users narrow data results by creating an interactive list of data points within an area of up to 10 miles from a selected point. In addition to environmental quality information, users can explore new places for recreation such as hiking, cross-country skiing, or mountain biking, or look up the rules for a nearby Wildlife Management Area. The public can also download Unit Management Plans for state forests, access a web page with details about allowed uses on a nearby Conservation Easement or find a DEC campground and see photos of individual campsites (where available).

Users can activate the Public Fishing Rights layer to see available locations and nearby boat launches, then overlay information about the water quality of lakes, rivers, and streams to access DEC data for specific locations. Additional features and data will be added to the DECinfo Locator in the future.

To access the mapping application, visit the DECinfo Locator web page. Learn more about its features from the DECinfo Locator Tutorial on YouTube.

Governor Signs Metzger/Gunther Legislation
Honoring Fallen Sullivan County
Veteran Allan Milk
Renames a Portion of State Highway in Fremont in His Honor

Albany, NY... Governor Cuomo signed into law legislation sponsored by Senator Jen Metzger and Assembly Member Aileen Gunther to rename the portion of State Highway 97 that crosses the Basket Creek in the town of Fremont as the "Specialist Allan Milk Memorial Bridge." Allan Arlyn Milk, an Army Specialist who grew up in Fremont, served in the United States Army in Company B, 5th Battalion, 7th Cavalry, 1st Cavalry Division during the Vietnam War. He was killed in action in Binh Dinh Province, South Vietnam, on November 1, 1966, just six months shy of his 21st birthday.

"Army Specialist Allan Milk, a native of Fremont in Sullivan County, gave his life in service to our country," said Senator Jen Metzger. "Renaming the Basket Viaduct Bridge in his name honors his heroism, and memorializes his dedication to his country and the sacrifice he and his family have made to protect it."

"I want to thank the Governor for signing this bill into law," said Assembly Member Aileen M. Gunther. "Specialist Allan Milk is a hero, and this honor is long overdue. Specialist Milk was killed in action 53 years ago in South Vietnam while fighting for our country. He served with honor and distinction, and I am proud to have sponsored this legislation in the Assembly."

The renaming of the bridge has been widely supported by the local community as a way of commemorating the sacrifice that Milk and his family have made in service to the country.

Governor Cuomo Unanimously Voted to Serve as National Governors Association Vice Chair

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo was unanimously voted to serve as Vice Chair of the National Governors Association (NGA) during the NGA Annual Conference in Salt Lake City, Utah. The Governor also met with governors from across the country to discuss investing in infrastructure and strengthening the role of states' rights.

"Too many in Washington would rather have an issue to run on than a solution that helps people. Rather than lead, Washington is caught in an endless blame game," Governor Cuomo said.

"Governors don't have that option. We have to get things done. And when Washington doesn't do its job, our job gets more difficult because we have to do our job, and theirs. That's why the NGA is more important than ever. It's where we share our best practices and where we can take the best of what we've done, then press the federal government to supply the money and the muscle to expand state solutions to every corner of the country. I am honored to serve as the Vice Chair of the NGA, and I look forward to working with Governors from across the country on issues that truly matter."

Earlier today, Governor Cuomo met with Governor Larry Hogan of Maryland, Governor J.B. Pritzker of Illinois, Governor Gavin Newsom of California, Governor Gretchen Whitmer of Michigan, Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham of New Mexico and Terry O'Sullivan General President of the Laborers' International Union of North America. Additionally, Governor Cuomo addressed the conference in a Governor's only plenary session and participated in a meeting on the importance of rebuilding our nation's infrastructure before returning to New York.

Governor Cuomo Signs Legislation
Creating New State Commission to Study Artificial Intelligence and Robotics

Commission Will Determine How These Technologies Can Be Used to Enhance Public Sector Services and How the State Should Regulate Them in the Best Interest of New Yorkers

Cuomo: "Artificial intelligence and automation are already having a profound impact across many industries and their influence keeps growing, so it's critical that we do everything in our power to understand their capabilities and potential pitfalls. This new commission will look closely at how these rapidly evolving technologies are functioning and report back on how we can optimize use to benefit New Yorkers and our economy."

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo today signed legislation (S.3971B/A.1746C) creating a temporary state commission to study and investigate how to regulate artificial intelligence, robotics and automation. The New York State Artificial Intelligence, Robotics and Automation Commission will look at the latest uses and impacts of these technologies to determine how the State can best utilize and regulate them as necessary.

"Artificial intelligence and automation are already having a profound impact across many industries and their influence keeps growing, so it's critical that we do everything in our power to understand their capabilities and potential pitfalls," Governor Cuomo said. "This new commission will look closely at how these rapidly evolving technologies are functioning and report back on how we can optimize use to benefit New Yorkers and our economy."

The commission will examine how artificial intelligence, robotics and automation:

- affect employment in New York State
 - o acquire and disclose people's personal information
 - o affect technology industries
 - o can be used by the public sector to enhance performance and services
 - o may be used in unlawful or unsafe ways

The commission will also examine how these innovative technologies have been used and regulated by other states, determine whether current New York laws are effective in regulating them, and make recommendations for how the State can leverage existing uses and, if necessary, update laws to protect industries and residents. This review will include meetings with key stakeholder groups to understand the full landscape of AI, robotics and automation as emerging technologies within the business, nonprofit, academic and governmental sectors.

The commission will consist of 13 members: five appointed by the Governor; two by the temporary president of the Senate; one by the minority leader of the Senate; two by the speaker of the Assembly; one by the minority leader of the Assembly; one by the SUNY chancellor; and one by the CUNY chancellor.

Upon completion of its study, the commission will issue a final report with its findings and recommendations to the Governor and legislative leaders.

Knarf's Classic Movie
ON TCM STARTING AT 8:00 PM
WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 2019

• 8:00 PM HARVEY (comedy, 1950) B/W - 104 m TV-G
D: Henry Koster. Cast: James Stewart, Josephine
Hull, Peggy Dow, Charles Drake, Cecil Kellaway, Victoria Horne, Jesse White, Wallace Ford, Ida Moore. Stewart gives one of his best performances as tippler Elwood P. Dowd, whose companion is a six-foot invisible rabbit named Harvey Hull won Oscar as distraught sister. Mary Chase and Oscar Brodney adapted Chase's Pulitzer Prizewinning play. Hull and White recreate their Broadway roles. •
10:00 PM ANATOMY OF A MURDER (drama, 1959) B/W - 161 m
TV-PG D: Otto Preminger. Cast: James Stewart, Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, Arthur O'Connell, Eve Arden, Kathryn Grant (Crosby), George C Scott, Orson Bean, Murray Hamilton. Long, exciting courtroom drama; daring when released, tamer now. Sterling cast:
O'Connell as drunken lawyer inspired by Stewart, Scott as prosecuting attorney, Joseph Welch as judge (Welch was the famous Army-McCarthy hearings lawyer who later became a judge in real life). Duke Ellington composed the score and also appears on-screen. • 1:00 AM
THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS, C - 135 m TV-G CinemaScope.(Drama, 1957) D: Billy Wilder. Cast: James Stewart, Patricia Smith, Murray
Hamilton, Marc Connelly. Long but inventive presentation of Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic is mainly a tour de force by Stewart, backed by good Franz Waxman music score.
• 3:30 AM MR. SMITH GOES TO WASHINGTON (Drama, 1939)
D: Frank Capra. James Stewart, Jean Arthur, Claude Rains, Edward Arnold, Guy Kibbee, Thomas Mitchell, Eugene Pallette, Beulah Bondi, Harry Carey, H. B. Warner, Charles Lane, Porter Hall, Jack Carson.
Stewart is young idealist who finds nothing but corruption in U.S.
Senate. Fine Capra Americana, with Stewart's top performance bolstered by Arthur as hard-boiled dame won over by earnest Mr. Smith, and a stellar supporting cast; Carey is magnificent as the Vice President.
Brilliant script by Sidney Buchman; however, Lewis R. Foster's Original Story received the Oscar. Later a brief TV series. Remade as
