BCES SGA Offers Gifts to Pre-K Classes

For many years just before Christmas Holiday, Fallsburg's Benjamin Cosor Elementary (BCES) has been providing gifts to children in the Pre-K classrooms. The Student Government Association (SGA) under the guidance of advisor Mr. Peter Dworetzky have the happy task of wrapping and presenting the gifts to the happy youngsters. He told the children why they were there and emphasized the importance of giving and being generous.

Pre-K teachers Ms. Mindy Conciatori and Ms. Amy Saravia and their staffs greeted the SGA student elves and you can tell from the attached photos that the children were excited to see what was inside the packages. It is a great tradition to begin celebrating the spirit of the holiday season.

Cpl. Jared Moore Visits FCSD for Christmas

Immediately upon graduating from Fallsburg High School in 2019, Jared Moore enlisted in the US Marine Corps for a five year contract. Earlier that same school year, his older brother Zach visited their little sister Chloe Jordy, who was in kindergarten. He was dressed in his US Army fatigues and was a big hit with the young children.

On the afternoon of December 21, 2022, Cpl. Jared Moore reprised the family visit to the two sections of Pre-K classrooms and the fifth grade classroom of sister Chloe. He was wearing a Marine Corps camouflage uniform. The younger children were studying about veterans and how they serve the country so they were eager to meet Cpl. Moore. He was accompanied to all the rooms with his very happy mom, Ms. Helen Jordy, a long-time teacher assistant at BCES. (Contd. Pg. 20)

The Delicate Winter Evergreen Forest

Not only did we enjoy warm weather as we walked the dog in the backyard the past few days, but we also enjoyed all the vivid 'green' that is still scattered through the forest - not just the evergreen trees -but all the mosses and ferns that remain 'summer green'.

Some mosses not only survive and grow in winter weather, but actually thrive. An amazing botanical characteristic to these magical mosses is the "antifreeze" that is produced to allow them withstand cold conditions.

Research suggests that moss has antifreeze properties! Ice crystals can rupture cell walls eventually causing the cell in the animal or plant to die. Some scientists believe mosses contain a combination of sugars and sugar alcohols that become more concentrated in the fall and winter and stop the ice crystals from developing, much like how antifreeze regulates temperature in a car. There is some speculation about whether the moss itself has the antifreeze property or whether it's secreted by bacteria living on the surface of the moss; either way, the result is that the sugar alcohols melt the snow around it.

We observed round mosses growing on trees, light green lichen growing on rocks, and other mosses growing in damp places near the stream.

There were also several species of wood fern -most noted was the Christmas fern that remains a shining, forest green.

While most ferns are the color of caramel or have faded to pale yellow, thanks to cold temperatures or frost, evergreen wood fern stands out in vibrant green. Look for it in damp areas with rocks, or at the base of a tree. Evergreen wood fern's leaves, or fronds, usually grow 1-3 feet long. They come up in a circle from an underground rhizome (underground stem).

How do these fern stay green when most other vegetation is dying back or losing its leaves? When the snows of winter arrive, the fronds, still green, flatten to the ground. It turns out they have a special hinge that becomes flexible with moisture in the autumn, allowing the fronds to "relax" onto the ground on top of the autumn leaf layer.

But that's not all. This fern, like other evergreen plants, also produces substances that act as antifreeze. As the days shorten and temperatures cool, evergreen wood fern is prompted to move sugars into its leaves, as other evergreen plants do, instead of storing them all below ground in roots or rhizomes, as plants that lose their leaves do. The concentration of sugars in the leaves acts as a kind of antifreeze that protects the leaves from freezing when temperatures are 5-10 degrees below freezing.

You will recognize the Christmas fern - each little leaflet resembles a Christmas stocking! Could that be coincidental??

Nature has provided us with many clues to the complex functioning of our natural systems that maintain planetary life in all its complexities. See it for your self. Whether it is a nice day or a day that calls for three layers of winter clothing, if you get a chance to take a walk in the winter woods, experience the amazing ways in which even the most delicate of life -tiny moss or fragile fern -manages to survive even the bitter cold of winter.

Hudson's Kill

Mysterious Book Report No. 389

by John Dwaine McKenna

Although they're few and far between . . . "Rare as hen's teeth," as my old Irish mother used to say . . . some authors show early on in their careers that they are on the way to literary greatness, and destined to leave a wordsmith's mark on the world. Writer Paddy Hirsch is such a one. And now, less than twelve months after his electrifying debut, The Devil's Half Mile, (MBR No. 352, 01 Nov '18) comes his second historical thriller: Hudson's Kill, (Forge, $25.99, 336 pages, ISBN 978-0-7653-9916-8).

Hudson's Kill begins in the year 1803, at the burgeoning, lawless and deadly southern tip of Manhattan Island, where the city of New York is developing its master plan for how the metropolis will be laid out and built. The city is teeming with speculators, schemers and scalawags of every type known to the human race, each of whom are trying to outdo the others in grabbing the most real estate riches. In addition, there's the usual allotment of corrupt officials, thugs, criminals, killers, con artists, gang leaders, rapists and thieves . . . as well as all of the rapacious stock, bond, and commodities traders who frequent the Tontine Coffee House, where they buy and sell all day long.

New York's a miasma of social, political and financial tensions, to which racial unrest must also be added, for slavery was legal at the time in New York, (it was not abolished until 1827,) and all of the factions are battling for control of the city.

Against that unstable and highly charged background of social unrest, a young woman of color is found stabbed to death in an alley. A mere girl, barely in her teens, her murder sets serial characters Kerry O'Toole, a schoolteacher, one-time pickpocket and courtesan . . . along with City Marshall Justy Flannagan, a former Fenian, Irish rebel and émigré to America . . . on divergent paths, but with the same goal: find the person who did it. Kerry goes undercover, while Justy uses all the powers of his office to bring the perpetrator to the gallows. It's a dark and dangerous undertaking that will lead them both to the same reclusive colony of criminal religionists who are hiding in plain sight in the area known as Hudson's Kill. "There, they uncover a craven political conspiracy bound up with a criminal enterprise stunning in its depravity," according to the liner notes, and the MBR could not have said it better.

Hudson's Kill establishes Paddy Hirsch in the forefront of current thriller writers with its compelling prose and kinetic plot, as well as its dynamic and skillful storytelling that will educate and entertain all whodunnit lovers . . . while leaving them thinking that the next installment of this outstanding series can't come soon enough!

The Olive Jar by Carol Olsen LaMonda 2023

My plans for New Year's Eve are no plans. I can count the number of New Year's Celebrations that met all the hype and hoopla they were planned to be. My plan is to avoid the ball drop and the dreadful television coverage that accompanies it. The New Year will ring in without me.

I do consider the turning of a new calendar as a time to reflect and ponder and clear the cobwebs of 2022 with hindsight and perspective. It is a demarkation of endings and beginning and holding on to memories worth saving for another day. I love the Irish tradition of opening all windows and doors to be out with the bad of the old and let in the good for the new.

- It is also a time to say good riddance to:
- Covid
  - Spam and Telemarketers
  - Toxic and NGP (No Good People)
  - Wasteful and unhealthy habits
  - Prejudice and Intolerance

- Instead of resolutions, I am setting small goals like:
- Cleaning out the Junk Drawer in the kitchen
  - Paying bills on time. My neighbor Carl Stone once told me that he never let a bill sit overnight at his house.
  - Walking, not for the mileage, but to appreciate nature.
  - Keeping in contact with family and friends.
  - Forgiving myself for not, single-handedly, curing Cancer, Dementia, Homelessness, Poverty, Mental Illness, War, and Bigotry.

My plans for New Year's Eve

The last goal will be the hardest but most important one on which to concentrate. I am a "fixer" by nature. I meddle; I advise; I help; I interfere with good intentions. I set myself impossible goals and am disappointed when my efforts fall short.

So, I am just going to try to be kind to one person at a time and hope that my kindness has a ripple effect. Perhaps I can enlist an army of "do-gooders" to ease my burden of trying to save the

DEC: Several New Requirements Taking Effect for 2023 to Protect Consumers from Harmful Chemicals

Statewide Laws will Limit Use of 1,4-Dioxane, PFAS, and Chemicals in Variety of Consumer Products

New Laws for Household Cleaning, Personal Care, Cosmetics, Food PacDEC: Several New Requirements Taking Effect for 2023 to Protect Consumers from Harmful Chemicals

Statewide Laws will Limit Use of 1,4-Dioxane, PFAS, and Chemicals in Variety of Consumer Products

New Laws for Household Cleaning, Personal Care, Cosmetics, Food Packaging, and Children's Products Help Prevent Public Exposure

Several new laws are taking effect in the new year to help protect public health and the environment by reducing exposure to harmful chemicals in everyday items, the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) announced today. At the start of 2023, laws will be implemented that will cover 1,4-dioxane, per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), and other chemicals used in household cleaning, personal care, cosmetics, food packaging, and children's products.

"DEC prioritizes the health and well-being of New Yorkers and our environment, and the implementation of new laws for chemicals in everyday household products is part of our state's ongoing commitment to protect communities," DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos said. "With the start of the new year, these stringent requirements will build upon our nation-leading efforts to prevent exposure to emerging contaminants."

PFAS are manmade chemicals that have been widely used in various consumer, commercial, and industrial products since the 1940s. These chemicals' unique properties make them resistant to heat, oil, stains, grease, and water and useful in a wide variety of everyday products. One of the PFAS' was widely used in fire-fighting foam. These same properties also make PFAS challenging when found in our environment. PFAS do not break down easily and persist in the environment, especially in water. Because of widespread use, PFAS releases into the environment have been detected in surface water, groundwater, animals, and humans worldwide.

1,4-Dioxane is a synthetic industrial chemical commonly associated with chlorinated solvents and was widely used as a chemical stabilizer in other formulations. It is also a byproduct or contaminant in consumer products such as laundry detergent. 1,4-Dioxane has been found in groundwater at sites throughout the United States, particularly in the sole source aquifer of Long Island and in association with legacy industrial and hazardous waste sites. The toxicity and persistence of this compound in the environment represent a growing challenge; once released, this emerging contaminant is extremely costly to clean up from the environment, treatment technologies to remove 1,4-dioxane from drinking water supplies are complex and costly.

DEC will implement restrictions on the following chemicals for the following uses:
1,4 Dioxane in Household, Personal Care, and Cosmetic Products

Effective Dec. 31, 2022, New York State will require a maximum allowable concentration of two parts per million (PPM) of 1,4-dioxane in household cleaning and personal care products and a 10 ppm limit is established for cosmetics. A limit of 1 ppm for 1,4-dioxane in household cleaning and personal care products will be effective Dec. 31, 2023.

DEC has held meetings to gather stakeholder input and is currently in the process of drafting a rule to implement the law limiting 1,4-dioxane in household cleansing, personal care, and cosmetic products. DEC will provide an opportunity for public comment once the draft regulation is released. Additional information is available on the DEC website.
PFAS in Food Packaging Materials

DEC is implementing a prohibition on intentionally-added PFAS in food packaging. The law applies to paper-based food packaging (made from paper, paperboard, or other plant-derived materials) intended for direct food contact. Products of this type containing intentionally added PFAS cannot be sold in New York State after Dec. 31, 2022. The restriction of PFAS in food packaging was enacted under the Hazardous Packaging Act. Additional information on the prohibition of PFAS in food packaging is available on the DEC website.

Toxic Chemicals in Children's Products (TCCP)

Beginning Jan. 1, 2023, DEC will implement restrictions on the sale of children's products containing intentionally-added benzene, asbestos, or tris (1,3-dichloro-2-propyl) phosphate in New York State. Also of note, the TCCP law will require the disclosure of certain chemicals of concern and high-priority chemicals if present in children's products. DEC is currently working to develop lists of these chemicals.

Children's products are defined as products marketed to children 12 and under. The products include such items as clothing; non-electronic toys; car seats; children's bedding and mattresses; school supplies; products intended by the manufacturer to help children with sleeping, teething, or eating; furniture; and apparel. The law excludes certain items such as electronic products, batteries, sports equipment, and science kits.

DEC is in the process of developing a regulation to implement portions of the law. The rule will address the specific product categories that are covered, which chemicals and supporting information must be disclosed, details on how to obtain a waiver from reporting or the sales prohibition, and the fees associated with reporting and applying for a waiver. For more information, go to the DEC website and read about New York's nation-leading efforts to protect communities from the risks of emerging contaminants (PDF) in our water.

DEC Announces Launch of State Lands Kiosk Survey Public Input Will Help DEC Make Improvements to State Property Signage

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos today announced the release of the new DEC Kiosk Survey seeking public input on informational kiosk signage on DEC properties. Feedback received will help inform DEC improvements to informational kiosk signage throughout the state.

"DEC is encouraging New Yorkers to get outside, visit DEC's many beautiful properties, and provide us with feedback on signage they see while they're there," Commissioner Seggos said. "With input from our visitors, DEC can make meaningful improvements to our signage and provide an enhanced outdoor experience."

Kiosks are small, open wooden structures that provide cover for educational and informational signs that feature trail maps, emergency phone numbers, and other important information. Kiosks are located at various State properties such as State forests, wilderness areas, conservation easements, wildlife management areas, boat launches, and more.

By taking the survey, participants will be entered into the survey sweepstakes. Each month from January 2023 through January 2024, one lucky winner's name will be pulled randomly from survey responses received that month. The winner receives a free subscription to DEC's Conservationist magazine and a $50 gift card to a sporting goods store. In January 2024, DEC will announce the grand prize winner, pulled from everyone who correctly submitted the survey over the 12-month period. The grand prize winner receives a free subscription to the Conservationist and a $200 gift card to a sporting goods store. Individuals can submit multiple surveys per month but can submit only one survey response per kiosk location.

Individuals looking to participate in the survey are encouraged to use DEC's Info Locator to find a complete list of State lands to visit. Once at a kiosk, visitors can simply use their smart phones to pull up the survey and fill out the questions, or review the kiosk signage and fill out the survey later. DEC encourages visitors to provide detailed feedback and submit photos when possible.

Additional information about the survey and sweepstakes and a link to the survey can be found on DEC's website.

Volunteer Museum Educators Needed at the Time and the Valleys Museum

The Time and the Valleys Museum is seeking to expand and revitalize their educational field trip programs for k-12 students. The Museum badly needs new volunteer Museum Educators who are interested in helping when school groups (of 25-100 students) visit to keep the programs going. The Museum's two popular educational programs teach students about: 1- The history of the building of NYC's water system and the effect on local residents 2- The importance of water and its impact on our history. It is SO IMPORTANT to reach children and engage them with history at an early age!

Columbia Secondary School students from the Bronx visiting the museum, being guided by Museum Educator, Lynne Priebe

Museum Educators help in a variety of ways, from teaching students, helping with hands on activities, assisting others who teach students, answering questions and moving groups through the program. No prior teaching experience or knowledge of history is necessary. All that is needed is an interest in working with students and a willingness to learn, and Museum Educators are fully trained and comfortable prior to starting. Museum Educators can help as little as one or two weekday mornings a month, or more - whatever suits their lifestyle.

Benefits to being a Museum Educator include a 10% discount in the Museum Shop, free admission to Museum programs, an invitation to a special recognition luncheon, gaining new skills, meeting new people and making new friends. Join Sullivan County's R.S.V.P. program, and there are additional perks including mileage reimbursement!

"It is an energizing and rewarding experience helping students learn about local history." says Mary Inghrim, Volunteer Chairperson. For more information about the Museum Educator position, benefits and training, please email info@timeandthevalleymuseum.org or call the Museum at 845 985-7700.

About the Time and the Valleys Museum: Connecting Water People and the Catskills, the Museum is currently open by appointment and during programs. Located at 332 Main Street in Grahamsville (St. Rt. 55), Sullivan County, admission for adults is a suggested donation of $5, children under 16 $2, and children under six are free.

Museum exhibitions are interactive and both fun and educational for all ages:

- o Water and the Valleys, an exhibit on the history of the Rondout and Neversink watershed area from early geological times to the 20th century. This exhibition includes interactives such as a Native American artifact guessing game, grinding corn with a mortar and pestle, videos and more.
- o Tunnels, Toil and Trouble: New York City's Quest for Water and the Rondout-Neversink Story, an interactive exhibit on NYC water supply system and the towns that were removed to build the system, which includes computer interactives, games, puzzles, videos and building a dam and tunnel.
- o 1930s Lost Catskill Farm, a farmhouse, outhouse, barn, electric plant, milk house and working waterwheel help visitors experience life in the 1930s through displays, videos, games and hands on activities.
- o New Exhibit opening 2023 - Bittersweet Memories: The Lost Towns of the Catskill Watersheds

Are You Being Served by Broadband?

FCC Asking for Public's Help in Ensuring Accurate Map

Monticello, NY - The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) is putting out a call for everyone to check the new National Broadband Map for accuracy. New York State and Sullivan County are encouraging the same.

“Knowing exactly where we have high-speed Internet service, and what kind of service it is, will ensure we get the attention and the funding we need to make broadband available in every corner of the County,” explains District 3 County Legislator Mike Brooks, who chairs the County's Broadband Local Development Corporation.

The map is already created - the FCC is seeking public review and input, especially if an error is noted.

“Maybe you don't have access to the service(s) the map indicates. Maybe the location address is wrong,” says Brooks. “Taking just a few minutes to ensure the info is accurate can make a world of difference for all of us.”

How to help:

- o Visit <https://broadbandmap.fcc.gov/home> no later than January 13, 2023
- o Enter the address you'd like to check (you do not need to be at the location you're checking)
- o If info is incorrect about that address, click on “Location Challenge” and follow the instructions
- o Be sure to look at the service information for the different categories: Fixed Broadband (residential and business) and Mobile Broadband (outdoor stationary and in vehicle)
- o If any info is incorrect about the broadband service(s) available at that location, click on “Availability Challenge” and follow the instructions
- o Need more help? Check out this step-by-step video: <https://youtu.be/fiFoxZKYwv4>

Sullivan County to Collect 2023 Fallsburg Property Taxes

Water/Sewer Charges Should Still Be Paid Directly to Town

South Fallsburg, NY - Thanks to an agreement between the Sullivan County Legislature and the Fallsburg Town Board, the County Treasurer's Office will be collecting Fallsburg county/town property taxes in 2023.

"The retirement of our tax collector led us to approach the County about partnering for the upcoming tax collection season," explained Fallsburg Town Supervisor Kathy Rappaport. "We're grateful for the County Treasurer's response, which will help us meet present needs while we plan for the future."

"We're always glad to help our towns and villages in whatever ways we can," affirmed Sullivan County Treasurer Nancy Buck. "We'll make it easy for Fallsburg property owners to pay their taxes and for Fallsburg town officials to keep track of those payments for proper credit. The only real change is that landowners will send their taxes to our office instead of the town's."

Taxpayers should shortly be receiving their bills, accompanied by a flyer listing the various ways they can remit payment. That same list of options is available at www.sullivanny.us/Departments/Treasurer (click on Fallsburg Tax Payments 2023). ## Cpl. Jared Moore Visits FCSD for Christmas

(From Pg. 1) The highlight of the visit came in Ms. Mednick's fifth grade class when Chloe introduced her big brother in front of her classmates. Jared is 6' 5" now and Chloe has grown a least ten inches since kindergarten. She seemed two feet taller because of the added stature of the pride she has for Jared.

Everyone was pleased with this wonderful opportunity to be with the young man, home on leave for Christmas to be with his family and with the children from the school where he grew up. Thank you for your service Jared to the country and to the children of Fallsburg that appreciate your protecting them.

Letters to the Editor:

We Have To Save Ukraine

The United States convinced Ukraine in 1991 to give up its nuclear weapons and send them to Russia. We then guaranteed Ukraine's security, and now we are fulfilling those guarantees.

We have provided about $70 billion in aid and plan on giving another $50 billion in economic and military aid. This aid is well spent since Ukraine is fighting to counter and deter Russian expansionist goals in Eastern Europe. If Ukraine goes down Eastern Europe could be next. This would require a response from NATO countries, including the U.S., which would precipitate WWII.

Kevin McCarthy, the next Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the far right Republicans in the House Freedom Caucus, including the extremist Marjorie Greene, want to cut back our commitment to Ukraine. This highly partisan, short sighted, and naive position loses sight of the world geopolitical situation. It would endanger Ukraine and Europe and encourage other bad actors in the world like China, North Korea and Iran to commit aggression with impunity to further their expansionist objectives.

Ukrainian President Zelensky is committed to defending his country. Congress and the American people should realize the strategic importance of saving Ukraine from the clutches of a Russian tyrant.

“What are those painted squares all about?”

Across the United States and into Canada quilts have gone from bed cover to barn side, sewing needle to paint brush, fabric to wood, and traditional block design to original art. Quilts have transformed both American architecture and the landscape.

What part of the movement was strategic marketing and how did it turn into a wildly popular obsession?

Governor Kathy Hochul today announced that the application for the Excelsior Scholarship for new applicants for the Spring 2023 term is now open here.

<https://www.hesc.ny.gov/pay-for-college/financial-aid/types-of-financial-aid/nys-grants-scholarships-awards/the-excelsior-scholarship.html>

The Excelsior Scholarship, in combination with other student financial aid, allows eligible full-time students to attend a SUNY or CUNY two-year or four-year college tuition-free.

"Since its inception, the Excelsior Scholarship has enabled tens of thousands of students from low and middle-income families the chance to pursue a quality education tuition-free," Governor Hochul said. "By easing the financial burden associated with the cost of attending college, students and their families can focus on their education, providing New York's students every possible opportunity to climb the ladder of success."

Students from households with federal adjusted gross incomes up to $125,000 are eligible for a Spring Excelsior Scholarship award. Students must also:

- o Plan to attend a SUNY or CUNY two or four-year college
- o Complete 30 credits per year towards their program of study (including Summer and Winter terms); and
- o Be on track to graduate with an Associate's Degree in two years or a Bachelor's Degree in four years

Dr. Guillermo Linares, President of the New York State Higher Education Services Corporation said, "The cost to attend college is often a barrier for students from low and middle-income families who wish to experience the benefits that come from earning a postsecondary degree or credential. The Excelsior Scholarship offers the opportunity for students who, without financial support, could not readily afford to pursue a college degree."

The Excelsior Scholarship is just one of the many ways New York State makes college affordable and accessible. Check out the New York State Higher Education Services Corporation website to explore other options available to help pay for college.

The Spring 2023 Excelsior Scholarship application is open to first-time students entering college in the Spring 2023 term and current college students who have never received the Excelsior Scholarship. Students currently receiving an Excelsior Scholarship do not need to complete this application to receive continued award payments. Students eligible for the Excelsior Scholarship under the Senator José Peralta New York State DREAM Act can apply here.

Applications will be accepted through February 9, 2023.

DEC Announces Adoption of Advanced Clean Cars II Rule for New Passenger Cars and Light-Duty Truck Sales

All New Cars, Pickup Trucks, and SUVs Sold In New York To Be Zero-Emission by 2035

Requirements are Crucial to Help Implement Newly Finalized Climate Act Scoping Plan, Further Electrify Transportation Sector, and Improve Health of Communities

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos announced today the adoption of new requirements to reduce climate-altering greenhouse gas emissions and air pollution from the transportation sector. The Advanced Clean Car II regulations will require all new passenger cars and trucks sold in New York State to be zero-emissions by 2035. This step will accelerate zero-emission car sales, resulting in improved air quality statewide, particularly in communities disproportionately impacted by transportation-related pollution.

"Adopting Advanced Clean Cars II is a game-changing step for New York that will forever improve the health of our disadvantaged communities, and help bring about changes in zero-emission vehicle use here in the Empire State and across the country," said Commissioner Seggos. "These requirements demonstrate New York's commitment to, and Governor Kathy Hochul's leadership in acting on climate and laying a strong foundation of cutting greenhouse gases, reducing harmful pollution, and promoting the growth of the green transportation industry."

The Advanced Clean Cars II rulemaking supports New York's ambitious work of reducing greenhouse gas emissions by 85 percent by 2050 from 1990 levels, as outlined in the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act (Climate Act). The regulation requires an increasing percentage of new light-duty vehicle sales to be zero-emission vehicles (ZEV) each year, starting with 35 percent ZEV sales in model year 2026, leading to 100 percent ZEV sales by 2035. Advanced Clean Cars II also includes revised pollutant standards for model year 2026 through model year 2034 passenger cars, light-duty trucks, and medium-duty vehicles with internal combustion engines. The regulation provides manufacturers with flexibility to meet the emission requirements and help advance a successful transition to cleaner vehicles. (Contd. Pg. 27)

DEC Announces Adoption of Advanced Clean Cars II Rule for New Passenger Cars and Light-Duty Truck Sales All New Cars, Pickup Trucks, and SUVs Sold In New York To Be Zero-Emission by 2035

(From Pg. 26) Adoption of Advanced Clean Cars II is included among the recommendations in the Climate Action Council's recently released Scoping Plan and will be instrumental in achieving the greenhouse gas emissions reductions required in the Climate Act. On Dec. 19, New York State's Climate Action Council adopted the Scoping Plan, which outlines recommended policies and actions to help meet the Climate Act's goals and requirements. The plan was the culmination of more than three years of collaboration, including contributions from the Council's Advisory Panels and Working Groups, since the enactment of the Climate Act in 2019.

Reducing transportation-related emissions in this rulemaking will provide significant air quality benefits, including progress to reduce ozone, for many of New York's disadvantaged communities that are predominantly home to low-income Black, Indigenous, and People of Color, and often adjacent to transit routes with heavy vehicle traffic. The newly adopted regulation will help health and pollution burdens affecting these communities.

Also announced, New York State appliance and equipment standards under the Advanced Building Codes, Appliance and Equipment Efficiency Standards Act of 2022 will be adopted on Jan. 1, 2023, to set minimum energy and water efficiency requirements for residential and commercial products that will save consumers $264 million annually on utility bills by 2035, with $85 million benefiting low- to moderate-income households. The standards ensure performance and quality to phase out poor, inefficient and wasteful products while reducing energy and water consumption to limit 807,000 metric tons and save more than 25 billion gallons in annual water by 2035 to help meet New York's nation-leading emissions reduction goals under the Climate Act.

NYSERDA President and CEO and Climate Action Council Co-Chair Doreen M. Harris said, "Putting more clean vehicles on our roadways reduces pollution and emissions that cause climate change, improving health in communities, while providing consumers more choice in the type of vehicle they drive or ride in. As we advance vehicle electrification, we are also raising the bar for energy efficient appliances with new standards that call for products to feature the latest technologies and energy saving features."

New York State Department of Transportation Commissioner Marie Therese Dominguez said, "The Advanced Clean Car II regulations will speed the transition to zero-emission vehicles and advance New York's nation leading efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. The state Department of Transportation is advancing Governor Hochul's vision to provide greener and cleaner transportation, collaborating with our partners in government and the private sector to build out the infrastructure needed to support electric vehicles and create a more sustainable transportation network for all New Yorkers."

The regulatory action announced today builds on New York's ongoing efforts to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases, including the adoption of the Advanced Clean Trucks regulation in December 2021. That regulation will drive an increase in the number of medium- and heavy-duty ZEV models available as purchase options for vehicle purchasers and fleets.

Both the Advanced Clean Trucks and Advanced Clean Cars II rules will provide the needed regulatory certainty to support a stable market for long-term vehicle purchasing decisions and the development of ZEV charging infrastructure.

New York is investing more than $1 billion in ZEVs of all weight classes over the next five years. Active light-duty vehicle initiatives include zero-emission vehicle purchase rebates through NYSERDA's Drive Clean Rebate Program, zero-emission vehicle and charging infrastructure grants through DEC's Climate Smart Communities Municipal Grant Program, as well as the "EV Make Ready" initiative, NYPA's EVolve NY charging infrastructure program, and DOT's National Electric Vehicle Infrastructure (NEVI) charging infrastructure program to help expand electric vehicle use.

In addition to the Advanced Clean Car II regulations, New York incorporated California's Heavy-Duty Low Nitrogen Oxide (NOx) Omnibus and Phase 2 Greenhouse Gas standards under a separate rulemaking. The Heavy Duty Omnibus regulation requires medium- and heavy-duty engine manufacturers to sell new, cleaner vehicles (e.g., heavy-duty trucks) that meet more stringent NOx and particulate matter emissions standards, beginning with engine model year 2026. The regulation also includes revised test procedures and longer useful life and warranty requirements for applicable medium- and heavy-duty vehicles compared to current federal requirements. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recently finalized new clean-air standards for heavy-duty trucks beginning with the model year 2027. New York's NOx emission standards for heavy-duty engines, when fully implemented, would be more stringent than the recently announced national standards.

DEC is implementing the regulations through an emergency rulemaking and also making the regulations available for public comment. Advanced Clean Cars II regulations will be available for public comment until March 6 and a virtual public hearing on the measure will be held on March 1. The Heavy Duty Omnibus regulation will be available for public comment until March 6 and a virtual public hearing will be held on Feb. 28. ## New York State's Nation-Leading Climate Plan

New York State's nation-leading climate agenda is the most aggressive climate and clean energy initiative in the nation, calling for an orderly and just transition to clean energy that creates jobs and continues fostering a green economy as New York State recovers from the COVID-19 pandemic. Enshrined into law through the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act, New York is on a path to achieve its mandated goal of a zero-emission electricity sector by 2040, including 70 percent renewable energy generation by 2030, and to reach economy wide carbon neutrality. It builds on New York's unprecedented investments to ramp-up clean energy including over $35 billion in 120 large-scale renewable and transmission projects across the state, $6.8 billion to reduce buildings emissions, $1.8 billion to scale up solar, more than $1 billion for clean transportation initiatives, and over $1.6 billion in NY Green Bank commitments. Combined, these investments are supporting more than 165,000 jobs in New York's clean energy sector in 2021, a 2,100 percent growth in the distributed solar sector since 2011 and a commitment to develop 9,000 megawatts of offshore wind by 2035. Under the Climate Act, New York will build on this progress and reduce greenhouse gas emissions by 85 percent from 1990 levels by 2050, while ensuring that at least 35 percent with a goal of 40 percent of the benefits of clean energy investments are directed to disadvantaged communities, and advance progress towards the state's 2025 energy efficiency target of reducing on-site energy consumption by 185 trillion BTUs of end-use energy savings.

DEC Issues 2022 Statewide Greenhouse Gas Emissions Report

Implements Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos today announced the release of the 2022 Statewide Greenhouse Gas Report. The report details statewide greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions for 1990 - 2020, expressed in tons of carbon dioxide equivalents from all greenhouse gas emissions sources in the state. The release of this report prior to the end of the year supports the State's comprehensive and ongoing work to meet the requirements of the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act (Climate Act).

"As last week's historic finalization of the Scoping Plan demonstrates, New York continues to make progress implementing the Climate Act to reach our critical emissions reduction milestones," DEC Commissioner and Climate Action Council Co-Chair Seggos said. "This report offers valuable information and insights on the changes in emissions attributable to impacts from the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, among other indicators of emissions sources."

The Climate Act requires the State to achieve a carbon-free electricity system by 2040 and reduce GHG emissions 40 percent below 1990 levels by 2030 and 85 percent by 2050, setting a new standard for states and the nation to expedite the transition to a clean energy economy. The law drives investment in clean energy solutions such as wind, solar, energy efficiency, and energy storage and ensures that at least 40 percent of the clean energy investments benefit disadvantaged and low- to moderate-income communities. On Monday, Dec. 19, the State Climate Action Council adopted the New York State Climate Action Council Scoping Plan, which outlines recommended policies and actions to help meet the goals and requirements of the Climate Act.

The comprehensive report released today utilizes best available science and data to describe GHG statewide emissions, including those from electricity, industry, and agriculture. The Statewide GHG Report is unique in the U.S. for using the 20-year Global Warming Potential and including emissions associated with the generation of imported electricity and with the extraction and transmission of fossil fuels imported into the state. It also describes the contributions of the state's forests and natural lands to collect and store carbon and to help the state reach its goal of net-zero emission by 2050.

The 2022 report also describes the significant effect that the COVID-19 pandemic had on GHGs, particularly a 20 percent drop in transportation emissions. The report notes that 2020 is likely not a representative year in terms of overall emission trends, due to the impact of the pandemic. DEC will provide updated information through 2021 in the 2023 report next year. The annual emission totals provided will

Thieves Using Skimming Devices To Steal Benefits from Electronic Benefit Transfer Card Users

Federal Funding Bill Includes Provision To Issue Additional Assistance to Victims of Stolen Benefits

Governor Kathy Hochul urged New Yorkers who receive government assistance via an Electronic Benefit Transfer card to take steps to protect themselves from criminals who have been using "skimming" devices to steal the benefits from unsuspecting recipients. The Governor also thanked New York's Congressional delegation for their efforts to secure two years of federal funding to provide additional assistance to Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program recipients who had their benefits stolen.

"It is unconscionable that thieves are stealing SNAP benefits from some of our most vulnerable New Yorkers," Governor Hochul said. "I urge all EBT card users to stay vigilant and protect themselves, and I thank Senator Gillibrand and the New York Congressional delegation for their efforts to address what has become a national problem."

The Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance, which oversees SNAP in New York State, has developed outreach materials to inform EBT card users about actions they can take to protect themselves and their benefits. A video, "Act Fast!" and a flyer, "Protect Yourself from EBT Skimming," are available for download and sharing on social media in both English and Spanish.

When shopping, consumers should inspect the card reading machine for an overlay device that may hide parts of the machine or anything unusual like glue marks, damaged or loose parts. If anyone suspects something is wrong with the machine, they should not use their card, notify a store manager, and contact their local department of social services as well as the local police.

Additionally, EBT card users should:

- o Protect their benefits by shielding the PIN pad when entering their PIN.
- o Change their PIN frequently and do not share it. It is best to change the PIN immediately after each transaction.
- o Check their EBT account regularly for unauthorized charges.
- o If a transaction is unexpectedly declined or a user receives an error code, contact the EBT Customer Services Helpline to verify the transactions on the account.

Across the country, thieves are using card skimmers surreptitiously placed over card reading machines at legitimate retailers to directly copy card and PIN information from EBT users. Scammers are then able use the stolen data to create a duplicate version of the card, enabling them to access the compromised account and use the benefits.

As the skimming devices otherwise allow legitimate transactions to proceed unimpeded, victims are typically unaware that they have been victimized until their next attempted purchase or account balance review.

New York's Congressional delegation worked to ensure language was included in the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2023 to allow theft victims to have up to two months of benefits reinstated using federal funds for the current and upcoming federal fiscal year. The state is also working with USDA to identify options to further enhance the security of EBT cards.

Senator Kirsten Gillibrand said, "No one should go hungry because they fell victim to identity theft or a skimming scam. We are working hard to give Gov. Hochul the tools she needs to right this wrong, including having secured provisions in the end-of-year funding bill for FY23 to reissue SNAP benefits to those who had them stolen. SNAP provides a lifeline for millions of New Yorkers, and I will keep doing everything in my power to protect the families who rely on it."

Anyone who believes their benefits have been stolen should contact the EBT Customer Services Helpline at 1-888-328-6399 or go to ConnectEBT.com, and report it so they can get a new card. Suspected victims should also contact their local department of social services to report that their benefits have been stolen and file a police report with their local police department.

Monticello Rotary December 27, 2022 Meeting

The Tuesday Evening Meeting of the Monticello Rotary was called to order by President Brad Rutledge at 6:30 pm.

Following the Pledge of Allegiance and the Four Way Test, President Brad announced that Shayna Benskie is now a full-fledged Rotarian - Kudos and Welcome!

The guest speaker, Yvonne Hausman was introduced to the audience.

Yvonne Hausman is an educator with deep roots in Sullivan County and a legacy that began with her advocacy for her son Devin Michael Hausman and grew even stronger following the untimely passing of Devin.

Devin was a most special young man; diagnosed with a "spectrum disorder," Devin, throughout his lifetime, "stole the hearts" of everyone who had the pleasure of being in contact with.

From his engaging personality to his incredible ability as an artist, Devin was an example of how "gifts and talents" are all too often masked by "clinical evaluations" and that the definition of "gifted" rests solely on an academic grade point average.

In 2020, following the passing of Devin, the Devin Michael Hausman scholarship was established to provide monies for students with special needs. Qualification for this scholarship is based upon "the arts" from traditional art, to theater arts to any "art" that students with special needs can demonstrate.

Yvonne indicated that this scholarship is unique in that no other scholarship like it exists in NYS; to that end she is advocating for "scholarships with meaning;" and is presently lobbying the NYS Senate and Assembly for "hospice in hospital" a law that would ensure the no family is denied access for any reason to their children who are hospitalized - Yvonne is optimistic that this bill, Devin's Bill," will be voted into law.

Devin passed away at the age of 22, but his legacy lives through his artwork and a memorial garden - The Lion King Garden - that fills the backyard of the Hausman home.

It is the fervent hope that all school districts in Sullivan County and beyond will become actively involved in developing programs and establishing policies that recognize that special needs students are, in their own special way, "gifted and talented." Yvonne concluded by asserting that "...it's just that their brains work differently!"

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Taste of Sullivan - In Helen's absence Brad reminded all interested Rotarians that a committee meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 10th, 2023 at 5:30 pm.

Heart - A - Thon - Lori shared that this event will be held February 17, 2023 at Resorts World and our next Blood Drive that will take place then followed by several additional Blood Drives during the remaining calendar year. Lori will share the Rotary Donation link in for all to use to help secure donations.

Comfort Closet - Lori shared that she and Peter "basked in the sunshine of smiles" when comfort items were brought to Achieve in Liberty. In partnership with the 3rd Judicial District, the club agreed that this important initiative will continue as a standing event.

Regional Update - Jacob indicated that the Rotary Day of Service, scheduled for May 20th 2023, will include the Liberty and Livingston Manor Rotarians.

Jacob shared that the "Little Library" is "painted, mounted and ready to go" to the Rock Hill Post Office within the next week or so.

Housing Works Cannabis Co, a Non-Profit Supporting Formerly Incarcerated New Yorkers, Makes First Cannabis Sale in Manhattan to NYS OCM Executive Director Chris Alexander

- Cannabis Supply Chain Started by the Seeding Opportunity Initiative is Now Complete
- New Yorkers Can Now Purchase Legal, Safer Cannabis

Governor Kathy Hochul today announced the first sales of legal, regulated adult-use cannabis in New York State history. The first sale occurred at Housing Works Cannabis Co, a dispensary owned by Housing Works, the nation's largest minority-controlled HIV/AIDS service organization and largest community-based HIV/AIDS service organization. The first purchase today was made by Chris Alexander, Executive Director of New York's Office of Cannabis Management, a former advocate who spent years fighting for, and crafting, the bill that legalized cannabis in the Empire State. Housing Works, based in New York City, operates a range of direct and support services for people living with HIV/AIDS, the homeless, formerly incarcerated, and justice-involved individuals. It also operates a network of charitable retail storefronts.

"The first legal adult-use cannabis sales mark a historic milestone in New York's cannabis industry," Governor Hochul said. "Today is only the beginning, and I look forward to continuing our efforts to solidify New York as a national model for the safe, equitable and inclusive industry we are now building."

The first adult-use retail dispensary, Housing Works Cannabis Co, which is located at 750 Broadway just north of Astor Place in Manhattan, will be open seven days a week, with the first public sales beginning today at 4:20 p.m. Regular hours thereafter will be from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and will adjust in the coming weeks. More dispensaries are expected to follow shortly after the Cannabis Control Board issued the first 36 adult-use retail licenses on November 21, 2022.

As the first Conditional Adult-Use Recreational Dispensary (CAURD) licensee in the state to open its location for business, today's sales serve as both the official opening of New York's legal cannabis market and the start of a new stream of tax revenue that will be invested in communities across the state to support public schools, addiction services, mental health services, housing, and other community-based programs. It will also support the development of programs to build equity throughout the cannabis supply chain.

Cannabis Control Board Chairwoman Tremaine Wright said, "Today is truly a historic day in the history of New York State. For years we fought to make sure New York not only legalized cannabis but did so in a way that ensures this cannabis market is driven and led by social equity. I am proud to say, with non-profit Housing Works making today's first cannabis retail sale, we are well on our way to achieve that goal and fulfill our commitment to all New Yorkers. I cannot thank Governor Kathy Hochul, the rest of the Cannabis Control Board, or the staff of the Office of Cannabis Management enough for their ongoing work to achieve these goals"

Chris Alexander, Executive Director of the Office of Cannabis Management said, "It is a privilege and an honor to be here today, as we said we would earlier this year, to make history with the first ever legal retail sale of cannabis in New York State. This is a significant part of the battle to end cannabis prohibition that we can say has finally been won. Thank you Governor Hochul for your unwavering support in bringing the vision of New York's Cannabis law to life and thank you to all our farmers and CAURD licensees for believing in that vision and working with our agency to build what will be the most equitable cannabis market in the nation."

State Senator Liz Krueger said, "I am gratified to see the start of the adult retail cannabis sales, and that Housing Works has opened the first retail store. Their decades of work with marginalized communities make them a perfect partner in the effort to ensure that New York's Cannabis market provides meaningful opportunities to those most impacted by the failed cannabis criminalization policies of the past. New Yorkers now have access to a safe sustainable cannabis market rooted in a commitment to social equity."

Assembly Majority Leader Crystal Peoples-Stokes said, "I am so pleased to see the first legal sales of cannabis in New York occur today by a non-profit that's been dedicated to helping improve people's lives for decades. Today, as laid out in the Cannabis Law, we begin collecting revenue that will be reinvested in communities all around the state that were devastated by unequal enforcement of drug laws and mass incarceration." ## Housing Works Cannabis Co, a Non-Profit Supporting Formerly Incarcerated New Yorkers, Makes First Cannabis Sale in Manhattan to NYS OCM Executive Director Chris Alexander

(From Pg. 32) Charles King, CEO of Housing Works, said, "For us, this dispensary is an opportunity to provide employment opportunities to people who have experienced the harms of cannabis criminalization. We're humbled to be able to provide on-going training to help people advance into cannabis as a career in addition to educating our community on cannabis as the market continues to evolve. We're also looking forward to reinvesting profits to further Housing Works' mission of providing lifesaving services for tens of thousands of New Yorkers in need."

This historic event marks a critical milestone in the Seeding Opportunity Initiative, completing the supply chain which was designed to set New York on a path to fulfilling the goals of New York's Cannabis Law by building an adult-use cannabis industry that works to offset the harms resulting from the disproportionate impact of cannabis prohibition. Announced by Governor Hochul in March, the Initiative has provided for the licensing of 280 family farmers to grow the first adult-use cannabis in New York State. These tested, safer cannabis products will be sold by the first licensed adult-use dispensaries in New York, which are either owned by successful business operators, a close family member, who has a cannabis conviction (justice involved); or non-profit organizations that provide services to individuals who have been harmed by the unequal enforcement of cannabis prohibition.

To qualify, non-profits such as Housing Works also needed to have at least one justice-involved board member and must create vocational opportunities for those with a marijuana conviction. Housing Works has served justice-involved New Yorkers since its inception in 1990 through direct services and advocacy initiatives, providing critical services for people living with HIV/AIDS. Today, Housing Works' Justice Initiative, tailors the non-profit's services to meet the needs of formerly incarcerated individuals, including those with cannabis convictions.

Profits from sales at Housing Works Cannabis Co will be reinvested in the non-profit's services. Founded in 1990 to address the dual crises of HIV/AIDS and homelessness, Housing Works, a self-sustaining nonprofit, provides job opportunities, legal advocacy and comprehensive housing and health services funded. With a focus on compassion and dispelling stigmas, Housing Works endeavors to move the cannabis industry forward by supporting the needs of their community through an equity-driven and harm reduction approach.

Spanning 4,400 square feet, the iconic building where the dispensary will be, 1 Astor Place, was completed in 1883. Housing Works Cannabis Co will welcome patrons with an introductory shopping experience upon opening, with plans to carefully build out an expanded and thoughtfully curated space as cannabis products become more available. Learn more at hwcannabis.co.

To date, the New York State Cannabis Control Board has approved 36 Conditional Adult Use Retail Dispensary Licenses, including 28 for qualifying businesses and 8 for non-profits. Earlier this month, the Office of Cannabis Management released guidance to support retail businesses in starting their operations with delivery service to help jumpstart sales.

Governor Hochul Signs Legislative Package to Crack Down on Pandemic Fraud

Governor Kathy Hochul today signed a legislative package to crack down on pandemic fraud. By increasing rewards for reporting fraud and increasing penalties for fraud that occurs during state emergencies like the COVID-19 pandemic, these new laws will deter individuals from committing this crime as well as encourage the reporting of fraud.

"We are sending a clear message: New York has zero tolerance for fraud, especially in our most critical times of need," Governor Hochul said. "These new laws will protect New Yorkers and incentivize them to report fraud and assist with recovery efforts while cracking down on bad actors and their deceitful attempts to turn a profit during emergencies."

Legislation (A.1431/S.1120) increases the award amounts given to individuals who report fraud related to a State of Emergency. Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, New Yorkers reported seeing potentially fraudulent acts perpetrated on the state. Currently, private citizens can file civil lawsuits on behalf of the government to help recover defrauded money and may be rewarded a percentage of the money recovered. With this new law, whistleblowers may be eligible to receive additional money if the fraud was perpetrated during a state of emergency. (Contd. Pg 34)

Governor Hochul Signs Legislative Package to Crack Down on Pandemic Fraud

(From Pg. 33) Assemblymember Jeffrey Dinowitz said, "As with other states of emergency, like Hurricane Sandy or September 11th, the need to respond swiftly creates opportunities for perpetrators of fraud. By filing a qui tam whistleblower lawsuit, citizens may be awarded a percentage of money recovered. Government funds are limited, especially because of the pandemic. This law incentivizes whistleblowers to come forward with information to assist the state in recovering funds and deterring criminal dealings. I thank Governor Hochul for signing this legislation into law and appreciate the hard work of State Senator Kaminsky in passing this in the state senate."

Legislation (S.4954-C/A.9193) increases penalties for fraud that occurs during a declared State of Emergency. This legislation will impose monetary penalties on any partnership, corporation, company, trust or association, or individual who commits such fraud. The new law empowers the Attorney General to take action for civil penalties against these entities.

Attorney General Letitia James said, "During the height of the pandemic, New Yorkers were deceived by fraudsters trying to take advantage of difficult times. My office has taken significant action to stop scams, combat price gouging of essential goods, and recover millions of dollars for consumers who were misled. This new law will strengthen our ability to go after those trying to take advantage of New Yorkers. I applaud Governor Hochul, Senator Myrie, and Assemblymember Rozic for taking this important step to protect New Yorkers."

State Senator Zellnor Myrie said, "This new law is a clear statement to would-be fraudsters and scammers: if you take advantage of New York consumers during this difficult time, your cost of doing business is about to get much higher. New Yorkers have already lost over $80 million to pandemic-related fraud and increasing penalties for these white-collar crimes will help deter them now and during future crises. I'm grateful to my partner Assemblymember Nily Rozic, and to the Governor for signing our bill into law."

Assemblymember Nily Rozic said, "During times of crisis, consumers are at higher risk of being scammed and defrauded. This new law will ensure those who take advantage of New Yorkers at the times they are most vulnerable will be penalized heavily. Thank you to Governor Hochul for signing this important piece of legislation."

New York Secretary of State Robert J. Rodriguez said, "Protecting New Yorkers against fraud and unscrupulous actors, especially during emergencies when residents are at their most vulnerable, is a top priority of our Division of Consumer Protection and New York State. I thank Governor Hochul for signing these important bills into law and for her continued commitment to New York's consumers."

Governor Hochul Signs the Digital Fair Repair Act Into Law

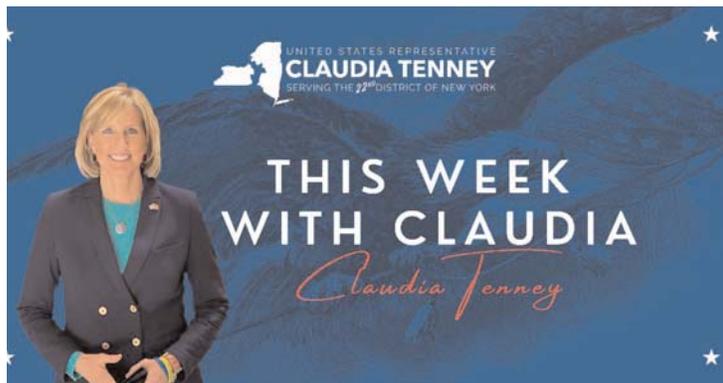

Governor Kathy Hochul signed the Digital Fair Repair Act (S4104-A/A7006-B) into law making New York the first state in the nation to guarantee the right to repair, protecting consumers from anticompetitive efforts to limit repair.

"As technology and smart devices become increasingly essential to our daily lives, consumers should be able to easily fix the devices they rely on in a timely fashion," Governor Hochul said. "This legislation will empower consumers with better options to repair their devices, thereby maximizing the lifespan of their devices, saving money, and reducing electronic waste."

The Digital Fair Repair Act (S4104-A/A7006-B) requires original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) to make diagnostic and repair information for digital electronic parts and equipment available to independent repair providers and consumers if such parts and repair information are also available to OEM authorized repair providers and servicers. This legislation will make New York the first state in the nation to require such information from OEMs. Far too often, repairs of digital items are difficult to accomplish due to limited accessibility to parts and tools as well as a lack of manuals and diagrams. By signing this bill into law, New York is protecting consumers and opening the digital repair market up to competition and all its consumer, entrepreneurial and environmental benefits.

State Senator Neil Breslin said, "This new Right to Repair law, the first of its kind in the United States, will not only provide greater choice and affordability for consumers if they choose to repair their electronic devices, but also significantly reduce the amount of electronic waste, while providing more opportunities for small businesses. I want to thank Governor Hochul along with Assemblymember Fahy for their steadfast commitment to seeing this important new law come to fruition."

Assemblymember Patricia Fahy said, "New York leads the nation again - today, the United States' first right to repair bill, the Digital Fair Repair Act, was signed into law - putting consumers first, leveling the playing field for independent repair shops, and reducing our e-waste in landfills. Under the law, electronics manufacturers must allow access to critical information and parts required by independent repair shops to complete repairs on many electronic products, ending what is a growing monopoly on the repair market by big tech, while incentivizing competition. At the same time, we're also reducing an expected 655,000 tons of toxic e-waste discarded in each year in New York State, where 85% of that waste ends up in a landfill. Thank you to Governor Hochul for signing the legislation into law, Senator Neil Breslin for sponsoring the bill in the Senate, and all of the tireless fair repair advocates who worked for years to get the Digital Fair Repair Act over the finish line. While this new law represents a difficult compromise after a vigorous campaign against the right to repair by big tech, I am proud that consumers and small businesses prevailed in the end. We are hopeful this will spur other states into action, galvanize the effort to enact a right to repair law at the national level, and that all Americans will eventually enjoy a comprehensive and real 'right to repair'."

Thank You for the Opportunity to Serve

To every resident of New York's 22nd Congressional District, Happy New Year, and thank you for entrusting me with the great privilege of being your voice in Congress. Representing this great district twice in the United States House of Representatives has been a tremendous honor.

I ran for Congress to restore prosperity to our region, and this fight continues. Throughout my two terms representing this district, my staff and I have been honored each day to work tirelessly on your behalf. We have fought special interests to introduce and pass legislation that benefits our community. We have taken on federal agencies to resolve casework matters for those in dire need of assistance. We have nominated dozens of young students to military service academies, many of who have gone on to serve our nation in the Armed Forces. And we have advocated tenaciously for projects that benefit our region, returning millions in federal funding to our community for important and targeted investments in a range of programs, including water infrastructure, health, and law enforcement.

We also have prioritized open and transparent public service. I have been honored to explain every vote I take in Congress. Even if we do not always agree, you will always know where I stand on the issues. This term, I have explained more than 400 votes in significant detail. I will continue to prioritize a government that is transparent and accountable to you.

One piece of legislation that I was especially honored to introduce this term and will continue to fight for is the Essential Caregivers Act, which works to protect the rights of residents in long-term care facilities by allowing them to access up to two essential caregivers during a public health emergency. During the pandemic, the rights of senior citizens were disregarded, and this legislation will make sure that never happens again. Another priority I will continue to focus on in the New Year is the Election Integrity Caucus, which I founded and currently co-chair. This caucus is focused on delivering commonsense solutions that restore faith in our democratic process.

Starting on January 3, 2023, when the 118th Session of Congress begins, I will no longer be representing the 22nd District in Congress. Following New York's redistricting process, I will now be representing New York's 24th District, which includes the portions of Oswego County currently in the 22nd District. Other areas in the current 22nd District will be represented by Congresswoman Elise Stefanik, Congressman-Elect Brandon Williams, and Congressman-Elect Marc Molinaro. Additional information on who will be representing you in Congress starting on January 3 can be accessed by visiting www.house.gov/representatives/find-your-representative.

Governor Hochul Signs Legislative Package to Support Pedestrians, Bikers and Transit Riders

Governor Kathy Hochul signed a legislative package supporting pedestrians, bikers and transit riders across New York State. These new laws will increase Department of Transportation support for municipal "complete streets" projects, and require regional transportation boards have voting seats for transit dependent individuals.

"Whether you're on the sidewalk, in the bike lane or riding the bus, you deserve a high-quality trip that gets you safely to your destination," Governor Hochul said. "Transportation is all about connections: bringing people closer to their jobs, their homes, and the people they love. I'm proud to sign two new laws that will make our streets safer and our communities more connected."

Legislation (S.3897/A.8936-A) provides increased funding for "Complete Streets" projects, which incorporate a holistic approach to street design. A Complete Street is a roadway planned and designed to consider the safe, convenient access and mobility of roadway users of all ages and abilities. This includes pedestrians, bicyclists, public transportation riders, and motorists; it includes children, the elderly, and persons with disabilities. Complete Street designs contribute to a cleaner, greener, transportation system. This bill increases the state share of funding for municipalities incorporating Complete Street features. Under the new legislation, the state's contribution to the non-federally funded portion of Complete Street projects will increase to 87.5 percent, which will help municipalities to implement these street designs.

Assemblymember Patricia Fahy said, "With pedestrian deaths in the United States hitting a 40-year high as noted by the Governor's Highway Safety Administration, New Yorkers are at continued risk of injury or death due to traffic violence on our roads today more than ever before. I sincerely thank Governor Hochul for signing the Complete Streets Funding bill (A.8936/S.3897), which will serve to protect more pedestrians and cyclists by increasing state funding for local complete street projects like sidewalks, crosswalks, curb cuts and other pedestrian-friendly infrastructure, undoubtedly saving lives and making streets more user-friendly for all. This law will empower local governments to pursue more of these projects by reducing their cost burden and increasing the state's share of funding for these projects. If our goal is to build strong, multi-modal walkable communities while reducing transportation-sector emissions, complete street design is a proven component for achieving that objective. I commend Senate sponsor Tim Kennedy, the hundreds of advocates like Families for Safe Streets, Transportation Alternatives, families affected by traffic violence, Assemblymember Donna Lupardo and Congressman Joe Morelle who originally sponsored the Assembly bill and now leads the effort in Congress, and more for getting this bill over the finish line and protecting more New Yorkers on our roads."

Legislation (S.3959-B/A.7822-C) will require the non-voting transit dependent representative be moved into a voting position on various transportation authorities' boards. Upstate and Western New York regional transit authorities provide critical services to tens of millions of riders every year. These services include bike-shares, buses, and paratransit, and annually cover hundreds of thousands of miles in service. This new legislation provides a critical voice to riders who permanently rely on these services, and will improve governance within these authorities

Ulster County Year in Review: 2022

KINGSTON, N.Y. - 2022 was an eventful year in Ulster County. In the past year, County government has made progress on key initiatives and remained steadfast in our commitment to serve the residents of Ulster County. In 2022, we continued into our third year of managing the impacts of the COVID-19 virus as the pandemic turned endemic. We turned over ownership of the former IBM property in the Town of Ulster, and welcomed the cannabis industry to the region with the groundbreaking of Cresco Labs in Ellenville. We demolished our former county jail to make way for affordable housing, triggered an investigation by the state into Central Hudson's billing practices, and commemorated Juneteenth as a County holiday for the first time. We coordinated with federal and state agencies in response to three major climate-related weather events: an ice storm, a tornado and a wildfire. We bid farewell to our second county executive, and we will welcome our first elected female county executive on January 1st, 2023. Here are some of the highlights from the year:
