2015 Opportunity Agenda

Restore Economic Opportunity for All Improve and Reform our Education System

Restore Confidence and Trust in the Justice System in Perception and Reality
Governor Cuomo has presented his "2015 Opportunity Agenda" designed to restore economic opportunity, reform the education system, and restore the public's confidence and trust in our justice system. This plan is a bold and comprehensive package of legislative reforms, state actions, and public investments that will increase opportunity for all New Yorkers. Components of the Agenda include:

- Cutting small business taxes from 6.5% to 2.5%
- Passing $1.7 billion in property tax relief for 1.3 million homeowners and financial relief for over one million renters
- Raising the minimum wage to $10.50 statewide and $11.50 in NYC, as part of our ten-point Anti-Poverty Opportunity Agenda
- Building a new New York with a comprehensive plan to strengthen and modernize our infrastructure, including modernizing NY's Airports, building new Metro-North stations in the Bronx and extending access to Penn Station, upgrading upstate ports and rail depots, and creating a statewide program to repair and upgrade our roads and bridges
- Ensuring statewide high-speed broadband access by 2019
- Pursuing an ambitious P-12 agenda, including professionalizing teaching; strengthening teacher evaluations; rewarding excellent teachers with performance pay; transforming the state's failing schools; expeditiously but fairly removing ineffective teachers; and expanding choice for charter schools and passing the Education Tax Credit
- Launching a $1.5 billion Upstate New York Economic Revitalization Competition
- Expanding SUNY's Sexual Assault Policy statewide to private colleges and universities
- Raising the age to change how the justice system treats youth
- Ensuring a fair and equal justice system for all New Yorkers

UC Sheriff VanBlarcum Announces Promotion of Francis X.

Ulster County Sheriff Paul J. VanBlarcum announces the promotion of Francis X. Gillespie to the rank of Detective in the Criminal Division of the Ulster County Sheriff's Office. Detective Gillespie joined the agency as Deputy Sheriff in July 2008, having graduated from Basic Police Academy in 2007.

Senator Bonacic Statement on Governor's State of the State and 2015-2016 Budget Proposal

"I applaud Governor Cuomo for presenting a balanced budget that keeps state spending growth to 1.7%. His proposal to increase aid to schools statewide by $1.1 billion, if his reforms for student improvement are implemented, is very encouraging. I will fight to ensure, as I always have, that school districts in the Hudson Valley and Catskills will get their fair share of this increase.

As I have said many times, lowering property taxes for our struggling homeowners has been my number one goal. New York has the highest property taxes in the nation and these taxes have been too high for too long. The Governor has proposed a $1.7 billion property tax "circuit breaker" as part of his Executive budget. While I support any serious proposal for property tax relief, we must ensure that long overdue tax relief is available for all struggling homeowners and small businesses.

Further, Governor Cuomo proposed reducing the tax rate for small businesses from 6.5% to 2.5%, providing them the opportunity to grow and create private sector jobs. I support this proposal because small businesses are the engine that drives our economy.

This year, New York State is the recipient of $5.4

billion in funds from bank settlements. A number of proposals have been suggested for these funds and I will work with the Governor to make sure the bulk of this money is spent on infrastructure, thus investing in New York's future. I will work tirelessly to ensure our region receives its fair share of this funding. Investment in infrastructure spurs economic develop-ment and job creation, as such it should not be a competition, rather a collaboration. No region of the state should be left out.

New York is on a far better financial path than we were just a few years ago. As part of the Senate leadership team, I look forward to working to adopt an on-time budget that addresses our State and local priorities."

The Local Food Pantry at the Grahamsville UMC is Participating in the 2015 Souper Bowl of Caring

Hi Tri Valley residents, the Local Food Pantry at the Grahamsville United Methodist Church is participating in the 2015 Souper Bowl of Caring food drive. We are passionate about caring for community members and making a positive impact on the lives of those less fortunate in our community.

25 Years ago, the Souper Bowl of Caring began with a simple prayer from a single youth group: "Lord, even as we enjoy the Super Bowl football game, help us be mindful of those without a bowl of soup to eat."

As hard as it may be to believe, the problems of hunger and poverty exist right here in the Tri Valley area. In 2014 the Local Food Pantry at the Grahamsville United Methodist Church provided assistance to as many as 50 families totaling around 150 individuals.

Everyone can participate in the Souper Bowl of Caring, everyone in the Tri Valley area can help care for our neighbors in need. The hope of the Souper Bowl of Caring is to transform Super Bowl weekend into the nation's largest celebration of giving and serving.

As you shop for the Super Bowl weekend we encourage you to consider purchasing food items for donation to your Local Food Pantry. Monetary donations can also be made. Know that one hundred percent of all donations go directly to those in need.

Tri-Valley HS Students on a Mission

Hello my name is Grace Kelly, my sister Maura and I both attend Tri-Valley High School. This March 12th through the 19th we will be embarking on a mission trip to Honduras. Honduras is the second poorest country in the Western Hemisphere. This year will be my third trip and my sister's first trip to Honduras. We will be traveling with the Honduran Mission Team of New Hampshire. This team was formed 15 years ago and our Aunt Carol Dale of New Hampshire is an active member. The Honduran Mission Team's parent organization is The Olancho Aid Foundation. This is a faith-based organization that empowers Honduran youth to transform themselves, their communities and their country through education. This organization began 20 years ago, when Rev. Richard Donahue from Boston was sent to Honduras for 3 years as the pastor of the Cathedral parish in Juticalpa. His 3 year stint turned into 20 plus years and the Olancho Aid foundation was born. Presently, the Olancho Aid Foundation operates four schools: Escuelita Nazareth, a special needs school; Centra Basico Santa Clara (primary bi-lingual), Institute Bilingue Santa Clara (middle), El Institute Cardenal Rodriguez, a Spanish-language high school. While on the trip, we will assist in medical clinics, visit schools and orphanages.

On the mission team accompanying us are medical professionals, teachers and high-school students. We are very excited to be working with such kind and generous people. We may not have a doctorate degree or a teaching degree, but we'll be more than happy to assist with medical intake, assist children with their educational lessons and most importantly play with the young children. Two years ago I had the joy of meeting a young girl named Jenny, in a medical clinic. We were both the same age and even with the language barrier we were able to create a friendship. Jenny informed me that even though she has no shoes, she walks a mile to school everyday to get an education so she can one day be a successful woman in society. I was so inspired by her story and it made me value my education even more.

We are asking that you take this journey with us by supporting us with prayers, monetary contributions or the needed supplies. This year we are focusing on school supplies, pre-natal vitamins and non-gummy children's vitamins. In the past we have only been able to give family vitamins for each child to take once a month, instead of once a day. Our goal is to have enough vitamins for the children for the entire year. Monetary contributions will be accepted as well, since this is a self funded trip. Checks can be made out to Grace or Maura Kelly. All donations can be sent to P.O. Box 482 Neversink, NY 12765. My sister and I will also be purchasing supplies for the stu-

The Wisdom of Grandfather Groundhog

February 2nd marks the midpoint of winter. According to folklore, if it is cloudy when Punxsutawney Phil, the famous groundhog, emerges from its burrow on this day, then spring will come early; if it is sunny, the groundhog will supposedly see its shadow and retreat back into its burrow, and the winter weather will persist for six more weeks.

A biology professor from Pennsylvania State University discovered another reason besides weather forecasting for a male groundhog to wake up in early February. He will shuffle over several acres of his territory and check on burrows containing females. He ducks inside each one to cuddle for the night and leaves the next morning to continue the tour.

He doesn't mate on these getting-to-know-you visits, according to the professor. At the end of his walk-around the male groundhog returns to his own burrow, curls up into a furry ball for another month of hibernation.

Groundhogs or woodchucks wake up for good in late March to mate and then lead solitary lives. In April 2-6 babies are born naked and blind after a month gestation. The litter matures by autumn and lives 4-5 years if it escapes hunters, hawks, foxes and coyotes.

Groundhogs (Marmota monax) grow to twelve pounds and two feet long. They're brownish yellow furred animals with black feet and a short tail. Their flat top skulls with eyes and ears that are set low are perfect for not exposing much of their heads to poke above ground. This rodent's incisors never stop growing and can become a fatal danger unless kept worn down with constant chewing. Although groundhogs mostly graze on grass, they can climb trees and swim to forage for greenery.

They feed at sunrise and sunset, keeping out of sight during daylight hours. Groundhogs are forever alert to danger, and will race back to their burrow as they sound a shrill alarm whistle that earns them the nickname

"whistle pig."

A groundhog digs a burrow 10-15 feet long with a front entrance, spy holes, a toilet chamber and a comfortable nest room for sleeping or a nursery.

The name woodchuck comes from the Indian legend of "Wojak, the groundhog" considered by them to be their ancestral grandfather.

In 1723, the Delaware Indians settled Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania. The Delaware considered groundhogs honorable ancestors. The name Punxsutawney comes from the Indian name for the location "ponksad-uteney" which means "the town of the sandflies."

During that same time when the German settlers arrived in Pennsylvania during the 1700s, they brought a tradition known as Candlemas Day, which had its origin in the pagan celebration of Imbolc. If the sun made an appearance on Candlemas Day, an animal would cast a shadow, thus predicting six more weeks of Winter. Germans watched a badger for the shadow, however, once in Pennsylvania, adapted the new tradition of watching a Groundhog.

According to German Folklore:

For as the sun shines on Candlemas Day, So far will the snow swirl until May. For as the snow blows on Candlemas Day, So far will the sun shine before May.

According to American Folklore If the sun shines on Groundhog Day; Half the fuel and half the hay.

What will it be? All eyes will be on the "Weather Capital of the World", Punxsutawney, PA, while waiting for the Prognosticator of Prognisticators, Punsxutawney Phil, 'Seer of Seers' to make his prediction on February 2nd.

Household Hints

Keep Car Windows Frost Free

If you park your car outdoors during the cold winter months, a smart and simple way to keep frost from forming on your windows is by wiping (or, better yet, spraying) the outsides of the windows with a solution of 3 parts white vinegar to 1 part water. Each coating may last up to several weeks although, unfortunately, it won't do much in the way of warding off a heavy snowfall.

Hangman

Mysterious Book Report No. 179

by John Dwaine McKenna Buffalo, New York is where the novels of Stephan Talty take place, and after last year's breakout hit entitled Black

Irish, his growing numbers of fans have been eagerly awaiting the next installment of his Abbie Kearney detective series. She's been called "One of the most intriguing suspense protagonists in memory," by leading crime fiction writer Tess Gerritsen, and I heartily agree.

Hangman, (Ballantine Books/Penguin Random House, $26.00, 302 pages, ISBN 978-0-345-53808-6) by Stephan Talty, pits Buffalo New York's Irish-American detective Absalom "Abbie" Kearney against a serial killer named Marcus Flynn. He's known as 'The Hangman' because he stalked teenaged girls in North Buffalo, then killed and left them dangling from a rope. Captured by police after he was cornered and shot in the head, he survived and was sent to prison . . . all before Abbie's time. Now, he's killed a prison guard and he is on the loose. It's up to Abbie to catch the monster before he can make it back to Buffalo and resume his reign of terror. Flynn however, somehow makes it into the city and resumes his murderous campaign, and proving himself to be as brilliant as he is elusive, outwitting Abbie at every turn. With the number of victims rising, the city is paralyzed with fear, but "a rising tide of secrecy, paranoia and politics forces Abbie to realize that stepping beyond the law may be the only way to find justice." Forced by the circumstances and a lack of leads due to traditional Irish secrecy, Abbie turns to the only other possible source of information: a network of retired cops who hold all the potential clues, and any chance she has of finding Marcus Flynn. Abbie has to stop the Hangman before he can kill again and at the same time . . . determine the final resting place of his last victim.

Lion Carol Furman had fun projects for us to enjoy.

Guest Speaker was Barbara Ward-Blank and Theo a German Shepherd Guiding Dog puppy being trained as a guide dog for some lucky person. Barbara was very informative on what one must do during training. "Theo" is her third puppy project. Plans are in progress to start a local training center in Liberty to encourage more people to become puppy trainers.

DEP Launches 29th Annual Water Resources Art & Poetry Contest-Nearly 700 Students Representing 68 Schools Entered Works of Art in 2014 -The Winning Submissions can be Viewed on DEP's Flickr Page

New York City Department of Environmental Protection Commissioner Emily Lloyd today announced the launch of the 29th annual Water Resources Art and Poetry Contest. Second through twelfth grade students attending public, inde-pendent, charter or parochial schools (or who are home-schooled) in New York City and in the East and West of Hudson Watersheds are invited to create original art and compose poetry that reflects an appreciation for our shared water resources. Entries will be accepted on-line until March 1, 2015 and a ceremony honoring all student participants will take place in May.

"By creating original works of art young New Yorkers are encouraged to think about the environment and express its importance to them and their communities," said DEP Commissioner Emily Lloyd. "Nearly half the State of New York relies on the City's water supply system so this is a terrific opportunity for students in New York City and watershed school systems to learn about our shared natural resources while developing their own creative vision."

Last year, nearly 700 New York City and Watershed students from 68 schools submitted either original poems or artwork about NYC water, including paintings, collages, three-dimensional models, photography, animation and videos of dance performances, public service announcements and songs. In May they were honored at an awards ceremony at the Tribeca Performing Arts Center at the Borough of Manhattan Community College where the artwork and poems were displayed. For this year's contest, teachers, parents and students can visit www.nyc.gov/dep/artandpoetry to view the contest guidelines and resource materials, submit entries online, see past winners, and learn more about New York City water.

DEP's Water Resources Art and Poetry program helps raise awareness about the importance of clean, high-quality drinking water, and what it takes to maintain New York City's water supply and wastewater treatment systems. The 2015 contest will focus on four central themes that incorporate STEM disciplines:

 Water, A Precious Resource: To highlight the importance of the quality of our tap and harbor

 The New York City Water Supply System: To understand the history of the NYC drinking water system and watershed protection.

• The New York City Wastewater Treatment System: To examine how the City cleans nearly 1.3 billion gallons of wastewater every day.

 Climate Change and Water Stewardship: To bring attention to our changing climate and the importance of understanding the effects on our water resources.

Entries will be judged based on creativity in interpreting one or more of the contest themes, accuracy of information, originality, and skill. An impartial panel of judges will review the entries and select one art and one poetry winner from each category (grades 2-3, 4-6, 7-8, and 9-12). DEP manages New York City's water supply, providing more than one billion gallons of water each day to more than nine million residents, including eight million in New York City. The water is delivered from a watershed that extends more than 125 miles from the city, comprising 19 reservoirs and three controlled lakes. Approximately 7,000 miles of water mains, tunnels and aqueducts bring water to homes and businesses throughout the five boroughs, and 7,500 miles of sewer lines and 96 pump stations take wastewater to 14 in-city treatment plants. In addition, DEP has a robust capital program, with nearly $14 billion in investments planned over the next 10 years that will create up to 3,000 constructionrelated jobs per year. This capital program is responsible for critical projects like City Water Tunnel No. 3; the Staten Island Bluebelt program, an ecologically sound and cost-effective stormwater management system; the city's Watershed Protection Program, which protects sensitive lands upstate near the city's reservoirs in order to

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Honoring Those Who Served

George Bernard Shaw: "I am of the opinion that my life belongs to the community. And as long as I live, it is my privilege to do for it whatever I can. I want to be thoroughly used up when I die, for the harder I work, the more I live. Life is no brief candle to me; it is a sort of splendid torch, which I have got hold of for a short moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible before handing it on to the future generations."

This week has been a cold, hard one with friends hunkered in afraid of falling on the ice or skidding into car accidents. What made it harsher were the deaths of five people I know. No matter what the weather brings this weekend, people in Olive will be braving the elements to say farewell to Pat La Gorga, John Pease, and Helen Jeffs. Pat was a close friend, Helen and John were acquaintances, but we in Olive have a common connection to all three. All three were people who dedicated themselves to the Olive Community.

Pat La Gorga was a Democratic Committeeman for decades. She was the one who trudged from business to business, person to person for donations for Olive Day. She was the one licking stamps, addressing envelopes, serving refreshments, and making phone calls for local events. She was the one who attended boring conventions and carried petitions. She did worked full time for the DEP and gave an equal amount of time to the ARC, the school, her neighbors and the town.

John Pease, a Marine Veteran, was an EMT who volunteered with the Olive Ambulance First Aid Squad. Helen Jeffs came to every Town Board Meeting as a self-appointed guardian of the people. Her questions and concerns kept our elected officials on their toes. I can picture her marching in the Memorial Day Parade in her colonial dress walking her cute little white dog also decked out in a red, white, and blue outfit.

These were people who were mothers and fathers and neighbors and friends, but on a larger scale, they were the people who worked to make our town a better place. They leave gaps to be filled by those they inspired along the way. We mourn and honor them.

Calvin Coolidge once said, "No person was ever honored for what he received. Honor has been the reward for which he (she) gave." Thank you, Pat, John, and Helen for what you have given to us in Olive.

Pine Hill Community Center Events

The signboard in front of the Center lists three wonderful events that took place in December. Notification frozen in time, because changing the lettering with ungloved hands during this arctic chill is just too daunting (signboard volunteers always welcome, by the way), but we have great plans afoot for the coming months, including more square dancing and a new, monthly open mic.

Our office hours are: Wednesday - Saturday, 10 -5, but all regularly scheduled programs take place as announced. There's always coffee and a welcome. Drop by for a visit - this is your community center - celebrating what we have, responding to what we need.

Our Arts and Crafts shop features work by fine local crafts people, and our Unexpected Treasures Thrift Shop stocks lots of irrisistable goodies at rock bottom prices.

Asemblymember Cahill Reminds Area Students to Apply for Financial Assistance

Kingston, NY - Assemblymember Kevin Cahill (D - Ulster, Dutchess) would like to remind undergraduates, graduate scholars and parents that they may now begin applying for Federal and New York State Aid to help fund his or her education. By filling out one simple Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) form students become eligible for thousands of dollars in loans and scholarships from multiple locations. With tuition continuously rising, it becomes increasingly important to utilize resources like Higher Education Service Corporation (HESC) in order to explore the many financial aid and assistance options that are currently available.

"Accessible and affordable public higher education is our surest path to economic success," Cahill said. "As tuition hikes put an ever increasing financial load on students, this funding will help them cover expenses and reduce the burden of outof-pocket costs."

The FAFSA application allows students and parents to apply for financial aid through the Federal Government and is distributed based on need. In addition, upon completion of the Federal form, undergraduates may also apply for TAP, New York State's Tuition Assistance Program. The income and tax information you are required to submit can be found on your W-2, and should be mailed out by January 31st.

"If you think that you can't afford a college education because tuition is too high, Federal and State assistance may put higher education within your reach," said Cahill. "I urge everyone considering college to get the facts and complete the application."

You may begin filling out the FAFSA now at http://www.fafsa.ed.gov/ and the TAP document at www.tap.hesc.ny.gov/totw/home.do. HESC has introduced and sponsored a website, StartHereGetThere.org that provides helpful information and directions on how to apply for FAFSA and TAP. The site also offers a resource that displays a calendar of in-person informational sessions that will take place around the state. If you need assistance filling out these forms, or have any other questions about Federal Student Aid please contact your local high school guidance office. We are also here to help at 845-338-9610 or 1 Albany Avenue Suite G-4, Kingston.

of their leases. No additional services were provided for the payment of this fee.

"Any New York business that utilizes abusive practices to deceive consumers or create an unfair marketplace will be held accountable," Attorney General Schneiderman said. "In this case, Middletown Honda will be expected to pay back every victim of its fraud, with interest. I encourage all others who were possibly overcharged by this auto dealer to contact my office and claim their refund."

From 2011 to 2014, Middletown Honda, located at 520 Route 211 in East Middletown, entered into leases with customers where a price was set at which the customer could buy the vehicle at the end of the lease. However, when the leases expired and those customers decide to purchase their vehicles, Middletown Honda added $500 to the price of the vehicle without disclosing they had done so.

The Attorney General's investigation revealed that Middletown Honda had done this repeatedly, and 174 consumers were identified who are entitled to a refund of the $500, with interest from the date of their purchase. Pursuant to the settlement, Middletown Honda will repay a total of $87,000 to 174 customers who were charged the bogus processing fee. The dealership has also promised to reform its practices and pay $48,000 in penalties to the State. In addition, if any other consumer files a complaint with the Attorney General's office and also paid the bogus fee, they will be entitled to the same restitution. The case was handled by Assistant Attorney General Nick Garin, with the assistance of Senior Consumer Frauds Representative Stephanie Brideau and Law Department Investigator, Adrienne DeGaetano, under the supervision of Vincent Bradley, Assistant Attorney General-in-Charge of the Poughkeepsie Regional Office and Martin J. Mack, Executive Deputy Attorney General for the Regional Offices.

Benjamin Cosor Elementary School Honors Students

At a special assembly in the school auditorium on January 14, seventy-nine Benjamin Cosor Elementary School students earned Shining Star and Outstanding Student Awards for academic achievement in kindergarten through second grade. More than one hundred parents and family members were on hand to cheer their children as they received certificates from Assistant Principal David Viglione.

Superintendent Dr. Ivan Katz welcomed everyone and acknowledged the families for their support and encouragement of the students. Also Dr. Katz thanked the Advisory Council that was formed at the beginning of the current school year for its work in organizing a successful Community Forum in early December. Each parent received a flyer with a description of the Council's activities over the past few months.

The highlight of the day was the proud faces on the children as they received their awards, smiled for the photographers, and received school supplies from the school faculty. It was a wonderful way to end the school day for the entire school family.

Frost Valley YMCA honored severend Martin Luther King, Jr.

Frost Valley YMCA honored Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. on January 16-19 by offering a weekend to connect with family and put into practice some of the same values shared in King's teachings.

As always, the weekend was filled with fun programs, such as snow tubing, yoga, ice fishing, and family crafts, but Frost Valley also incorporates meaningful, lifelong lessons - both subtle and outright - in each activity.

For starters, inclusiveness and caring for others are highly encouraged throughout the Valley. Both kids and parents are given the opportunity to try new, sometimes challenging activities that they may need extra encouragement to try - an uphill hike can seem overwhelming to some. But in the spirit of inclusiveness, Frost Valley's supportive environment encourages participation and allows others to overcome their fear.

Frost Valley sees families who visit from not just New York, but from a wide variety of locations. As families meet and mingle around the fireplace, in the dining hall, or during an activity, a greater respect is gained for cultural awareness and diversity. The more families learn about each other, the more they learn about themselves.

While global awareness is important, Frost Valley also places an emphasis on including the local community. Those in the surrounding area should mark their calendars for Spring Break Day Camp from March 30-April 3. Campers ages four through 15 can enjoy four funfilled days of hiking, sports, games, arts and crafts, climbing, and trips to a local swimming pool. Campers will also get to visit Frost Valley's Educational Farm to meet and learn about animals (Frost Valley expects plenty of baby animals to be newly born), visit a maple sugaring house to taste fresh-made syrup, try candle making, and much more.

Richard and Audrey Strangeway contributed greatly to the NY FFA through years of service!

NASHVILLE, Tenn. Richard Strangeway, of Cary, N.C., is one of only six individuals nationwide who was selected for the 2014 National Association of Agricultural Educators Lifetime Achievement Award. He was recognized for his many contributions to the profession of agricultural education at the NAAE annual convention in Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 18-22.

During the course of Strangeway's long career in agricultural education, he has done a tremendous amount to improve and support the profession. He began the Tri-Valley FFA program by working in one room schoolhouses around the Grahamsville area in New York and promoting agricultural production and mechanics to boys. Then, in 1951, he opened the 82nd agricultural program in the state of New York in Grahamsville. He taught there for 28 years, until his retirement in 1979.

Strangeway's love for and dedication to agricultural education didn't end with his retirement. He served as the New York State FFA Advisor for 10 years. He also volunteered with FFA, coaching parliamentary procedure competition teams, 25 of which competed at the national level, and served as the New York State FFA Career Development Event Coordinator from 1959 until 2012. Strangeway still supports the Tri-Valley agriculture program by awarding a student in the chapter the Richard Strangeway award each year for overcoming obstacles to achieve

Fallsburg Lions Club Brings SEE Program

to Cosor Elementary School
For the past seven years, the Town of Fallsburg Lions Club has been performing testing for six different eye disorders with the incoming children at Sullivan County Head Start. Known nationally as the SEE Program or Screening Eyes Early, International Lions Club has offered this quality of life changing service throughout the world. With parent's consent, children under six years of age receive free vision testing and a digital readout for near and far-sighted-ness, astigmatism, unequal refractive power, childhood cataracts, and amblyopia or lazy eye syndrome. When discovered before age six, many of these disorders are easily correctible.

In recent months the Fallsburg Lions Club President Patricia Behan approached Fallsburg Superintendent of Schools and Fellow Lion Dr. Ivan Katz about extending the screening service to Fallsburg's Benjamin Cosor Elementary School in their pre-K and kindergarten classes. After consultation with Principal Mary Kate Stinehour and School Nurse Merrian Hobby, the school District obtained consent forms from thirty-five parents to have their children screened on January 14.

The all-day testing began at 9:30 AM and ended at 2:30 PM. The Lions Team included Loretta Speckhardt, Bob Longo, Stephen Miller, Larry Schafman, Ilene and Stuart Wizwer. Digital readings are forwarded to the Ira G. Ross Eye Institute in Buffalo. Results for referrals will go directly to the parents.

The intention for this program is to provide parent consent forms to the school staff during registration for pre-K and kindergarten classes during the summer so screenings can occur every September or October. If you would like to learn more about this special SEE Program and other Lions Club activities, please contact Stuart Wizwer at (845) 434-2152.

SUNY Sullivan to Host Events for V-Day Season

For the past 4 years, SUNY Sullivan has hosted several events for the V-Day Season which runs from February 14 through April 30, and this year is no exception. We are very excited about this season's line-up and are anxious to get started, especially since PWSC's Committee for Empowering Women is helping with the event. Please keep in mind that all proceeds are donated to RISE (Rape Intervention Services and Education).

Take a look at this year's schedule of events:

Thursday, February 19 at 7:00 pm in Seelig Theater

Until the Violence Stops, a 2003 documentary film directed by Abby Epstein. The film follows events marking 2002 V-Day - a grassroots movement inspired by Eve Ensler's 1996 play The Vagina Monologues. The film focuses on V-Day activities in the United States, Kenya, Croatia, and the Philippines. Admission is free and refreshments will be served afterward.

Thursday, February 26 at 7:00 pm and Friday, February 27 at 8:00 pm in Seelig Theater

The Vagina Monologues (TVM), "An Obie Award-winning whirlwind tour of a forbidden zone. The Vagina Monologues introduces a wildly divergent gathering of female voices, including a six-year-old girl, a septuagenarian New Yorker, a vagina workshop participant, a woman who witnesses the birth of her granddaughter, a Bosnian survivor of rape, and a feminist happy to have found a man who 'liked to look at it'." Admission for students with valid ID is free; for all others it's $5.00.

Thursday, April 2 at 7:00 pm in Seelig Theater

The Good Body (TGB), "With The Good Body, Eve Ensler, author of The Vagina Monologues, turns her unique eye to the rest of the female form. Whether undergoing botox injections or living beneath burgas, women of all cultures and backgrounds feel compelled to change the way they look in order to fit in. The Good Body merges cross-cultural explorations with Eve's own personal journey coming to terms with her 'less-than-flat, post-forties stomach'." "Passionate, funny, frank, revealing, even shocking, and genuinely committed to improving life on this planet." -San Francisco Chronicle. Admission for students with valid ID is free; for all others it's $5.00.

At this time, we are looking for students, faculty, staff, and community members to assist with the events. An initial informational meeting will be held on Wednesday, January 28 at 6:00 pm in Seelig Theater. During this meeting, audition dates will be set and other tasks will be assigned. In addition to needing performers for TVM and TGB, we also need people to design posters, help with stage props, provide baked goods, help with costumes and music selections, etc. Last but not least, we are looking for dancers . . . that's right, DANCERS. As you can see, there is something for everyone.

Special Note: TVM performers must be available for practices. Early rehearsals will be scheduled after auditions are held, but everyone must attend rehearsals on the following dates: Wednesday 2/18, Tuesday 2/24, and Wednesday 2/25 from 6:00-9:00.

NACL Theatre gives House Performance in Callicoon

NY--Tannis Highland Lake, Kowalchuk performs the role of Anne Hathaway in a lively song-filled solo performance about the life of Anne Hathaway, the wife of William Shakespeare. The play begins on the afternoon of Shakespeare's funeral. Anne knows she must read her husband's will, but before she does, the widow relives her life as mother, wife, and woman in 17th century Stratford-Upon-Avon. Basing the narrative upon the little information known about the Bard's wife, award-winning Canadian playwright, Vern Thiessen has written a sensitive and humorous text in verse, taking great delight imagining and inventing the robust, earthy, and intelligent character of Anne Hathaway. Kowalchuk moves from character to character and from decade to decade in an hour-long performance using song, inventive use of simple props and humorous story telling. Directed by Mimi McGurl with music by Kurt Knuth and costumes by Karen Flood. production NACL Shakespeare's Will has been performed at NACL Theatre, the Tusten Theatre in Narrowsburg, NY, Pontine Theatre in Portsmouth NH, the Cooperage in Honesdale, PA, and Spring Island, South Carolina REVIEWS

Tannis Kowalchuk breathes rich, layered life into the character, who is funny, wise and burdened, as she regales the audience with her experience being married to the world's most famous playwright. Mimi McGurl's direction is flawless, and music and sound designer Kurt Knuth's contribution more than noteworthy. The entire production is enhanced with a great use of the space, props, costumes and lighting (provided by the multitalented Zoot) and Kowalchuk's performance a tour de force.

-Jonathan Fox, THE RIVER REPORTER

Throwing sentimentality, reverence, and historical accuracy out the window, Thiessen imbues his script with humour and a brand of theatricality that is equally apparent on the page as on stage. Embracing a refreshing audacity that pushes presumption aside, he presents an alternative perspective on Shakespeare that's an intelligent and generous vehicle for actors hardy enough to drive it.

'Figuratively Speaking" at Alliance Gallery Group Show

Alliance Gallery kicks off the 2015 gallery season with a group exhibition of 13 artworks depicting the individual human form titled "Figuratively Speaking." The exhibit opens on Saturday, February 7, with a reception from 2 - 4 p.m., and will be on view through March 14.

The human figure is one of the most enduring themes in the visual arts. It has been a principal subject of Western art since the Renaissance, as artists look outward at others, or back at themselves for self-portraits. Contemporary artists continue to draw inspiration from the human body as a way to explore human emotions, physicality, relationships, and indeed the human soul. Figural art is an integral part of mankind's ongoing reflection on who we are.

This show covers an eclectic use of the figure as its subject matter, as well as an assortment of mediums to create the work" states gallery director Rocky Pinciotti, who also curated the show. "The thread running through the show is the human body, but it is a very loose thread."

The exhibit is comprised of traditional representations of the body, such as Johan Sellenraad's oil painting of a reclining nude, as well as non-traditional works, such as Art Murphy's photographic pairing of a 400-millionyear-old fossil and a glove display hand. There are beautifully drawn portraits, as well as referential photographs, collages, and sculptures.

'Scale is also an important element in this show," explained Pinciotti. There is a small sketchbook titled "Riders on the A Train" by Dale Emmart, as well as a 32" x 32" x 80" tall sculpture titled "Three Buddhas" by Nancy Lew Lee.

The exhibition, which Pinciotti curates from applicants for solo exhibitions, showcases many artists new to the Alliance Gallery, including Barbara Listenik, Hanna Marritz, June Moss, Art Murphy, Matt Nolen, and Paul Plumadore. Other artists in the exhibition include Theresa DeSalvo, Dale Emmart, David Lenthall, Nancy Lew Lee, Allan Rubin, Carmine

Alliance Gallery is located at the Delaware Arts Center at 37 Main Street, Narrowsburg, NY, and is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 11

The opening reception for "Figuratively Speaking" will take place at the Delaware Arts Center on Saturday, February 7 from 2 to 4 p.m. For more information call 845-252-7576 or visit delawarevalleyartsalliance.org.

Reps. Gibson, Sinema reintro-Testing Tax Cuts duce Student Improvement

& Accountability Act WASHINGTON -Congressman Chris Gibson (NY-19) and Congresswoman Kyrsten Sinema (AZ-9) announced the reintroduction of the Student Testing Improvement & Accountability Act, which empowers state and local school systems by reducing the frequency of federally-mandated assessments in U.S. schools.

The bipartisan legislation was introduced today, January 21.

"My constituents have overwhelmingly expressed their concerns with the recent shift in education policy from a focus on teaching to a focus on testing," said Congressman Gibson. "Parents and educators across Upstate New York know that maintaining this approach will continue to hamstring our teachers and stu-dents."

"My experience as a social worker in Arizona schools for nearly a decade taught me the importance of empowering teachers and parents," Congresswoman Sinema. "Teachers should focus on to the content they want their students to master-not simply material for an upcoming standardized test."

The Student Testing Improvement & Accountability Act replaces current annual testing requirements for math and language arts with the exact same grade-span testing requirements in current law for science classes.

This returns federal testing requirements to the once-per-grade-span standards established before 2001, when math and reading assessments were typically conducted once in grades 3-5, once in grades 6-9, and once in grades 10-12. Under the law, states would retain the ability to exceed federal testing requirements if they seek to do so.

The National Education Association (NEA), which represents 3 million educators across the country, announced its support for the bill.

The over-emphasis on standardized testing has caused considerable collateral damage in too many schools, including narrowing the curriculum, teaching to the test, reducing love of learning, pushing students out of school and driving teachers out of the profession," said NEA President Lily Eskelsen Garcia. "This bill by Rep. Gibson and Rep. Sinema would help put a stop to these negative consequences and help ensure that all students succeed."

The Student Testing Improvement & Accountability Act was first introduced last year, during the 113th Congress.

Cahill Assemblyman Comments on 2015 State of the State and Budget Presentation

Albany, NY - Assemblymember Kevin Cahill (D-Ulster, Dutchess) released the following statement regarding Governor Cuomo's 2015 State of the State and budget address:

'Today, Governor Cuomo offered an unprecedented combined presentation of the State of the State and Executive Budget that shared the sense and some of the details of his priorities for 2015. I am pleased that many of the issues he discussed have long been championed by my colleagues and me in the Assembly. I look forward to working with the Governor to provide equity in education, real property tax reform, changes to our juvenile justice system, modernizing our crumbling infrastructure and assuring fair rights for all New Yorkers.'

"While I do not agree with everything that the Governor has advanced - one example being my belief that the $5.4 billion windfall in court settlements should be invested in long-lasting, infrastructural improvements and not used to supplement annual costs - I do share the Governor's vision of a modern New York where opportunity abounds and is available

The Governor has continued his position regarding property taxes. His new proposal builds on the tax-cap rebate program by allocating $1.7 billion to increase incentives for municipalities and school districts to hold the line on local property taxes.

"While I have no doubt that this proposal will bring some relief to some New Yorkers, it is unfortunate that this measure is tied to tax-cap legislation," said Assemblyman Cahill. "A property tax-cap without other relief is not a solution. We must do more now to provide our local governments with the tools they need to lower their operating costs and to consolidate so that these savings can be realized over the long-term. Education

The Governor praised the success of the statewide full pre-kindergarten program and proposed designating over $1 billion more to the state's education budget. He also outlined more precise plans for the allocation of the $2 billion in bonds for the purposes of technological upgrades to public schools that was approved by voters on the November 2014 ballot.

We must look to solutions that will responsibly fund our education system in a way that is sustainable over the long-term, and does not overburden local taxpayers," noted Cahill. "Unfortunately, the Governor is looking to one-shot revenues to bolster pre-K and education funding. This approach will not bring relief or provide solutions for operational costs of school districts nor will it provide our academic institutions with a strong foundation to make the delivery of education more cost-efficient. A better solution is to implement my Equity in Education and 21st Century schools legislation. Surplus/Settlement Money Entering the new calendar year, New York State has over $5 billion in funds as a result of settlement money collected by our Attorney General's Office in 2014. The Governor has suggested that large portions of this sum be used to supplement our education budget and for costs that should be funded from the budget in chief.

"While these proposals are worthy of our attention, this windfall is a unique opportunity to finally begin addressing our crumbling transportation infrastructure," added Cahill. "That is why it is imperative that we choose to wisely invest the bulk of these assets towards the repair and maintenance of our state's physical framework.'

Juvenile Justice Reform

"Our criminal justice system is long overdue for modernization. The emphasis by the Governor to allow access to programs and services tailored to support rehabilitation for all youth under 18 years of age is a step in the right direction. Twenty-five years ago we saw the tripling of our prison population, without making New Yorkers any safer, but at great expense. A focus on effective criminal justice policies will do just that - make us safer, shrink our prisons and save money. Our first priority is the safety of every New Yorker. We must also begin to weight the consequences of the criminalization of an entire generation of young people before they have even reached adulthood. I welcome these reforms."

The Governor has once again committed to passing the full Women's Equality Act. Women should not have to wait another year for rights that should have been afforded them long ago. "I share this impatience with the failure of the State Senate to take up the full measure," noted Cahill. The Assembly has consistently passed this legislation numerous times, which contains all ten enumerated reforms, bringing fairness to women in New York, including women's health and reproductive rights, equal pay, stronger penalties for human trafficking, and increased protections for victims of domestic violence.

"This is one of the most important measures proposed in a very long time,' said Assemblyman Cahill. "I am proud that the Assembly that has never compromised women's rights and it is good to hear that the Governor continues his support of a full package." Conclusion

"Now that the Governor has set the tone for his 2015 agenda, we turn our focus toward creating a timely, responsible budget that restores important programs while relieving some of the burden on the working people of our state. It is essential that we promptly fix our infrastructure, improve education, bring an immediate increase to the minimum wage and pass the entire Women's Equality Agenda. I look forward to joining my colleagues to forge solutions to the many challenges we face," concluded Assemblymember Cahill.

Senator Bonacic Announces Passage Senate Investment Education Tax Credit

New York State Senator John J. Bonacic (R/C/I - Mt. Hope) announced that the Education Investment Tax Credit (S.1976) passed the New York State Senate. This legislation would provide incentives in the form of tax credit for donations to public education entities, school improvement organizations, local education funds, and educational scholarship organizations.

"As a Co-Sponsor of the Education Investment Tax Credit, I will be fighting to see this legislation included in the Budget to send a strong signal that in New York, every student deserves access to a first-class education and the limitless opportunities that come with it," said Senator Bonacic. "And rather than being forced to simply lower their expectations, parents whose children are trapped in failing schools should have real options when it comes to furthering their child's education and securing their future.'

Keystone Debate Gillibrand Continues, Introduces Amendments to Protect Clean Water, Hold Oil & Gas Companies Accountable-Gillibrand Introduces Three Amendments to Protect Clean Water, Close Halliburton Loophole; Senator Reiterates Opposition to Pipeline But Says Bill Must Include Critical Public Health & Safety Protections

Washington, D.C. - U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand today announced three new amendments to the Keystone XL Pipeline Act that would protect clean drinking water and hold oil and gas companies accountable for spills. Speaking on the floor of the Senate, Senator Gillibrand reiterated her opposition to the Pipeline project but said the bill must be made better for Americans.

"This project has many risks and few advantages, and I will be voting against it, but if this legislation does pass in the Senate, we should at least try to make it a better bill," said Senator Gillibrand. "There is no excuse why we can't turn the Keystone XL Pipeline Act into an opportunity to protect our clean drinking water, and ensure that polluters have to

"This amendment says simply to Big Oil: If you break it, you buy it," said Senator Robert Menendez, who jointly filed Amendment 65 along with Senator Gillibrand. "The best way to prevent oil spills is to make sure oil companies like pay to clean up their own messes."

TransCanada pay for all of the damages oil spills cause. If you hurt small businesses or communities, you fix them. If you hurt someone, you make it right. If you pollute, you pay. This amendment removes the cap on big oil companies' liabilities, helping to make sure those companies do the right thing by the American people should accidents happen."

The three amendments include: Amendment 48, to remove the Halliburton loophole from the Safe Drinking Water Act, and finally require gas storage and gas drilling companies to comply with the clean water laws of the United States. Every other energy industry already has to comply with the Safe Drinking Water Act, and this amendment would finally hold the gas industry to the same environmental and public health standards as everyone else.

Amendment 65, introduced with Senator Menendez, to make oil companies financially responsible for the damages they cause when they spill oil onto our land and into our waterways. The current cap on liability is only $350 million dollars, including cleanup and compensation; this amendment would lift the burden from taxpayers and remove the arbitrary limit on what companies can pay.

Amendment 76, to allow homeowners and business owners whose property has been damaged by a natural disaster to use their federal disaster assistance funds to upgrade their property's energy efficiency. Currently, disaster assistance can only be used to replace what was lost, even if the property was not up to current standards. This amendment would let property owners not only protect against the next disaster, but also save energy, reduce emissions, and lower their costs.

Statement from A.G. Schneiderman on the State of the State Address

ALBANY -- Attorney General Eric T. Schneiderman today issued the following statement regarding Governor Andrew M. Cuomo's State of the State address:

"This is an exciting moment of opportunity for our state. By working together, we can restore confidence in the fairness of our criminal justice system while making all New Yorkers safer, rein in the corrupting influence of money in politics, invest in our infrastructure to create jobs, and make sure that all New Yorkers get a fair shot by raising wages for the lowest-paid workers and expanding opportunities for immigrants to pursue higher education. In today's State of the State speech, Governor Cuomo laid out important steps to achieve many of these goals. I look forward to working with the governor and all of our state's leaders to make New York safer and stronger for all our communi-

Schneiderman on the State of the Union Address

NEW YORK - Attorney General Eric T. Schneiderman today issued the following statement regarding President Barack Obama's State of the Union address.

"I applaud President Obama's remarks tonight, which laid out an innovative agenda to serve the American people in the face of Congressional gridlock. The President's proposals to reform our broken immigration system, make community college more affordable, and cut taxes for middle- and low-income families are motivated by the painful reality that far too many Americans face staggering inequalities in their communities. As we work to improve our society, we must also remain vigilant about the threats, seen and unseen, that we face every single day. There is a pressing need for a comprehensive overhaul of our country's cybersecurity protocols, which is why I have proposed legislation in New York State that will help companies better safeguard against dangerous data breaches and strengthen protections for consumers. I look forward to working in New York with state and federal officials to promote the President's agenda of equality, opportunity, and safety for all.

Gillibrand Applauds President
Obama for Focusing on Economic Opportunity, Growing the Middle Class in the State of the Union Address
Washington, D.C. - U.S. Senator Kirsten
Gillibrand issued the following statement tonight after President Obama delivered his
State of the Union Address:

"Tonight President Obama presented a plan to ensure a fair shot at the American dream for anyone willing to earn it. As I travel throughout the state, New Yorkers tell me they are still struggling even as the economy begins to show signs of recovery. They want action from Congress to ease the burden of the basic costs of living so they can provide for their families, afford to send their kids to college, work good paying jobs, and retire with dignity. Now, Congress must do its part to work together, Democrats and Republicans, to expand economic opportunity for hard working families.

"I had hoped the President would use this opportunity to demand that we also make college campuses safe. Last week I personally urged the President to shine a national spotlight on the need to flip the incentives that currently reward colleges for sweeping sexual assaults under the rug. I was honored to have Emma Sulkowicz as my guest tonight who represents the grassroots movement of young women holding Congress and the system accountable. I will continue to fight to pass the Campus Accountability and Safety Act, a bipartisan bill that will finally force colleges and universities across the country to face this problem head-on with the goal of making safe campuses for America's students a reality.

"The President's goals for an expanded middle class, a fairer tax system and a better shot for hardworking families should rise above political party, and I am hopeful Congress will use his ideas as a starting point for real action."

Knarf's "Classic Movie Trivia The Lion in Winter - (Drama 1968 PG)

Set during Christmas 1183 at Henry II of England's castle in Chinon, Anjou, Angevin Empire, As Henry waits for the arrival of his wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine, whom he had imprisoned for ten years to join him for a Christmas Court that he had called at the castle to determine which of their three surviving sons, the impetu-ous Richard, the conniving Geoffrey, or the clumsy and insecure John, will be named successor to the crown,

Also present are Henry's mistress, Princess Alais, who has been promised as wife to the new heir, and her 18year-old brother, Philip, the king of France. Henry chooses John as successor, but Eleanor, fully aware that Henry holds all three sons in low esteem, proclaims that the throne rightfully belongs to Richard. Almost immediately, the main characters plot to attain their own selfish desires, Eleanor offers to yield Aquitaine if Richard is named heir; Geoffrey, neglected by both parents, conspires with John and Philip to rob Richard of the throne; and Henry confesses to Alais that he intends to get his way without giving her up.

Peter O'toole and Katherine Heburn are powerful in their roles and there is some great acting going on! The cast will bring you into the film as you experience the love/hate relationships between the family members as they vie for power.

Based on the Broadway play by James Goldman., "The Lion in Winter" was directed by Anthony Harvey and produced by Joseph E. Levine and Martin Poll from Goldman's adaptation of his own play, The Lion in Winter. The film was a commercial success (the 12th highest grossing film of 1968) and won three Academy Awards, including one for Hepburn as Best Actress.

- What other actress was awarded the Oscar for Best Actress, besides Hepburn for "The Lion In Winter" in 1968?
- What actor made his big screen-debut as Richard the Lionhearted, in "The Lion of Winter"
