The swearing-in ceremony is open to the public, and all are invited to attend.

DAYS OF YORE....

Today's History

December 27, 1950

Memorial Hall was filled to capacity last Thursday evening to hear the first concert of the Tri Valley School Band under the direction of Mr. Arlington Visscher, Music Supervisor at Tri Valley. It is to be hoped that a tradition, the annual Christmas band concert, was born last Thursday night.

A Grahamsville woman was injured on Tuesday as the car which she was driving, careened off Route 52 near Liberty and overturned twice. Ferndale State Police said that the woman, Pearl VanWagner, was treated at the scene for multiple abrasions and released. The car, a 1937 Buick, was badly damaged.

New England's oldest man - 111-year old Jeremiah Campbellton - died in his sleep on December 23rd. Mr. Campbellton was orphaned when seven-years old when the Micmac Indians raided the lonely cabin where he lived, killed his parents and carried him into captivity. For six years he lived with the Indians, learning their language and ways. After his escape, the Indian woodcraft knowledge stood him in good stead and he ultimately became one of Maine's best guides.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hansen of White Sulphur Springs announce the engagement of their daughter, Bertina Lee to Fred Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Nash of Neversink. Mr. Nash is a graduate of Tri Valley Central School and is employed in construction. No wedding date has been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary on Christmas Day with a family supper and invited guests.³⁴

Movies will be shown at the Neversink Firehouse every week. On Wednesday, Dec. 28th, "The 39 Steps", "Three Stooges" and a "Captain Video" serial were shown. These movies are free to residents of the Neversink Fire District.

"Christmas 1970" was definitely white and deep. In answer to all of the soulful pleas for snow, nature answered with a convincing coverage of six to twelve inches.

Congratulations, a bit belated, to Mr. Ralph Hornbeck whose birthday was on the 24th and to Doris and Ralph Hornbeck on their 49th wedding anniversary, which was on Christmas Day.

From a long time former resident, Mrs. Lee (Delia) Dayton. She writes, "We oldsters should count our blessings and not even mention our aches and pains." Enough said, she is happy at Binghamton with her daughter and family, the J. Conservation facts:

The wall-eyed pike is not a pike at all, but is the largest member of the perch family.

A porcupine can destroy two trees in a single night and has been known to cause damages ranging from $10 to $100 per acre. They feed largely on conifer bark and when they girdle a tree, it dies.

The offspring from a single pair of flies, under ideal conditions, could produce in one year enough new individuals which if packed 1,000 to a cubic inch, could form a ball of flies 96,000,000 miles in diameter. (That's not a typo, folks, but I'd love to know where that statistic came from. B.S.)

December 18, 1980

Arnold C. Ackerley, 68, of Liberty, died Thursday, Dec. 11th at home. Mr. Ackerley, a lifelong resident of the area, was born February 2, 1912 in Morsston to Daniel and Edith Davis Ackerley. Chickadees - Cold Weather Machines

Though any bird that survives winter in the Catskills amazes those of us that depend on furnaces and warm blankets, the black-capped chickadee may be the most incredible of all winter survivors.

This time of the year you will hear the Chickadees. They are one of our families favorite birds to visit the backyard during winter. Chickadees do not migrate and are equipped to survive harsh winter weather. Though chickadees are regular visitors to our feeders, over 75% of their winter food supply still comes from natural sources. They store food and remember where they have hidden it.

The black-capped chickadee is easy to recognize with its black cap and throat contrasted by white cheeks. Its wings and back are gray and its sides are buff in color. It is about five inches long and weighs about 1/3 of an ounce, that's less than the weight of two quarters. It has two common and cheerful songs; chick-a-dee-dee-dee and fee-bee-ee with the first note higher. It is much easier to find this bird by its song as your walking through the woods than it is to try and locate it by sight.

This time of the year Chickadees have dense winter coats, they diligently find excellent, well-insulated roosting cavities and most amazingly can perform a regulated hypothermia to conserve energy overnight. For years, scientists were intrigued by the ability of these tiny birds to survive and thrive during even the most frigid days. The chickadee's ability to go into regulated hypothermia enables it to actually lower its body temperature, in a controlled manner, to about 12 or 15 degrees F below its normal daytime temperature of 108 degrees F. This allows the bird to conserve almost 25 percent of its hourly metabolic expenditure when the outside temperature is at freezing. Scientist now know the lower the outside temperature, the more energy a Chickadee conserves. Chickadees seem to have a never-ending energy.

The Chickadee possesses many other interesting behavioral and survival traits that lend a bit more character to this little bird. You might want to explore them this winter while you watch the birds at your feeding station. There are several books and websites you can use to expand your knowledge during the remaining cold winter days while you sit inside and watch the cheerful chickadees flutter about and sing their song.

The Chickadee's inquisitive nature makes these little birds fun to watch.

LOOKING BACK

By Beatrice Akerley

Published January 7, 1999

This morning I am sitting here alone in my room. The little electric heater is humming away by my feet. It is December 30th and I am looking out at the first big snow fall of this season. I see no children out there with hand sleighs and it is vacation time from school.

When I was growing up, hand sleighs and ice skates were owned by every kid for winter fun. As I sit here, I am wondering if Orchard Lake up in Grooville is frozen over like it would have been in the early 1900's at about this time of year.

But then again, come spring out would come my baseball and bicycle. I recall one year when school recessed for the summer on my birthday, April 24th. It was great, no school until the day after Labor Day. We would get up and do what a kid does but Christmas vacation was the real fun time for us. We lived by a big hill and my sister Edith and I were always out sleigh riding after a storm. We'd be out there having a bail until our bodies were frozen and then we'd go home to thaw out and catch mom's wrath for not being on time for dinner. Ice skating on Orchard Lake was another fun pastime. At other times we would get a group of kids together for a game of fox and geese or a nice snowball fight.

In the early 1900's the worst part of winter for a good many children was having to walk several miles to school. It was especially hard when it was freezing cold, sleeting or snowing. I didn't have that problem as my dad's property joined the school grounds.

Mom was easy to deal with, when she would scream that was the end of it, but dad –when he got mad at us girls, all he had to do was look at us reproachfully. He never beat us, in fact during our childhood I don't remember him ever hitting me once.

In the old days, school was like a second home and teachers were like parents. I had one in fourth grade, Ethel Schriber. She worked with me after school to help me with my math. I'll never forget her or the good old days of long ago.

Ice Angel

Mysterious Book Report No. 469

by John Dwaine McKenna

Published December 16, 2021

Despite it's dumb-assed title, Ice Angel, (Pegasus Crime, $25.95, 272 pages, ISBN 970-1-64313-811-4) by Matthew Hart, is a cool piece of crime fiction that has an exciting premise, a dynamic, fast-moving plot and an interesting cast of characters --all of whom are trying to rob, swindle, outwit and kill each other somewhere north of the Arctic circle in the Canadian wilderness . . . where one of the world's greatest diamond fields has been discovered. It's an area teeming with oil, timber and minerals that are just waiting to be exploited.

The yarn begins with the disappearance of a legendary diamond prospector and ethically challenged stock market operator named Jimmy Angel. He's rumored to be sitting on an epic find, one of the richest diamond pipes ever discovered. Then he's gone. That's when a pair of Chinese billionaires-a playboy named Fan and his calculating twin sister Mei, who have ties to China's government and it's military-step in with a dubious maneuver to take over the missing diamond hunter's entire business and all of it's staked claims for leases. Because Angel is an American citizen who's already a subject of interest to the U.S. government, treasury agent Alex Turner is sent to find out what's happened to the missing man.

Turner's accompanied by his treacherous lover, a Russian diamond thief named Slav Lily, who may in fact be colluding with the enemy. With the takeover of the Angel Companies, higher-ups in Washington, D.C. fear that the Chinese Communist Government is trying to establish a land base on the North American Continent something they want to prevent at all costs. And, when Angel's daughter Mitzi enters the plot, all-out mayhem ensues with airplane chases, machine gun fights and a never-ending assortment of vicious thugs combined with lyrical prose and savage Arctic weather conditions all make this an electrifying hard-to-put-down read that will keep you guessing to the end!

The Olive Jar

by Carol Olsen LaMonda

After the Holidays

The FamilyMemoir, PROSILIO...

... in Greek means "Toward the Sun," was written by Carol Olsen LaMonda. Carol writes the column "The Olive Jar" for Ye Olde Tri-Valley Townsman. This local author has been busy guesting at book clubs who have chosen this local memoir as their book choice.

Feel the warmth of "Prosilio" as you read Carol's memoirs cuddled up in your favorite chair. It also makes a great gift!

Prosilio is available at Amazon or Barnes and Noble on-line as a soft or hard cover or as a downloadable e-book for Nook or Kindle. Go to: <http://amazon.com> or <http://barnesandnoble.com> and type in Prosilio in the search to order your copy of Prosilio Holidays are work, usually for the women of the house. We do the decorating, the shopping, the wrapping, the cleaning, and the cooking. It is exhausting and labor intensive. For that reason, my favorite holiday day is the day after... the day after whatever. I like to dress comfortably and move sloth-like through the detritus of the last week of festive chaos.

By now, the tree is listing a bit star-board and ornaments have fallen in the hubbub. Surely, a few bulbs from the strings of lights have dimmed or quit in protest. Christmas music has been silenced. Wrapping paper and cardboard boxes are banished to the garage or garbage cans. Cards, few that I get because I no longer send them, get moved from here to there. Gifts are piled in the living room as new arrivals have yet to claim their final resting place in the household.

We have all eaten the top shelf of company dinners with prime rib, ham, turkey, salmon, and shrimp leaving us craving a peanut butter sandwich or a cup of tomato soup. Leftovers are neatly nestled in plastic and glass containers in the fridge ready to grow their fuzzy green and blue jackets of mold as they get pushed to the rear.

Cookies are crumbling or getting eaten in priority of best to least.

Amazon is no longer steaming up the driveway on its daily route.

Ring in the New Year with a visit to the DPL!

By Lisa Carroll

GRAHAMSVILLE-The origins of New Year's resolutions date back over 4,000 years, starting with the ancient Babylonians who, during a 12-day festival called Akitu, promised the gods they'd pay off debts in favor of good fortune in the coming year, then moving on to the ancient Romans who paid homage to god Janus, whom would bestow blessings after a sacrifice was made in their honor. Then, for early Christians the beginning of the new year became a more secular celebration and an opportunity to review one's mistakes, ask for forgiveness and pledge to do better.

And now...the concept of New Year's resolutions seems as individualized as the people who create and try to carry them into the new year. These personal commitments run the gamut from focusing on health, to finances, to personal growth; with a resounding "New Year, New You" kind of slogan.

If, and no one says you have to participate, but IF you were interested in pursuing a New Year's resolution our adult nonfiction section is teeming with all kinds of "how to" books. How to raise chickens, how to play the piano, how to relieve the stress from your life and so forth and so on. If you're interested in learning how to play a new sport, brush up on survival skills or try a new bundt cake recipe, we've got you covered. We have literally hundreds of books to check out that would certainly fit the bill. And, if we don't have the book you're looking for, we have a system that allows us to search for and check out any book within the vast RCLS system. You just have to stop by! And, just like we have a remarkably varied adult nonfiction section, our children's non-fiction books are just as informative and interesting if you're committing to a whole family New Year's resolution.

By the by, you certainly could dismiss the whole concept of New Year's resolutions and keep on reading all our fabulous fictional books (in the adult, young adult and children's sections). There's nothing wrong with living vicariously through the lives of characters, whether they're facing down monsters, in the beginnings of a new romance or sailing the open oceans.

I guess, when it comes right down to it, I'm suggesting your New Year's resolution be to come to the library more often, to browse the stacks, to join our programs, to attend our events...because they really are amazing, special and informative...and that's certainly deserving of a celebratory promise to yourself.

A Perfect Musical Storm Hits Grahamsville Dave Trestyn's 75th Birthday Celebration at Heartbeat Music Hall

Reported by William A. Brenner, Esq.

On Saturday, December 6, 2025, amidst the previous days heavy snowfall and the freezing cold, starting around dusk at 5:00 pm, a large crowd of townsfolk, public officials, and parents with kids all bundled up, gathered around the Town of Neversink square for a magnificent colored electric lighting of the entire park and especially of the beautiful tall colorful bulb filled Christmas tree.

The large crowd cheered and sang Christmas songs, drank hot chocolate, apple cider and pumpkin donuts while the Sullivan County Sheriff's Department with all colorful lights flashing atop their cars slowed traffic through town.

After the lighting ceremony, much of the crowd crossed Route 55 and went into the Town Hall to defrost and continue the celebration. Others went to the musical birthday party just down the street.

The Heartbeat Music Hall Celebrates Proprietor David Trestyn's 75th Birthday

As the Town of Neversink Christmas lighting celebration was winding down, around 6:00 pm, the wild and humongous Heartbeat Music Hall wild celebration of proprietor David Trestyn's 75th birthday was just beginning.

Musicians and friends from all over Sullivan County and far beyond jam packed the music hall to celebrate and pack the stage to perform. And, along with guitars, harmonicas, saxophones, etc., they brought tables full of hot food and cakes (including a large 75th birthday cake) set up buffet style.

Extra furniture was removed to put in more chairs and tables and for more standing room.

Dave Trestyn, the creator of the Heartbeat Music Hall emotionally thanked all of the friends and all of the technicians and variety of musicians who contributed to the Heartbeat's successes.

Aldo, Carol and Dave known as The Little Sparrow Band started the wild festivities with "The Robbery of the Glendale Train". During the singing, Bill Brenner yelled from the stage:

"Dammgumit! The Hole in the Wall Gang just robbed the Glendale Train! Tarnation! Call the Sheriff! Quick! Russell up a posse! Darn Varmit Critters!!"

The lineup of performers included Debbie Fisher and Paul Kean; Cooper and Laura Greig; Jadetown Road, Jim McBride, and Edina (outrageous on drums).

Grahamsville's famous guitarist Albi cut his Monticello gig short to join and play at Trestyn's birthday party.

And interspaced throughout the evening was the Heartbeat Band with Latin Lover Rod Rigo, Eddie, and Dave himself.

And, of course, as the size of the stage allows, the performers, and singers from the audience jammed together.

Happy 75th Birthday to Dave Trestyn and his wife, Theresa, the Heartbeat Music Hall and Merry Christmas to the good folks of Grahamsville.

What Hazards Exist Where You Live? Weigh in on Sullivan County's Updated Hazard Mitigation Plan

Monticello, NY - Sullivan County's planners seek public input on an update to its Hazard Mitigation Plan.

In cooperation with New York State's Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services (NYSDHSES), the County is in the midst of updating its hazard response plan so that local communities together identify risks, evaluate vulnerabilities and develop strategies to reduce those risks.

"It's crucial that we get feedback from local residents and businesspeople," notes Project Manager and County Planner Justin Rocque. "This plan prepares us for catastrophes and will permit the County to access crucial federal and State funds that can offset the economic impacts that follow these disasters."

Following review by the State, local towns and villages will be asked to formally adopt the Plan, so that everyone is on the same page when responding to hazards.

How to Participate

Sullivan County developed a Public Preparedness Survey, which can be answered quickly and anonymously:

<https://forms.office.com/r/wvs9v9m66R>

Also, stakeholders from local utilities, transportation companies, businesses, emergency services and health/medical providers are invited to weigh in on capabilities, vulnerabilities and potential projects:

Sullivan County to Provide Free Grant Project Planning Workshops Learn How to Make Yourself 'Grant-Ready'

Monticello, NY - "Money may not grow on trees, but you can better equip your non-profit, small business, or municipality to obtain grant funding," says Sullivan County Grants Administration Director Arthur Hussey.

He adds that municipalities, for-profit businesses, and not-for-profit corporations are usually eligible for Federal, State, or private charitable grant funding but may find that they are not "grant ready" when an opportunity arises, due to lack of proper project planning.

"There are time-tested methods of approaching project planning to set an organization up for success," he notes, "and we're here to help in that regard."

The Sullivan County Department of Grants Administration will host two free Grant Project Planning Workshops on Tuesday, February 24, 2026, in the Legislative Hearing Room located on the 2nd floor of the Sullivan County Government Center, 100 North Street, Monticello. For the convenience of all, the workshops will be offered at two separate times, from 9-10 a.m. and 6:30-7:30 p.m. In the event of inclement weather, they will be rescheduled to Wednesday, February 25, at the same times.

The workshops will include a high-level introduction to the steps necessary for thorough project planning and is ideal for municipal leadership, for-profit businesses, and not-for-profit organizations.

Pre-registration is requested, but participants are welcome to attend the time slot that best fits their schedule. Register online at www.sullivanyny.gov/Departments/grants. Or contact the Sullivan County Planning Division at 845-807-0527 for additional information.

The Sullivan County Department of Grants Administration serves the divisions, departments, agencies and other units of the Sullivan County government. While they do not write grants on behalf of outside entities, they do provide resource information via periodic public-facing workshops and at <https://www.sullivanyny.gov>.

Celebrating New York Teachers: Governor Hochul Announces STEM Teachers Chosen to Represent New York State's World Class Education System

- More Than 175 Outstanding STEM Teacher-Leaders Selected To Inspire Next Generation of Educators Through Master Teacher Program; 27 Counselors Appointed to Inaugural Master Counselor Program
- Part of Governor Hochul's Comprehensive Strategy To Grow New York State's Teaching Workforce

Governor Kathy Hochul today celebrated New York State's teachers through the selection of 177 STEM teachers for the New York State Master Teacher Program, as well as 27 counselors as part of the first cohort of the Master Counselor Program. Master Teachers and Master Counselors are leaders in their professions and serve as mentors for students and early-career teachers and counselors.

"Educators play a vital role in preparing the next generation for a successful future by not only teaching them, but also by caring for them at every stage of their education," Governor Hochul said. "I am proud to celebrate the exceptional teachers and counselors who are making an impact on New York State's students every day. We are grateful to our educators for their dedication to New York's children." (Contd. Pg. 19)

(From Pg. 18)

Governor Hochul has initiated programs to inspire more New Yorkers to join the teaching profession. In addition to the New York State Master Teacher Program, which encompasses a professional network of more than 1,700 public-school teachers with a passion for inspiring the next generation of educational leaders, Governor Hochul's landmark SUNY Reconnect program purposefully designates teaching in shortage areas as a high-demand field.

The Master Teacher Program is hosted at nine State University of New York (SUNY) campuses to leverage the expertise of the University's faculty and existing educator preparation programs, and SUNY counterparts collaborate regularly with local STEM career and industry experts.

SUNY Chancellor John B. King Jr. said, "Educators and counselors are an essential part of guiding students through their academic journey, and SUNY is proud to be New York State's largest preparer for the next generation of educators. Thank you to Governor Hochul for recognizing the excellence of New York's Master Teachers and for launching the Master Counselors recognition. This effort helps highlight the importance of all teachers and counselors in the state for helping students achieve their college and career goals."

The SUNY Board of Trustees said, "Thank you to Governor Hochul for her continued support of New York's teachers and counselors. SUNY prides itself in its programs and internships to set aspiring teachers on a path towards student success. New York State's teachers are among the best, and we are dedicated to ensuring more New Yorkers join their ranks."

The new members of the Master Teacher Program represent 151 school districts with a Master Teacher or Master Counselor among their faculty, with 48 program members from high-needs districts including in Buffalo, Binghamton, Mount Vernon, Rochester, Schenectady, Syracuse, Utica, Yonkers and, for counselors, the New York City School District.

Master Teachers support students from kindergarten through high school (K-12) in the areas of science, technology, computer science, robotics, coding, engineering, math, integrated STEM and agricultural education. Many new Master Teacher and Master Counselor members have been recognized by their local school districts and community organizations for their work with students.

More than 60 percent of the new members have been in the classroom for more than 10 years, and 50 percent have been teaching for 15 or more years. The incoming group of Master Teachers is comprised of 25 percent elementary level teachers, 50 teachers with multiple teaching certifications, 28 teachers certified in Special Education, four teachers who hold a Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) certification or Bilingual Education Extension, and two teachers who hold an Agricultural Education Certification.

The inaugural cohort of Master Counselors are active members of their professional associations, serving in leadership roles and regularly engaging with local industries to help students chart a path to success. More than half of the Master Counselors have been in a counseling role for longer than ten years.

The counselors serve in various district-level and state-level roles, joining the program as experienced leaders dedicated to developing and sharing best practices. More than 50 percent of the Master Counselors hold additional certificates or NYS trainings, including Disability Services and National Board.

The total number of teachers and counselors selected from each region, and the respective partner SUNY campus, are:

- o Capital Region: 236 Master Teachers and five Master Counselors (The State University of New York at Albany)
- o Central New York: 225 Master Teachers and five Master Counselors (SUNY Cortland)
- o Finger Lakes: 256 Master Teachers and six Master Counselors (SUNY Geneseo)
- o Long Island: 234 Master Teachers and eight Master Counselors (The State University of New York at Stony Brook)
- o Mid-Hudson: 227 Master Teachers and eleven Master Counselors (SUNY New Paltz)
- o Mohawk Valley: 157 Master Teachers and seven Master Counselors (SUNY Oneonta)
- o North Country: 133 Master Teachers and nine Master Counselors (SUNY Plattsburgh)
- o Southern Tier: 271 Master Teachers and nine Master Counselors (The State University of New York at Binghamton)
- o Western New York: 265 Master Teachers and nine Master Counselors (SUNY Buffalo State University)
- o New York City: 160 Master Teachers (in partnership with Math for America) and nine Master Counselors (in the New York State program)

Throughout their four-year participation in the program, Master Teachers and Master Counselors will receive a $15,000 stipend annually; engage in peer mentoring and intensive content-oriented professional development opportunities throughout the academic year; work closely with pre-service and early career teachers and counselors to foster a supportive environment for the next generation of STEM teachers and counselors; and attend required regional meetings to participate in and lead professional development sessions each year.

To Learn more about the Master Teacher Program, visit:
www.suny.edu/masterteacher.

State Senator Toby Ann Stavisky said, "New York needs our teachers and counselors now more than ever, and this program recognizes just how much they carry every single day. They are educators, mentors, leaders, and problem-solvers, supporting students in the classroom while helping young people navigate college, careers, and life. I thank Governor Hochul and SUNY for strengthening the profession and ensuring the next generation of New Yorkers has the support they deserve."

Assemblymember Alicia L. Hyndman said, "New York's education system is an ecosystem, and the connection between our SUNY campuses and our K-12 classrooms is the heartbeat of that system. As Chair of the Committee on Higher Education, I applaud Governor Hochul and Chancellor King for investing in the 'Master Teacher' model. By empowering these experienced educators to mentor the next generation, we are not just retaining talent; we are ensuring that every student - from Buffalo to Southeast Queens - has access to the world-class STEM instruction they need to compete in the future economy."

About The State University of New York

The State University of New York is the largest comprehensive system of higher education in the United States, and more than 95 percent of all New Yorkers live within 30 miles of any one of SUNY's 64 colleges and universities. Across the system, SUNY has four academic health centers, five hospitals, four medical schools, two dental schools, a law school, the country's oldest school of maritime, the state's only college of optometry, and manages one US Department of Energy National Laboratory. In total, SUNY serves about 1.4 million students across its portfolio of credit- and non-credit-bearing courses and programs, continuing education, and community outreach programs. SUNY oversees nearly a quarter of academic research in New York. Research expenditures system-wide are nearly $1.16 billion in fiscal year 2024, including significant contributions from students and faculty. There are more than three million SUNY alumni worldwide, and one in three New Yorkers with a college degree is a SUNY alum. To learn more about how SUNY creates opportunities, visit www.suny.edu.

Yes, Virginia, We Recycle Christmas Trees! Retire Your Tree for Free at Any Sullivan County Transfer Station

Monticello, NY - Sullivan County will be collecting Christmas trees free of charge from December 26-January 31. Residents, businesses, and visitors can drop off their trees at one of six County transfer stations. For locations and hours, visit www.sullivanyny.gov/Departments/SolidWasteRecycling/CountyLandfill.

"Residents, businesses, and visitors with limited access to open space are encouraged to take their trees to any Sullivan County Transfer Station for FREE disposal," said Recycling Coordinator Kassie Thelman.

Sullivan County employees will chip the trees to incorporate them for use as mulch in County parks, landscaping and beautification projects. Repurposing wood chips helps to conserve natural resources and enhance the appearance of the County.

Or Do It Yourself!

"For individuals with access to backyards and open spaces, strategically-placed, spent Christmas trees offer welcome cover during the winter months for birds and wildlife," Thelman explained. "However you choose to dispose of your Christmas tree, remember, they DO NOT belong in your home recycling bin. It is best to choose an option that will keep your tree out of the landfill."

Get Offline, Get Outside: Governor Hochul Announces $10 Million Funding Available through Municipal Parks and Recreation Grant Program

*• Grant Program Complements
Governor's Unplug and Play Initiative
To Encourage Kids To Get Outside and Off of Their Phones*

*• Grant Applications Available
Beginning December 31, 2025*

Governor Kathy Hochul announced $10 million will be made available for the second round of the Municipal Parks and Recreation (MPR) Grant Program to fund the development and improvement of municipal parks and recreation sites statewide for the public to enjoy. Funding for this program is provided by the Clean Water, Clean Air, and Green Jobs Environmental Bond Act.

"This second round of Municipal Parks and Recreation Grant funding will help improve the state's social infrastructure to encourage New Yorkers to disconnect from their digital devices and reconnect with the outdoors," Governor Hochul said. "Expanding access to quality parks and recreational facilities makes our communities healthier and ensures children have places to play, learn, and grow in a safe and engaging environment."

The MPR grant funding is available for the construction of recreational facilities and other improvements to municipally owned recreational sites and parks. Examples include playgrounds, courts, playing fields, and facilities for swimming, biking, boating, picnicking, hiking, fishing, camping, or other recreational activities. Program guidelines, including how to apply, will be available beginning December 31, 2025, on the State Parks website. The first round of the MPR grant program awarded $10 million to 17 projects across the state.

Eligible applicants include counties, cities, towns and villages within New York State that own the property where the proposed project will take place. Grants will primarily fund construction costs. Preconstruction activities, such as developing plans and design specifications, may be included in the project budget, but the grant cannot fund projects that are solely for planning and design without a construction component.

To maximize accessibility to funding, the MPR grant opportunity can fund up to 90 percent of the total eligible project costs, with a matching share requirement of 10 percent. The maximum grant award is $900,000. Grants are administered on a reimbursement basis.

The application period will open on December 31, 2025 and applications must be submitted by February 9, 2026 at 4:00 p.m. Awards are expected to be announced no earlier than May 22, 2026.

New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation Acting Commissioner Kathy Moser said, “Our agency is proud to support Governor Hochul's priority initiative to expand affordable recreational opportunities throughout New York State. Through this continued grant funding, we are helping more New Yorkers get outside to enjoy community-based parks and outdoor spaces year-round, while making it easier to engage in healthy activities that enhance overall quality of life.

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation Commissioner Amanda Lefton said, “The Municipal Parks and Recreation Grant Program is another prime example of Governor Hochul's commitment to outdoor recreation opportunities for all New Yorkers. With $10 million funded through the truly transformative Clean Water, Clean Air, and Green Jobs Environmental Bond Act, more youth will be able to unplug and play at new or upgraded parks and recreation sites statewide.”

State Senator Jose Serrano said, “The Municipal Parks and Recreation (MPR) Grant Program is an important investment to fund the development and improvement of municipal parks and recreation sites statewide for the public to enjoy. The development and improvement of municipal parks and recreation sites allow for increased access to vital green spaces. As Chair of the Senate Committee on Cultural Affairs, Tourism, Parks and Recreation, I firmly believe that outdoor recreation can provide many physical and mental health benefits for New Yorkers. Many thanks to Governor Kathy Hochul, The New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation, and my colleagues in government for working to maintain and expand this important initiative.”

Assemblymember Ron Kim said, “The Municipal Parks and Recreation Grant Program is an important, impactful plan to create and develop public spaces in New York for recreation. We need to protect and expand the number of fields, courts, and playgrounds available in our state to people of all ages, and give New Yorkers as many opportunities as possible to reconnect with and enjoy the great outdoors. I thank Governor Hochul and our State Department of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation for their work in implementing this program and encourage all eligible applicants to apply.”

The MPR grant program complements Governor Hochul's Unplug and Play initiative to promote kids' mental and physical health by continuing to rebuild the state's social infrastructure and help steer children away from the harms of social media and toward positive activities like youth sports, arts programs, civic engagement, and community building. Unplug and Play includes three grant programs that invest in swimming infrastructure, playground construction and renovation, and the building and renovation of community centers.

New York's Clean Water, Clean Air and Green Jobs Environmental Bond Act

On November 8, 2022, New York voters overwhelmingly approved the $4.2 billion Environmental Bond Act. State agencies, local governments, and partners will be able to access funding to protect water quality, help communities adapt to climate change, improve resiliency, and create green jobs. Bond Act funding will support new and expanded projects across the state to safeguard drinking water sources, reduce pollution, and protect communities and natural resources from climate change. Progress on implementing funding continues, with New York State awarding approximately $1.25 billion, or 25 percent, of Bond Act funds to date. For more information and to sign up for progress updates, go to the Environmental Bond Act webpage.

Taverns in the Early United States

Taverns in the Early United States

A Virtual Talk by
Dr. Kirsten Wood

Sunday, January 18, 2026
2 p.m.

People have gathered in taverns to drink, relax, socialize, and do business for hundreds of years. For just as long, critics have described taverns as sources of individual ruin and public disorder.

Dr. Wood argues that men integrated taverns into the nation's growing transportation network and used them to raise capital, promote businesses, practice genteel sociability, and rally support for favored causes—often while drinking staggering amounts of alcohol!

DEC Announces Expansion of the Catskills Fire Tower Challenge 2026 Challenge Includes Two New Fire Towers in Delaware County

The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) today announced the 2026 Catskills Fire Tower Challenge to highlight the world-class tourism destinations and recreational opportunities in the Catskill Park. Launched in 2019, the Challenge has drawn participants from every region of New York, as well as 11 other states and Canadian Provinces. This challenge also complements Governor Kathy Hochul's "Get Offline, Get Outside" initiative to promote physical and mental health by encouraging kids and families to put down their phones and computers, take a break from social media, and enjoy recreation and the outdoors.

"The Catskills Fire Tower Challenge introduces New Yorkers and visitors to the exceptional hiking opportunities available on New York State public lands," said Commissioner Amanda Lefton. "Each year, hundreds of outdoor enthusiasts take Governor Hochul's advice to get offline and outside by taking the Challenge and visiting the beauty of the Catskills from the heights of one of the historical fire towers. The Challenge is helping more people appreciate and enjoy all that this region has to offer, inspiring the next generation of environmental stewards."

This year, the addition of Bramley Mountain and Mount Utsayantha fire towers celebrates community partnerships and provides an even greater challenge to take with friends and family. Participation by the two towers in Delaware County is made possible by a strong partnership between DEC, local communities, and not-for-profit organizations dedicated to enhancing public recreation, tourism, and conservation.

Mount Utsayantha Fire Tower, built in 1934 and restored in 2005, is located just outside of the Catskill Forest Preserve Bought in 2015 for $1, the fire tower is owned and maintained by the Village of Stamford. In 1900, the tower boasted views as far away as the Berkshires. Visitors to this tower have the option of hiking or driving a one-mile seasonal gravel road to the summit.

Bramley Mountain Fire Tower was recently reconstructed atop Bramley Mountain, an effort that spanned many years and completed thanks to the diligence of committed volunteers and community members. Open since May 2025, this tower offers sweeping views of the Catskills. The four-mile trail leading to the tower was built by the Catskill Mountain Club in partnership with the New York City Department of Environmental Protection. Friends of Bramley Mountain Fire Tower provides educational and historical information at the tower on weekends and holidays during the summer months.

Empire State Development Vice President and Executive Director of Tourism Ross D. Levi said, "The Catskills Fire Tower Challenge continues to offer a unique way to encourage exploration of the region and its namesake mountains. The addition of Bramley Mountain and Mount Utsayantha to this year's challenge will expand the program's footprint and provide more reasons for visitors to plan a Catskills getaway, complemented by one-of-a-kind experiences that can only be found in New York State."

For nearly a century, observers watched the forests of New York State, including the Catskill and Adirondack Forest Preserve, from more than 100 fire towers perched atop the highest peaks to search for signs of forest fires. This Catskills Fire Tower Challenge highlights the park's remaining public fire towers.

The Catskills Fire Tower Challenge encourages experienced hikers to visit the region's remaining fire towers located on Balsam Lake Mountain (Hardenburgh), Hunter Mountain (Hunter), Overlook Mountain (Woodstock), Red Hill Mountain (Denning), Tremper Mountain (Shandaken), Upper Esopus Fire Tower (Catskills Visitor Center - Mt. Tremper), Mt. Utsayantha Fire Tower (Stamford), and Bramley Mountain Fire Tower (Delhi).

(From Pg 27)

For more information about the Catskills and to experience the easiest-to-reach fire tower in the region, visit the Catskills Visitor Center on Route 28 in the heart of the Catskill Park. Situated on 60 acres of forest, fields, and wetlands, the Catskills Visitor Center offers the tower, a visitor information center, gift shop, 1.5 miles of peaceful nature trails (including ADA-accessible trails), picnic areas, a covered pavilion, wildlife viewing, Esopus Creek access, and much more. Visitors can connect with staff and find valuable information, maps, and advice about all the activities available in the 700,000-acre forest preserve. The Catskills Visitor Center is open for the winter season Friday-Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

New York City Department of Environmental Protection Commissioner Rohit T. Aggarwala said, "These towers are cherished landmarks that offer extraordinary opportunities for outdoor enthusiasts to learn about the history of the Catskills while taking in some truly breathtaking views. DEP remains proud of our recent work with our community partners in helping enable the recent restoration of the Bramley Mountain Fire Tower and we hope the public enjoys using it for many years to come."

Delaware County Board of Supervisors Chairman Tina B. Mole said, "Delaware County is pleased and honored to be a part of the NYSDEC's Catskill Fire Tower Challenge 2026. Mount Utsayantha and Bramley Mountain are treasured places in Delaware County, representing both our natural beauty and the local history of our region. We are thrilled to be sharing these special spaces with visitors and locals alike."

Delhi Town Supervisor Maya Boukai said, "The Town of Delhi is excited and proud to see Bramley Mountain Fire Tower join the Catskills Fire Tower Challenge in 2026. This milestone is the result of countless volunteer hours from the Friends of Bramley Mountain and strong community support dedicated to restoring and caring for this special place. We're thankful to the DEC and everyone who helped make this happen, and we look forward to sharing Bramley Mountain with hikers and families from across the region."

Jeff Senterman, Executive Director of the Catskill Center for Conservation and Development Friends of Bramley Mountain Fire Tower said, "We are excited to welcome the Bramley Mountain and Mount Utsayantha fire towers into the Catskills Fire Tower Challenge this year, deepening and expanding this beloved regional hiking experience. The Catskills Fire Tower Challenge is a powerful way to connect people with the history, landscapes, and communities of the Catskill Park, and the Catskill Center is proud to be a partner in that work through our Catskill Fire Tower Project. Through the volunteer staffing of the region's historic fire towers, and especially the Upper Esopus Fire Tower at the Catskills Visitor Center, we're able to welcome thousands of visitors each year, help them explore the Catskills safely, and inspire them to care for these mountains for the long term. At the Congressman Maurice D. Hinchey Catskills Visitor Center and through our Catskill Stewards program, our staff and volunteers engage tens of thousands of hikers annually with trail information, safety guidance, and Leave No Trace™ education, ensuring that as more people take on the Fire Tower Challenge, the Catskills remain protected and welcoming for everyone."

Friends of Bramley Mountain Fire Tower's Ann Roberti said, "The Friends of Bramley Mountain Fire Tower are so excited to be included in the Fire Tower Challenge. We were thrilled to welcome visitors to the tower from around the Catskills, from around the country and from around the world in our first year. We know that being included in the Challenge will bring even more hikers to our corner of the Catskills, benefiting the local economy. We are looking forward to welcoming them."

Catskill Mountain Club Executive Director Peter Manning said, "The Catskill Mountain Club is elated that two more fire towers are being included in the challenge. These towers illustrate there is much more to discover and enjoy in the region. These opportunities also reflect the dedicated partnerships that support the tourism-recreation economy."

Village of Stamford Deputy Mayor Jim Kopp said, "The Village of Stamford is honored to now be included in the DEC program. On Mount Utsayantha is a 20-acre park with scenic trails, fire pits, a composting restroom, and the iconic Fire Tower at its summit. This is a great boost to tourism for all of Delaware County."

To complete the challenge, participants must visit all eight fire towers in the Catskills region between January 1, 2026, and December 31, 2026. Once completed, participants submit a log of their completed hikes along with a favorite photo to CatskillsChallenge@dec.ny.gov, or via mail. Entries must be postmarked by January 5, 2027. Full details can be found at the 2026 Catskills Fire Tower Challenge page.

All participants who complete the challenge will receive a letter and a commemorative Catskills Fire Tower Challenge patch designed with the 2026 completion year. The first 1,000 finishers will also receive a one-year subscription to DEC's Conservationist magazine and a gift subscription for a second person of their choice. Again, this year, finishers who completed the challenge multiple times will receive an additional commemorative Catskills Fire Tower Challenge prize. Upon completion, finishers will be able to download a customizable certificate and will be eligible to win prizes after the challenge period is closed. Finishers will be entered into a grand prize drawing.

To promote responsible recreation, DEC will offer a bonus prize entry to finishers who also submit a photo of themselves being safe, respectful, and responsible when enjoying the outdoors by practicing Leave No Trace™ while participating in the Catskills Fire Tower Challenge. Love Our New York Lands by picking up litter, carrying out what you carried in, planning and preparing for safe hikes, staying on the trail, and finding more tips available at DEC's website.

The 2025 challenge has more than 500 finishers to date. With DEC giving participants a full year to complete the challenge, hikers can complete it at their own pace. Hikers who would like to get a jump start on the Challenge for the new year can complete their first fire tower as part of a guided First Day Hike. The New York State Outdoor Guides Association, Catskills Visitor Center, and Friends of Bramley Mountain Fire Tower will be leading hikes up Red Hill Fire Tower, Upper Esopus Fire Tower, and Bramley Mountain on January 1, 2026. Stewardship of the DEC fire towers is a partnership with the Catskill Center for Conservation and Development.

The Catskill Center, through the Catskill Fire Tower Project, manages six fire towers in the Catskill Park for public access and interpretation under a Volunteer Stewardship Agreement with DEC. Dedicated volunteers help maintain and staff each of the fire towers on weekends and holidays throughout the summer and fall seasons.

Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams Announce Groundbreaking for First-of-its-Kind Jobs and Education Hub, Celebrate Four Years of Delivering a Safer and More Affordable New York City

- SPARC Kips Bay Will Create More Than 15,000 Jobs, Generate $42 Billion in Economic Impact Over 30 Years, and Deliver State-of-the-Art Life Sciences Space to CUNY Community
- Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams Have Consistently Set the Tone for a Focused State-City Relationship that Delivers a More Affordable City for New Yorkers

Governor Kathy Hochul, New York City Mayor Eric Adams, New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC) President and CEO Andrew Kimball, and The City University of New York (CUNY) Chancellor Félix V. Matos Rodríguez today celebrated progress on the Science Park and Research Campus (SPARC) Kips Bay project, a first-of-its-kind life sciences innovation, career, and education hub. Deconstruction of the current campus on the site is expected to begin in February 2026, with construction of the new SPARC campus expected to begin in 2027. Today's announcement is yet another example of the successful city-state partnership Mayor Adams and Governor Hochul have achieved for the last four years working together to address the affordability crisis, create new housing, lower taxes, and advance bold infrastructure projects.

"The new SPARC campus will drive innovation and research for New York's nation-leading life sciences ecosystem, ensuring that groundbreaking medical advances are done right here in this city," Governor Hochul said. "Over the past four years, Mayor Adams and I have made bold strides to uplift New York City's economy, create good-paying jobs for New Yorkers, address the affordable housing crisis head-on, and forge ahead with critical infrastructure projects - showcasing what can be accomplished through state and city partnership."

New York City Mayor Eric Adams said, "SPARC Kips Bay will transform an entire New York City block into a state-of-the-art destination for the life sciences and healthy industry. It will create more than 15,000 good-paying jobs and generate more than $42 billion in economic impact for our city. We thank our partners, NYCEDC, CUNY, and, especially, Governor Hochul for her steadfast support and leadership. From day one, Governor Hochul has been a real partner in 'Getting Stuff Done' for our city and working people. Over the past four years, we have worked together to make our city more affordable, delivered the 'City of Yes for Housing Opportunity,' expanded the New York City Earned Income Tax Credit for the first time in nearly two decades, and eliminated the personal income tax for more than 500,000 New Yorkers through our 'Axe the Tax for Working-Class' plan. We have worked in partnership to get big, visionary projects planned, approved, and built, including the reimagining of the Kingsbridge Armory and our historic plan to turn the Brooklyn Marine Terminal into a modern maritime port.

Together, we have invested in a bold vision for the five boroughs that has made New York City safer, more affordable, and the best place to live and raise a family."

Addressing New York City's Affordability Crisis

Last year, Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams worked together to pass "City of Yes for Housing Opportunity," the most pro-housing zoning proposal in New York City history. The citywide rezoning plan will enable the creation of 80,000 new homes over the next 15 years and invest $5 billion - including $1 billion from the State - towards critical infrastructure updates and housing. Additionally, in 2024, Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams worked with the New York State Legislature to pass a comprehensive housing agreement as part of the FY25 Budget. That agreement - which included new tools to encourage more affordable housing, convert offices into homes, allow more density in housing, and create safe basement apartments - is already delivering more housing for New Yorkers across the city.

Additionally, Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams worked together to establish the New York City Public Housing Preservation Trust, paving the way for the overdue repair, rehabilitation, and modernization of 25,000 apartments under control of the New York City Housing Authority.

Under Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams, the city and state worked together to deliver hundreds of millions of dollars in tax relief for working-class New Yorkers, including the first expansion of the New York City Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) in nearly two decades and Mayor Adams' "Axe the Tax for the Working-Class" proposal to eliminate and lower city income taxes for more than 500,000 New Yorkers. When combined, both Axe the Tax for the Working Class and the new, enhanced NYC EITC would put more than a collective $408 million back into the pockets of 2 million New Yorkers.

Delivering on Big, Bold Infrastructure and Economic Development Projects

Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams worked together to advance bold economic development and infrastructure projects that had languished for decades and bring new housing, jobs, and public space to New York City.

Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams - as well as local elected officials and community leaders - helped pass a historic vision plan to turn the Brooklyn Marine Terminal into a vibrant, mixed-use community. Backed by $418 million in city, state, and federal investments, the ambitious plan will transform the dilapidated marine terminal into a 60-acre, all-electric maritime port as well as create 6,000 new homes, 28 acres of public space, 37,000 construction jobs, and 275,000 square feet of commercial space along the Brooklyn waterfront.

Additionally, Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams helped pass a historic plan to transform the Kingsbridge Armory in the Bronx into a thriving, community-centered hub. With a state-of-the-art venue space for entertainment, new cultural and commercial space, light industrial manufacturing space, over 25,000 square feet of dedicated community space, and approximately 500 permanently-affordable homes, the new Kingsbridge Armory will deliver a more affordable Bronx for working-class New Yorkers.

Along with the "New" New York initiative to ensure an equitable economic recovery after the pandemic; a joint planning effort for the future of Roosevelt Island; an agreement to replace and expand the Port Authority Bus Terminal in Midtown Manhattan; a $500 million investment from the Battery Park City Authority's Joint Purpose Fund into affordable housing; new incentive programs to encourage businesses to maintain offices in or move to New York City; and more, the Hochul and Adams administrations have consistently delivered a productive partnership and real results year after year after year. (Contd. Pg. 33)

Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams Announce Groundbreaking for First-of-its-Kind Jobs and Education Hub, Celebrate Four Years of Delivering a Safer and More Affordable New York City

From Pg. 32) CUNY Chancellor Félix V. Matos Rodríguez said, “SPARC Kips Bay will expand pathways into public health careers for our students and provide state-of-the-art facilities for our faculty who are conducting research for the public good. I’m pleased to mark this milestone and grateful to Governor Hochul and Mayor Adams for their leadership and support of this transformational project, which will strengthen our city and University.”

Empire State Development President, CEO and Commissioner Hope Knight said, “SPARC Kips Bay will connect New Yorkers—from public school students to CUNY graduates—with careers in one of the world’s fastest-growing industries. Empire State Development is proud to partner with NYCEDC on a project that invests in both cutting-edge research and the New Yorkers who will power our life sciences economy for decades to come.”

New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC) President & CEO Andrew Kimball said, “SPARC Kips Bay is a transformative project that represents a path-breaking approach to economic development in New York City - transforming an entire city block into a world-class hub that bridges together economic opportunity, cutting-edge innovation and research, while creating strong, accessible career pathways for New Yorkers of all backgrounds into the innovative sectors of today and tomorrow. As we officially mobilize for deconstruction, NYCEDC is thrilled to add SPARC Kips Bay to the list of major milestones accomplished with our city and state partners, and to celebrate advancing a project that will shape the region’s innovation ecosystem for generations to come. From unlocking long-stalled projects like Kingsbridge Armory to advancing city-shaping projects such as the Brooklyn Marine Terminal and SPARC Kips Bay, we are laying the foundation for inclusive, long-term growth across all five boroughs.”

Building and Construction Trades Council of Greater New York President Gary LaBarbera said, “The groundbreaking of SPARC Kips Bay marks a major step forward in strengthening our health care and life sciences infrastructure while creating thousands of good-paying jobs and long-term career opportunities for working-class people. By transforming Kips Bay into a state-of-the-art public health and education hub, this project will help solidify New York City as a leader in life sciences and provide accessible middle-class career paths to hard-working New Yorkers. We applaud Mayor Adams and Governor Hochul for their continued commitment to advancing projects that grow our economy, support our workforce, and improve the lives of all New Yorkers.”

Representative Jerrold Nadler said, “The SPARC Kips Bay project will provide thousands of jobs and create a state-of-the-art life sciences innovation, career, and education hub right here in Manhattan. This groundbreaking marks the beginning of a major boost to New York’s life sciences and health care sectors and a pathway to career opportunities for generations of New Yorkers.”

State Senator Kristen Gonzalez said, “SPARC Kips Bay builds on the state of the art public health and education institutions in New York City and State to create an innovation center that will provide thousands of good paying jobs and increased educational opportunities in advanced sciences and technology. I applaud Governor Hochul, and Mayor Adams for their work to bring this important project to Kips Bay and keep New York at the forefront of innovative industries.”

Manhattan Borough President Mark Levine said, “SPARC will be a game-changer for Manhattan’s East Side, connecting innovative research facilities with job opportunities for the next generation of New York scientists and healthcare workers. This project will create thousands of jobs and establish our borough as a leader in life sciences for years to come.”

New York City Councilmember Keith Powers said, “Today’s milestone is another step forward for a transformational project to make New York City a destination for the life sciences industry. On top of the thousands of jobs and billions in economic impact this project brings, it bolsters our local community by adding new science and technology opportunities for our next generation of leaders. SPARC Kips Bay will leave a lasting impact on our community with crucial infrastructure and public realm improvements, as well as additional 3-K public school seats for our students.”

New York City Councilmember-Elect Virginia Maloney said, “SPARC Kips Bay is exactly the kind of coordinated, future-focused economic development New York City needs. By bringing together public education, research, and private-sector job creation, the project builds on Kips Bay’s healthcare legacy while creating real pathways to opportunity for New Yorkers. I’m thrilled to see this project moving forward, bringing cutting-edge life sciences and healthcare opportunities to our community.”

CUNY Graduate School of Public Health & Health Policy Dean Dr. Ayman El-Mohandes said, “This is a significant moment for our school. We’ve experienced tremendous growth in the ten years that we’ve been an independent school, and we’ve now outgrown our current space. The new SPARC Kips Bay campus will give us the room we need with modern classrooms where our students can learn, proper lab facilities where they can get hands-on experience, and for the first time, wet lab space where our faculty can conduct the kind of research that’s essential to a public health institution. This move isn’t just about more square footage. It’s about finally having the infrastructure to match our ambitions for training future public health professionals and advancing research that matters to communities across New York.”

Next Steps for SPARC

The transformation of SPARC will bring over two million square feet of academic, public health, and life sciences space to the community. First announced by Governor Hochul, Mayor Adams, NYCEDC, and CUNY in October 2022, the historic project is expected to create more than 15,000 total jobs, generate $42 billion in economic impact over the next 30 years, and establish a pipeline from New York City’s public schools and public universities to future-forward and family-supporting careers in the life sciences and health care sectors.

The Innovation East development, located at 455 First Ave, will replace the former and obsolete Public Health Lab with a new state-of-the-art life sciences hub. The Public Health Lab will relocate to a new, modern facility in Harlem to continue its critical work, which is expected to be complete by the end of 2025. Demolition of the existing 455 First Avenue building is anticipated to occur in 2026, with construction beginning in 2027. SPARC Kips Bay passed the Uniform Land Use Review Procedure (ULURP) and received City Council approval in February 2025.

The SPARC Kips Bay and Innovation East projects are key initiatives to advance the LifeSci NYC goal of creating 10 million square feet of life sciences space, creating and attracting accessible jobs in life sciences, health care, and public health, and cementing New York City as a global leader in the sector.

Forest Rangers - Week in Review

Recent Statewide Forest Ranger Actions

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Forest Rangers respond to search and rescue incidents statewide. Working with other State agencies, local emergency response organizations, and volunteer search and rescue groups, Forest Rangers locate, and extract lost, injured, or distressed people from across New York State.

"DEC's Forest Rangers bravely protect State-owned and managed lands, as well as the people who use them. Whether conducting a search and rescue call or responding to a wildfire, Rangers are always ready when emergencies strike," DEC Commissioner Amanda Lefton said. "Every day and in all conditions, Forest Rangers demonstrate their expertise and leadership in protecting the public and State lands, serving as role models for the next generation of environmental stewards. DEC encourages interested New Yorkers to visit DEC's website to learn how to become the next New York State Forest Ranger."

Wilderness Rescue: On December 24 at 11:30 a.m., the North Hudson Fire Department called Forest Ranger Quinn to assist with an injured hiker on Crane Pond trail. The 70-year-old from Fort Edward suffered an ankle injury after a fall and activated the SOS feature on a satellite device. Ranger Quinn responded with New York State Police, Schroon Lake Fire Department, North Hudson Fire Department, and Ticonderoga Emergency Medical Services. Rescuers stabilized the injury and used Schroon Lake Fire Department's tracked utility terrain vehicle to transport the patient to a Ticonderoga ambulance. Resources were clear at 1 p.m.

The ambulance was transporting the 47-year-old Unadilla resident from Fox Hospital to Bassett Medical Center. Ambulance personnel pursued the patient but lost sight near Walnut and Linden Streets. Ranger Laymon assisted deputies in that area. At 9 p.m., Ranger France joined the search in a wooded area and at 10:20 p.m., three more Rangers joined the search along railroad tracks. At 11:20 p.m., a civilian notified Ranger Laymon that someone was pounding on the front door of a house on Linden Street. Ranger Laymon and two deputies searched that area. Deputy Benora found the patient sitting at the bus stop shelter and drove the patient to the hospital. Resources were clear at 12:45 a.m.

Lieutenant Arnold and Ranger Milano responded with Raquette Lake Fire Department, Raquette Lake and Inlet Emergency Medical Services, New York State Police, and Inlet Police. Rescuers found the 61-year-old from Amityville approximately 10 feet off the trail, in the woods. The snowmobiler had been ejected from the snowmobile while rounding a corner. The patient had unstable pelvis and leg injuries. Rescuers packaged the patient into Raquette Lake Fire Department's tracked utility terrain vehicle (UTV). The UTV transported the injured snowmobiler to a nearby LifeNet helicopter that flew the patient to the hospital. Resources were clear at 1:50 p.m.

The Skin Ripper

A novel

John Dwaine McKenna

From the award-winning pen of John Dwaine McKenna comes a searing new novel five years in the making . . .

Recently promoted and just out of the hospital after a long recuperation from injuries he received while battling Lee Roy Morgan gang as they were trying to rob Colorado Commercial Bank, Colorado Springs homicide detective Jake McKern is on his first case . . . the double murder of an elderly couple who ran a small grocery on the 'Springs near west side . . . while at the same time, his personal life is crashing down around him.

With the only clue being a handwritten journal in an unknown and indecipherable language, the victims turn out to be Jews who survived Auschwitz and the horrors of the Shoah, the case suddenly takes on an international flavor with world-wide consequences.

The suspense ratchets up with each chapter as the beleaguered detective is drawn ever deeper into a morass of treachery, danger, and personal tragedy. It's Jake's darkest

I hope your summer has gone well. I'm reaching back out to you to share the news that our website has been refreshed and updated. It now features four new essays on the Founding era recently published by the Hoover Institution of Stanford University as we look forward next year to celebrating our 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. One of those essays is on the significance of the Battle of Saratoga, which proved to be a turning point in the Revolutionary War. You can now read those essays for free on our website here.

<https://www.thespiritofphiladelphia.com/events>

We've also added links to some of our recent TV, radio and podcast appearances, relevant media coverage, and an updated listing of upcoming events (all of these can be found on the "media & events" page). All of the new items are marked with a green "NEW" banner. We've also updated the "what people are saying" section of the home page to include several new endorsements of the book by Americans from across the ideological spectrum.

As always, I'd welcome your thoughts and feedback on any of these items and/or your reactions to my new book. You can reach me by sending an email message from the "contact us" page on the website.

Finally, I hope you are enjoying the beautiful color as our leaves change across the region and country - it's shaping up to be a beautiful fall!

Sincerely yours,
Chris Gibson

'Tis the Season! Governor Hochul Announces Completion of Holiday Food, Toy, Coat and School Supply Drive to Help New Yorkers in Need

Volunteers Collected 4,298 Donated Items and 2,250 Pounds of Food to be Distributed by Nonprofits Across New York

Governor Kathy Hochul today announced the completion of New York's annual statewide donation drive. Donations of non-perishable food items, new unwrapped toys, new or gently used coats and new school supplies were collected to assist community-based organizations during the holiday giving season.

"When times are tough, New Yorkers show up for each other with a generosity and giving spirit that is unmatched," Governor Hochul said. "I'm proud of every New Yorker who contributed to this year's holiday drive, looked out for their neighbors and helped spread kindness this season. With the holidays underway, State agencies are working diligently to deliver donated items, bringing warmth and joy to families across New York State."

New York State Office of General Services Commissioner Jeanette Moy said, "I am honored to join Governor Hochul in giving my sincere thanks to everyone who helped their neighbors by giving to New York State's Holiday Food, Toy, Coat and School Supply Drive. Every holiday season, OGS is proud to partner with the New York State Department of Transportation to support making the season brighter for New Yorkers in all corners of our state."

New York State Department of Transportation Commissioner Marie Therese Dominguez said, "The spirit of giving in the service of others is what the holidays are all about and thanks to the generous donations of so many New Yorkers, DOT and OGS are able to help facilitate the distribution and delivery of many gifts - gifts that will truly make a difference in the lives of hundreds of New Yorkers in the form of toys under the Christmas tree, food on the table, supplies for the schools and coats to brave the elements of winter. My sincere thanks and appreciation to our DOT team members, our OGS partners, and all the state employees from Brooklyn to Buffalo for their generosity and giving spirit this holiday season."

Each giving season, New Yorkers contribute to the drive by donating items at drop-off locations set up by the Office of General Services, shipping them to the Empire State Plaza, or through other outlets. The Department of Transportation worked with the Office of General Services to transport hundreds of toys, coats, school supplies and food from state office buildings in New York City, Utica, Hornell, Syracuse, Watertown, Buffalo, Rochester and Binghamton, and deliver them to community-based organizations across the state.

This year's drive has collected 4,298 items and 2,250 pounds of food. The Compassion Coalition, a nonprofit based in Utica that focuses on community-based giving, donated 1,295 pajamas and toys this year.

The breakdown of total donations received by category:

Happy Holidays from Comptroller DiNapoli

Happy Holidays! May the spirit of the season bring you peace and happiness. My team and I wish you a joyful holiday filled with the warmth of tradition and the company of family and friends.

Welcome to Kirsten's New York Minute! Holiday greetings and Happy New Year! From my family to yours, happy holidays.

As 2025 comes to a close, I want to take a moment to reflect. This has been a challenging year for many New Yorkers. Costs are up, essential services have been undermined, and a Republican government shutdown left workers struggling and families facing higher health care costs in the new year.

And yet, even in the hardest moments, I remain hopeful. Across New York, neighbors showed up for each other. Local organizations stepped up to help families stay afloat. Advocates fought for a better tomorrow.

This year reminded us of our shared responsibility to care for one another and work toward a future rooted in dignity, fairness, and opportunity. It is that mentality that I am bringing into 2026.

As we look toward the new year, I remain committed to fighting for New Yorkers.

Wishing you all a peaceful New Year filled with blessings, joy, and love.

Best,
Kirsten

This Week with Claudia Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

*Merry Christmas!
I'm grateful every day

Upstate New York, and I look forward to delivering even more results for our communities in the year ahead.
Claudia Tenney*

As we celebrate Christmas across Upstate New York, families and communities throughout NY-24 are coming together to reflect on the blessings of the season. Christmas is a time for gratitude, faith, and renewal, and a reminder of the values that bind us together: family, service, generosity, and hope. Whether gathered around the table, attending church, or spending quiet moments with loved ones, this season invites us to pause and appreciate what truly matters.

To everyone across our district, thank you for the kindness, resilience, and spirit that make our communities so special. May this Christmas bring peace to your home, joy to your heart, and comfort to those in need. Wishing you and your loved ones a blessed Christmas and a happy, healthy New Year.

Governor Announces More Than $67 Million Awarded to 57 Projects Advancing Safe Swimming Access Across New York State

- Through Two Rounds of NY SWIMS Funding, $200 Million Awarded to 57 Projects Advancing Safe Swimming Access Across New York State
- Supports Municipal and Nonprofit Aquatic Facility Improvements; View Full List of Awardees Here
- Part of Governor Hochul's 'Unplug and Play' Initiative Encouraging Families To Stay Active and Outdoors

Governor Kathy Hochul today announced more than $67 million in capital grants have been awarded to fund 21 projects across New York State through the second round of the New York Statewide Investment in More Swimming (NY SWIMS) Initiative. Administered by the Dormitory Authority of the State of New York (DASNY) and overseen by the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation, NY SWIMS provides competitive matching grants that help communities build and improve swimming facilities, giving more New Yorkers safe and modern places to swim. Through two rounds of the NY SWIMS program, New York State has awarded $200 million to support 57 projects.

“NY SWIMS has already shown how transformative safe swimming facilities can be for families and neighborhoods,” Governor Hochul said. “This next round of awards continues that progress by giving more communities the resources they need to build and improve the pools and aquatic spaces that support health, safety and year-round recreation. Through Unplug and Play, we’re creating opportunities for New Yorkers to enjoy the outdoors, stay active, and come together.”

Over $34 million is awarded to underserved communities to expand access to safe and reliable public swimming facilities in areas where options have long been limited. These projects will help address long-standing gaps in recreation infrastructure and increase opportunities for water-safety education, youth programming, and warm-weather outdoor activity.

The 21 awarded projects in the second round of NY SWIMS funding include 13 municipal applicants and eight nonprofit organizations, representing more than $87 million in total construction investment and leveraging nearly $25 million in local and philanthropic contributions. Together, these awards span eight Economic Development Regions and will help communities strengthen recreation resources, improve water safety, and create more opportunities for families to stay active.

NY SWIMS supports projects that modernize or build aquatic facilities, including swimming pools, natural swimming areas, bathhouses, mechanical systems, shade structures, lighting, and accessibility upgrades. Applications were evaluated based on community need, public benefit, planning, and readiness for implementation.

The program also advances Governor Hochul's broader Unplug and Play initiative, which invests in recreation infrastructure and encourages families to spend more time active and outdoors. These improvements will help communities stay cool during extreme heat, expand opportunities for swim instruction, and provide welcoming spaces for year-round and seasonal programming.

DASNY President & CEO Robert J. Rodriguez said, "This second round of NY SWIMS awards shows how communities across New York are stepping forward with well-planned projects that will make a real difference for families. DASNY is proud to administer this program and support municipalities and nonprofits as they move from vision to construction. These investments will create safe environments for swimming and recreation while fostering healthier, more connected communities."

New York State Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation Acting Commissioner Kathy Moser said, "Through Governor Hochul's leadership, the NY SWIMS program is investing millions of dollars to build and revitalize pools and swimming facilities across the state. This ongoing effort helps New Yorkers learn to swim and stay safe in and around the water. Swimming supports the mission of the 'Get Offline, Get Outside' and this next round of grants will restore vital community resources while expanding access to safe, affordable swim opportunities for New Yorkers of all ages."

State Senator Jose Serrano said, "The New York Statewide Investment in More Swimming (NY SWIMS) Initiative is a vital investment for municipalities and nonprofit organizations to expand access to safe swimming facilities across the state. As Chair of the Senate Committee on Cultural Affairs, Tourism, Parks and Recreation, I firmly believe NY SWIMS will build and improve swimming facilities to give New Yorkers safe and modern places to swim. Many thanks to Governor Kathy Hochul and my colleagues in government for working to maintain and expand this important initiative."

Governor Hochul Announces Results of Toll Enforcement Operations on New York State Thruway

Governor Kathy Hochul today announced that the New York State Police Troop T, in partnership with the New York State Thruway Authority, seized 170 vehicles and issued more than 1,000 tickets during four statewide enforcement details on the Thruway system that targeted drivers who persistently violated tolls, and had ghost plates and illegible or missing license plates. The details occurred this fall along the Thruway in Albany, the Hudson Valley and Syracuse. The owners of 30 vehicles that were impounded and had suspended registrations owed nearly $82,000 in unpaid tolls and fees to the Thruway Authority. The Authority has since recovered almost $38,000, representing 46 percent of the total owed, from 16 vehicle owners.

"Cracking down on persistent toll-evaders makes driving on the Thruway system fairer and more affordable for New Yorkers, all while funding critical infrastructure improvements that make our roads safer and more reliable," Governor Hochul said. "Initiatives like these get bad actors off our roads and allow us to continue making historic investments in our roads, bridges and tunnels, giving everyone a better, safer ride."

This is the second major operation on the Thruway this year, following a coordinated enforcement campaign consisting of three enforcement details that took place over the summer, resulting in State Police seizing 140 vehicles and issuing 711 tickets. The summer and fall enforcement details resulted in the Authority recovering $116,000 of the $207,000 owed (56 percent) from 37 vehicle owners.

New York State Thruway Authority Executive Director Frank G. Hoare said, "These enforcement crackdowns send a clear message to drivers who don't pay their tolls that we're not going to tolerate illegal behavior. We will continue to protect our tolling customers who follow the rules. We thank Governor Hochul and New York State Police Troop T for making this issue a top priority along with our partners who took part in this operation, including the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles."

New York State Police Superintendent Steven G. James said, "These enforcement details affirm our commitment to holding accountable those who use fake, stolen and obscured license plates. These offenders are not only breaking the law, but they are also putting other motorists at risk. I thank Governor Hochul for her sustained support and the Thruway Authority for its steadfast partnership. We also appreciate the Department of Motor Vehicles for its participation in these important enforcement efforts."

Across the country, there has been a notable increase in the use of fraudulent or "ghost" plates over the past few years to avoid cameras used to collect tolls without stopping. Additionally, some motorists also intentionally cover, obstruct and deface license plates, or use fake temporary tags, or "temp tags," to make it harder for cameras and license plate readers to identify the vehicles.

o On Tuesday, Sept. 30, State Police impounded 59 vehicles from motorists crossing the Governor Mario M. Cuomo Bridge (GMMCB), which connects Westchester and Rockland counties, 25 for toll evasion. Troopers issued 206 tickets as part of the operation, including 128 for license plate violations.

o On Thursday, Oct. 16, State Police impounded 14 vehicles from motorists on I-90 in Syracuse, 1 for toll evasion. The operation resulted in 195 tickets, including 60 for plate violations.

o On Tuesday, Oct. 28, State Police impounded 35 vehicles from motorists on I-87 in Albany, 4 for toll evasion. Troopers issued 308 tickets, including 145 for plate violations, during the operation. (Contd. Pg. 60)

Governor Hochul Announces Results of Toll Enforcement Operations on New York State Thruway

(From Pg. 59)

On Thursday, Nov. 20, State Police impounded 62 vehicles from motorists crossing the GMMCB, 17 for toll evasion. Troopers issued 329 tickets as part of the operation, including 153 for license plate violations.

Date	Location	Total Tickets Issued	Tickets for License Plate Violations	Total Vehicles Impounded	Vehicles Impounded for Toll Evasion
9.30.25	GMMCB	206	128	59	25
10.16.25	I-90 in Syracuse	195	60	14	1
10.28.25	I-87/90 in Albany	308	145	35	4
11.20.25	GMMCB	329	153	62	17
	TOTAL	1,038	486	170	47

Troopers focused on suspended registrations, many of which had been suspended for unpaid tolls or lack of insurance, which resulted in the vehicle being towed. Additionally, Troopers issued tickets for fraudulent and obstructed license plates, as well as speeding, not wearing a seatbelt, cell phone use, driving with an expired driver's license or expired registration, and other violations. The Troop T Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Unit (CVEU) also participated to enforce safety standards and regulations for trucks, buses and other commercial vehicles. In addition to violations referenced above, over the course of the four targeted campaigns, troopers also made several arrests for driving while intoxicated (DWI), drugs and warrant-related charges. During the Nov. 20 operation on the GMMCB, investigators from the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles joined with State Police to help identify non-compliant vehicles and motorists.

State Police Troop T led the operation while the Thruway Authority's Traffic Safety and Maintenance teams in all four of its Divisions assisted with traffic control.

E-ZPass and Tolls By Mail

Motorists can avoid violation fees and registration suspensions by paying their toll bills on time either through E-ZPass or Tolls By Mail.

With a New York E-ZPass, passenger and commercial vehicles receive up to a 75 percent discount on New York State Thruway Tolls (discount applies to E-ZPass NY Tag transactions only). Visit e-zpassny.com for more information or to create an account. If you don't have E-ZPass, an image of the license plate is used to send a toll bill to the vehicle's registered owner using the address on file with DMV. You can use the free Tolls NY app to manage your E-ZPass account or pay your Tolls By Mail bill.

Toll bills are mailed to the vehicle's registered owner within 30 to 40 days of travel using the address on file with the DMV. Motorists can sign up for text alerts at e-zpassny.com to be notified when their tolls are available to pay sooner. Toll bills must be paid by the due date to prevent additional fees. If unpaid, a second bill is issued with a $5 late fee. If still unpaid, the bill escalates to a violation which includes a $50 per notice fee and may be sent to collections after 30 days.

The Thruway Authority has also established an Office of the Toll Payer Advocate to assist customers who are unable to resolve toll issues relating to their Thruway travel through the E-ZPass/Tolls By Mail Customer Service Center. The Advocate helps to ensure that all toll payers receive fair and responsive treatment.

About the Thruway Authority

The Governor Thomas E. Dewey Thruway, built in the early 1950s, is one of the oldest components of the National Interstate Highway System and one of the longest toll roads in the nation. The maintenance and operation of the Thruway system is funded primarily by tolls. The Thruway Authority does not receive any dedicated federal, state or local tax dollars and is paid for by those who drive the Thruway, including one-third of drivers from out of state.

In 2024, the Thruway Authority processed more than 400 million toll transactions and motorists drove 8.2 billion miles on the Thruway. The Authority's 2026-2030 Capital Plan invests $2.8 billion into infrastructure and equipment, an increased commitment of $860 million into the system, or 45 percent since the approval of a multi-year toll adjustment plan in 2023. The increased investment will lead to work on approximately 60 percent of the Thruway's more than 2,800 pavement lane miles as well as the replacement or restoration of 18 percent of the Thruway's 819 bridges.

The Thruway is one of the safest roadways in the country with a fatality rate far below the nationwide index, and toll rates are among the lowest in the country compared to similar toll roads. The Thruway's base passenger vehicle toll rate is less than $0.05 per mile, compared to the Ohio Turnpike ($0.06 per mile), the New Jersey Turnpike (up to $0.39 per mile) and the Pennsylvania Turnpike ($0.16 per mile).

The lives of Thruway Authority employees, roadway workers and emergency personnel depend on all of those who travel the highway. Motorists should stay alert and pay attention while driving, slow down in work zones and move over when they see a vehicle on the side of the road. The State's Move Over Law, which was expanded in March 2024, requires drivers to slow down and move over for all vehicles stopped along the roadway. Safety is a shared responsibility.

For more information, follow the Thruway on Facebook, X and Instagram, or visit the Thruway website.

AN AFFAIR TO REMEMBER

1957 American Romance • 115 min

An Affair to Remember directed by Leo McCarey, astars Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr. It is considered among the most romantic films ever according to the American Film Institute.

Nickie Ferrante, a well-known playboy, meets Terry McKay aboard the transatlantic ocean liner SS Constitution en route from Europe to New York.

Their eyes meet—is it love? Each is romantically involved with someone else. As they return to New York City, they agree to meet at the top of the Empire State Building in six months' time if they have ended their relationships and started new careers. That doesn't go as planned. As Terry hurries to to reach the Empire State Building, she is struck down by a car. She is badly injured, and rushed to the hospital. Nickie, unaware of what happened, waits many hours, then leaves at midnight, believing that she has rejected him.

On Christmas Eve, Nickie pays Terry a surprise visit.
He tries get her to explain her actions, but Terry avoids answering, never leaving the couch on which she lies. As he Nickie is leaving, he mentions a painting that he completed after they first met, and that it was just given away to a woman who liked it but had no money. He is about to say that the woman was in a wheelchair when he pauses, suddenly understanding why Terry did not get up off the couch. He walks into her bedroom and sees the painting hanging on the wall, realizing that she was the woman in the wheelchair. The film ends with the two in a tight embrace as Terry says, "If you can paint, I can walk.
Anything can happen, don't you think?"

Happy New Year!
