If you See Something Nice... Say It!

Thank you to all who kept tabs on and helped feed the 'lost Sundown black dog' this past winter.

The good news is – after very careful planning Barbara and Paul Hnatiw were able to slowly gain the confidence of the lost dog. They used both food and their pet golden retriever to lure the frightened dog to them.

Once they safely secured the dog inside the house, it didn't take long for them to gain the dog's confidence. The dog no longer carries the name of the 'lost Sundown black dog', but Barbara and Paul have named him "Blackie Dog".

They are not sure if they adopted Blackie Dog, or did Blackie Dog adopt them, but it is evident this is a story with a happy ending - Blackie Dog is respectfully enjoying his new happy home with the Hnatiw's.

Thank you Paul and Barbara!

Missed the First 'Songs and Stories of the Sixties'? There's More!

Hurleyville, NY - The Sullivan County Historical Society is pleased to present the second in a series of free performances and informal talks about the history and culture of the Woodstock era. "Live Music and History: Songs and Stories of the Sixties" is hosted by Little Sparrow and will feature some of the most talented guitarists in our area.

On Sunday, April 8, from 2-3 p.m., guest guitarist Steve Schwartz will join guitarist Aldo Troiani of Little Sparrow in performing and discussing the songs and the guitars that made the '60s such an important time in music history.

Steve is a local legend, both for his extraordinary guitar-playing as well as for his famously eclectic and musician-friendly store in Rock Hill (Steve's Music). He has performed with numerous local bands, including Jazzmosis and the Rock Hill Ramblers.

This series of performances and talks will continue on the first Sunday of each month at the Sullivan County Museum and Cultural Center, inside the intimate Timeline Gallery. The following month (Sunday, May 6), Little Sparrow will be joined by saxophonist Larry Ravdin. Larry spent many years playing the illustrious Catskill resorts, accompanying such greats as Sammy Davis Jr., Rita Moreno and Chita Rivera.

Donations are welcomed to benefit the Sullivan County Historical Society. The Cultural Center is located at 265 Main Street in the revitalized downtown of Hurleyville. For more information, visit www.scny-history.org or call 845-434-8044.

Ag District Applications Available

Monticello, NY - Between April 1 and 30, Sullivan County is accepting applications from property owners seeking to be included in New York State Agricultural Districts 1 and 4.

New York State Agricultural Districts are geographic areas consisting predominantly of viable agricultural land. Ag operations within the districts are afforded benefits and protections to promote the continuation of farming and the preservation of agricultural land. These benefits include protection of farm operations from unreasonably restrictive local laws, limitations on assessments for newly formed benefit districts, and notification to local governments of projects that could adversely affect farmland.

There are two New York State Agricultural Districts in Sullivan County. Agricultural District 1 encompasses towns in northern and western Sullivan County, and Agricultural District 4 covers the County's eastern and southern towns.

For parcels to be included in an Ag District, they must be predominantly viable agricultural land. New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets Law defines "viable agricultural land" as land "highly suitable for agricultural production and which will continue to be economically feasible for such use if real property taxes, farm use restrictions and speculative activities are limited to levels approximating those in commercial agricultural areas not influenced by the proximity of non-agricultural development."

Applications are available by calling Melinda Meddaugh at Cornell Cooperative Extension of Sullivan County at 845-292-6180, or by emailing her atmm2592@cornell.edu.

Applications will be reviewed by the Sullivan County Agricultural and Farmland Protection Board, who will then make recommendations to the County Legislature regarding property to be added to the districts this year. The County Legislature will hold a public hearing and then vote on the approval of each recommended addition.

Subsequent to County approval, an updated district map with a report showing the new parcels for inclusion in the districts will be submitted to the State Department of Agriculture and Markets for its approval. Upon approval by Agriculture and Markets, each property owner will be notified by mail, and the real property tax records for each parcel will be updated. Applicants will receive notification by the fall.

More information on the benefits of agricultural districts, as well as access to maps of Sullivan County's agricultural districts, is available on the Sullivan County website atwww.co.sullivan.ny.us. Type "Agricultural Districts" in the search box, or click on "Agricultural Districts" from the Planning Division page.

A Round About Tri-Valley

Carol Furman

Congratulations to Julio and Annie Ayala of Neversink on the birth of their son, Kaiden J., on February 20th.

Kudos to Eli and Shane Williams, two Tri-Valley students who were injured in an off-road vehicle accident in 2016, for being selected as the Maria Fareri Children's Hospital "2018 Champions". The Williams boys were chosen to act as ambassadors, representing the State of NY and the Hospital, to raise funds and awareness in recognition of their bravery during their medical challenges and extended hospital stay.

The Tri-Valley Music Concert, held on March 14th, was excellent! The students, representing grades 4-12 performed to a packed auditorium.

Cub Scout Pack 87 held their annual Blue and Gold Banquet at the Neversink Firehouse on March 16th. An "Arrow of Light and Bridging Ceremony" was held for Webelos 2 boys who will be moving- up to Boy Scouts. The following boys were recognized for their accomplishments: Jonathan Allison, Tyler Conjura, Van Furman, Shayne LaForge, Trevor Osterhout and Wil^m Seward.

Retired Tri-Valley teacher, Kate Kelly, will be traveling to Honduras on a mission trip in April. This is Kate's third trip to visit and help Honduran youth. This year the mission team will be focusing on distributing children's vitamins and dental supplies. Monetary contributions are welcome for food distributions to poor communities. Checks can be made out to Olancho Aid Foundation and sent to P.O. Box 482, Neversink, NY 12765.

The Grahamsville Reformed Church Roast Pork Dinner, which was planned and advertised for several months and was originally scheduled for Saturday, April 14th, will now be held on April 21st. This date change is due to the fact that the Neversink Fire Department recently announced a roast pork dinner fund-raiser for the same night, April 14th. Each week in The Townsman, there is a "Calendar of Events" on the next- to- the- last page of the paper. This listing is hoped to prevent clubs and groups from scheduling events for the same day. Obviously, two roast pork dinners held in our Town on the same night wouldn't have benefited anyone.

Don't forget the Boy Scout Troop 97 Fish or Chicken and Chips dinner planned for Saturday, April 7th from 4:30 - 6:30 at the Neversink Firehouse. Monies raised from the dinner help the Scouts with their camping expenses and other Scout activity costs.

Did anyone happen to read Jim Boxberger's column in the Democrat regarding apple cider vinegar? Jim states that "WebMd" lists some of the benefits which might be derived from taking a tablespoon of raw vinegar containing the "mother" every day. Some of the claimed benefits are: weight loss, slows digestion, relieves leg cramps, aids upset stomach, helps sore throats, helps with sinus problems, lowers high blood pressure, lowers cholesterol, improves circulation and the list goes on. I've been taking a spoon of raw vinegar mixed with a small amount of water at bedtime for years. Does it help?? It can't hurt!

Words of Wisdom: No one is ever old enough to know better. (Holbrook Jackskon)

Tri-Valley PTO Father Daughter Dance

Kindergartners - 6th grade and 6th through 8th grade elementary school students are encouraged to bring their father, step-father, uncle, grandfather, or any important male figure, to enjoy an evening of dancing and light refreshments on April 21st.

We will have face painting, photographer, and ice cream station. Cost is $5 per family.

Legislators Distribute $236,000 To Various Community Groups

(From Pg. 2) • $20,000 to the United Way of Sullivan County to provide a part-time assistant to the chief professional officer (the sole employee at this time)

- $8,000 to the Town of Wallkill Boys & Girls Clubs to aid its afterschool program at Liberty Elementary School
- $7,000 to Delaware Highlands Conservancy to support the Eagle Watch Program, including recruiting volunteers, developing bus excursions, assisting schools in transporting kids to view bald eagles, and offering programs free of charge to children from low-income families

- $6,500 to the Community Foundation of Orange & Sullivan for its 2018 Leadership Summit, "Healthy Sullivan"

- $5,000 to Literacy Volunteers of Sullivan County to continue to provide free services to adults Countywide who struggle with reading and/or speaking English

"This program uses dedicated funds in the County budget to assist efforts we as a Legislature want to support," explained Legislature Chairman Luis Alvarez (District 6).

"It's not just about legislating and advocating - we look for opportunities to go beyond words and put real money behind real efforts," added Legislature Vice Chair Nadia Rajsz (District 2).

"These funds can make a key difference for these organizations and the people they serve," noted District 1 Legislator Scott Samuelson.

"Having chaired the board of a nonprofit in the past, I know how critical this money is to operations and outreach," said District 3 Legislator Mark McCarthy.

"I'm proud to commit these monies to such worthy causes throughout the County," affirmed District 4 Legislator Catherine Owens.

"Deepening and widening the impact of these agencies and nonprofits positively affects the well-being of everyone in the County," said District 5 Legislator Terri Ward.

"We want folks to know that we care about what they care about: quality of life, access to services, activities for their kids, healthy and attractive communities, etc.," remarked District 7 Legislator Joe Perrello.

"I know many of the leaders of these organizations, and they have thoughtfully and wisely spent the funds we've given their groups in past years, so I look forward to what they'll accomplish with these monies in 2018," explained District 8 Legislator Ira Steingart.

"Our communities would not be what they are without groups such as these, and I am grateful we can help support their efforts in this way," added District 9 Legislator Alan Sorensen.

Applications for 2019 will be accepted later this year, with public notification beforehand. The purpose of the application process is to identify local entities, including community and not-for-profit organizations throughout Sullivan County that have specific needs or countywide significance by tying applications to identified County and municipal goals. The applicant must be a not-for-profit agency or civic organization operating within Sullivan County that is not part of County government.

Be a Part of Local Storm Response

Swan Lake, NY - The National Weather Service will be holding a SKYWARN Basic course in Sullivan County on April 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the Emergency Services Training Center in Swan Lake. There is no cost to attend.

"The SKYWARN spotter program is an essential part of severe weather, flood and winter storm warning operations, as real-time reports from on-site spotters help forecasters immensely," says District 5 Legislator Terri Ward, chair of the Legislature's Public Safety Committee. "Additionally, reports assist local emergency management officials by focusing them on the areas most impacted by storms, such as what we just faced here in the County. Severe weather, flood and winter weather reports also help officials and scientists document storm frequency in Sullivan County, which can be useful for planning, mitigation and preparedness. Spotter reports also can be critical during disaster declarations, so by attending this course, you can become an important part of the team response."

If you are interested in attending this course, please register through the National Weather Service at www.weather.gov/bgm/outreachskywarntraining.

Nature Column - Linda Comando

A tribute to the memory of all of the Townsman ladies that we have lost and loved so much... Peggy DeWire, Avril Pappa, Joan Hall, Polly Hill, Joyce Lockhart and Jean Helthaler.

Here Comes a Cottontail - Hopping Down the Bunny Trail!

Cottontail rabbits are common throughout most parts of the Catskills and can be seen year-round. They have grayish-brown fur, with a reddish-brown neck, and a white tail and are easily recognized by their long ears.

Cottontails found south or west of the Hudson River are considered Appalachian, those found north and east are considered New England. Until recently (1992) the Appalachian cottontail rabbit was thought to be a species of the New England cottontail since they are extremely similar in appearance. One outstanding feature of the Appalachian cottontail is a black spot between its ears. However, scientists distinguish between the two by comparing the bone structure of the skull from above. The Appalachian cottontail has a jagged suture line, while in the Eastern cottontail it is smooth. The suture line is where the nasal bones attach to the skull.

Cottontails usually live in brushy areas where they can hide and are often found near fields or woods where there is protection. Some of their favorite places to hide are under small pine trees, shrubs, tangled vines, briars, and tall grasses.

Cottontails do not dig their own dens (other than nest holes) but use burrows dug by other species

Cottontails are very territorial. When chased, they will run in a zigzag pattern, running up to 18 mph.

The cottontail is chunky in appearance with large hind feet, long ears and a short fluffy white tail. Its underside fur is white. There is a rusty patch on the tail. During winter the cottontail's fur is more gray than brown. The total length of a cottontail rabbit measures between 14-19 inches, including a small tail that averages 2.1 in. Their average weight is 2.6 lb. The female tends to be heavier, although the sexes broadly overlap in size.

Cottontails are generally twilight to nocturnal feeders and usually spend most of the daylight hours resting in shallow depressions under vegetative cover or other shelter. Although, they can be seen at any time of day, and are most active when visibility is limited, such as rainy or foggy nights as cottontails are preyed upon by many different animals including raccoons, fox, hawks, owls, crows, snakes, opossum, cats, and dogs. Most cottontail rabbits live only about a year, a good reason that rabbits breed so often.

During breeding season the males will fight each other and do a "dance" for the females. Females make a nest lined with plant parts and fur from their belly. The nest is in the ground and shallow. Cottontails will have three to four litters every year and up to nine young per litter.

Reproductive maturity occurs at about 2 to 3 months of age. A majority of females first breed the spring following birth. Males will mate with more than one female. The annual productivity of females may be as high as 35 young Cottontail young are born with a very fine coat of hair and are blind. Their eyes begin to open by 4 to 7 days. Mothers nurse their young in the morning and evening. The young begin to move out of the nest for short trips by 12 to 16 days and are completely weaned and independent by 4 to 5 weeks and the litter disperses at about 7 weeks.

'Tis the season of new life and baby bunnies.

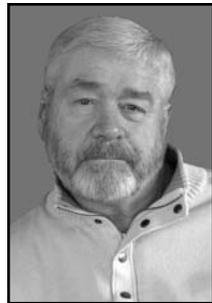

Although he is not exactly the Cottontail described in this week's Nature Column, the Easter Bunny is scheduled to be at the Grahamsville Fairgrounds at 11 am sharp this Saturday! Thank you to the Grahamsville Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary for making the arrangements for this event.

Happy Easter!

Light It Up

Mysterious Book Report No. 327

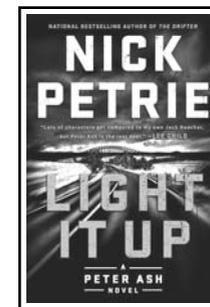

by John Dwaine McKenna

As a fifty-plus year resident here in Colorado, the question I'm most often asked by out-of-state friends is: How has the legalization of marijuana affected things there? The short answer . . . stoners love it and are flocking here in large numbers, as are criminals; government is ecstatic over the windfall from tax revenues; cops, school administrators and the armed forces are apoplectic about it. But, if you'd like to learn more about this controversial subject, while at the same time having an enjoyable, legal experience . . . and keep all of your clothes on . . .

Light It Up, (Putnam, $26.00, 384 pages, ISBN 978-0-399-57563-1) by Nick Petrie, will introduce you to Peter Ash, an ex-marine warrior who raises bad-assery to such a high-level that even Lee Child—who rose to international fame on the back of Jack Reacher—sat up, took notice and wrote a book blurb.

In this, the third Peter Ash novel, (after Burning Bright and The Drifter), finds him in Denver, “Just for a few days, doing a favor for a friend,” named Henry Nygaard, a man he met while repairing hiking trails up in Oregon's remote Willamette National Forest. Ash was supposed to hook up with girlfriend Juna Cassidy back in eastern Oregon, but puts the rendezvous on hold because trouble is brewing in Denver. That's where Henry's daughter, Elle runs a company called Heavy Metal Protection, which performs armed escort duties for the cannabis industry. Because Federal law prohibits the use and sale of pot, weed, ganja, or whatever else it's called, banks refuse to deal with the entire industry. They're federally chartered and insured, so, all transactions with the cannabis crowd take place in cash. Cash only. Cash on the barrelhead. No checks, Visa, Mastercard, Diners Club, American Express, I.O.U.'s or promises of any kind. Cash means cash . . . and cash means trouble. Elle's husband Randy, her operations manager Leonard and three hundred thousand dollars in cash have gone missing. And by the end of his first day on the job, three of Peter Ash's friends, including Henry Nygaard, are dead, and Ash himself has killed four armed hijackers. And that, dear readers, is only the first few chapters in this explosive thriller that features one of the most compelling and deadly characters to come along since Clint played Dirty Harry. If you crave action, adventure and high drama that just never quits, Peter Ash is your go-to guy!

Fallsburg JHS Robotics Team Triumphs in New York; Returns to World Championships

(From Pg. 1) At the end of the NYS tournament, the three Fallsburg middle school teams were ranked first, second and fourth in New York State. Team 99561D led by Kai Odell Schreier, Hannah Nicolai, and Michael Storms won the Skills Award, Excellence Award, and were the Tournament Champions in the Middle School Division.

On March 19, the Fallsburg Board of Education honored the entire Robotics Team of 7th through 12 graders for their achievements, authorized the trip to Kentucky and wished them luck at the World Championship. In thanking the Board, Coach Thomas reflected on how far the students have come in the four years since the team began. The interest has grown considerably in numbers of students and in abilities. As representatives of New York State at the World Championship, Fallsburg is one of 188 teams. VEX Robotics teams number over 18,000 and are located in 40 different countries.

“We have a much stronger shot to be in the finals this year,” said Coach Thomas. “We have learned a lot of new techniques. We have upped our game in programming, and we just have better bots this year. Fallsburg is gaining a solid reputation in the competitive world, and other teams seek to partner with the Comets when they determine ‘alliances’ at the events.”

FCSD is excited about the successes of these students and will get a chance to view their team via Livestream connection webcast. Alvarez Named to Statewide Public Safety Committee Monticello, NY - Sullivan County Legislature Chairman Luis Alvarez has been appointed to the New York State Association of Counties' (NYSAC's) Standing Committee on Public Safety.

“NYSAC's standing committees play an important role in helping us shape our policies and positions on legislative issues,” NY SAC President MaryEllen Odell wrote to Alvarez in a letter confirming his appointment. “Your experience and knowledge will add to the quality of our deliberations, and I hope you are able to serve.”

“I am honored to be selected for this important committee, which advocates for numerous public safety issues on behalf of counties at the State and federal levels,” Alvarez remarked. “I hope to be able to share what I've learned from more than three decades as a local Sheriff's deputy, in addition to my service as a legislator and longtime community advocate.”

NYSAC represents, educates and advocates for New York's 62 counties and their taxpayers before Federal, State and Local officials on matters germane to County governments. For more information, visit www.nysac.org.

Free Agriculture Career & Job Fair at SUNY Sullivan

LOCH SHELDRAKE, NY-New York State is a leading agricultural state with 36,300 farms that produced $4.7 billion in products in 2010. New York ranks among the largest producers in the nation for some products, including ranking second in wine production.

An Agriculture Career & Job Fair will be held on Wednesday, April 4, 2018. Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County (CCESC) partners with SUNY Sullivan to offer this free job fair from 10:00 am to 1:30 pm at SUNY Sullivan's E-Lobby space across from the Grover Hermann Memorial Library at 112 College Road in Loch Sheldrake.

“While the face of local agriculture has changed over the last three decades, the sector is alive and well, still the number three economic driver in Sullivan County,” said Colleen Monaghan, CCESC executive director.

Job seekers, youth, and others can explore new and existing agriculture-related career and internship opportunities. Farmers and agricultural business owners can connect with potential employees and bring awareness to the opportunities the agriculture industry has to offer.

For more information, contact Nat Tompkins, CCESC agriculture business program coordinator at njt54@cornell.edu or 845-292-6180 ext. 107.

This free event is co-sponsored by SUNY Sullivan and Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County.

Sullivan County Releases Annual Recycling Data for 2017

Monticello, NY - Sullivan County is pleased to announce another great year for the Countywide recycling program.

In 2017, Sullivan County recycled over 12 million pounds of materials through its transfer stations, offices and recycling facilities. This includes:

- 3,337 tons of single-stream recycling/mixed containers
- 1,019 tons of cardboard/paper
- 1,005 tons of scrap metal
- 225 tons of electronics
- 182 tons of tires
- 132 tons of textiles
- 104 tons of used motor oil/antifreeze
- 8.3 tons of household hazardous waste

These figures are just the tip of the recycling data iceberg, since many Sullivan County businesses have internal back ship arrangements for recyclables that never come to County facilities for weighing or processing. Although materials handled privately do not get weighed or recorded by the County's system, local businesses benefit from the return sale of these items nonetheless. Local businesses are finding that recycling is good for the environment AND the bottom line.

“Recycling is a great way to cut down on the amount of garbage we produce, which in turn saves customers money through avoided disposal costs at County solid waste facilities,” said Public Works Committee Chairman Joe Perrello. “By recycling cans, glass, plastic bottles and paper, and by throwing away one less bag of trash each week, a family could save $8 monthly or $104 annually by paying to throw out fewer bags of trash!”

“Recycling is all about conserving natural resources,” he added, “and Sullivan County residents and businesses have shown a willingness to do just that.”

For additional information about waste reduction strategies, reuse and recycling, as well as transfer stations' hours of operation, please contact the Sullivan County Department of Solid Waste & Recycling at 845-807-0290. Or visit <http://co.sullivan.ny.us/Departments/SolidWaste-Recycling/tabid/3198/Default.aspx>.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Obsolescence

When I went to college, I had to buy a slide rule for my science courses. I had to take two years of General Education Core Courses including learning about Asian and African Civilization. I remember memorizing countries' names that no longer exist. I remember reading in my biology book that the human body had 48 chromosomes. It does not. I took a course called New Math that is now Old Math.

I have lots of skills, including diagramming sentences, that really have no place in this modern world. Learning the syntax and vocabulary of English is so engrained in me that I cringe and wince when I read FaceBook posts that fracture our native tongue. Actually, my high school typing class was the most valuable because I can work my way around a key board like a pro. Believe it or not, Latin helps me with vocabulary and spelling. These skills enable me to be a whiz at Wheel of Fortune.

I admit it; I am a dinosaur looking around to see what is obsolescing around me. I cannot imagine what is coming next. Flying cars, self-driving cars, children and prisoners chipped like dogs, and satellite-wifi making the world a hotter "hot spot" than it already is from global warming. I am not sure how I would advise the youth to prepare for a career in the future.

Just in the past two decades, the following have disappeared from our culture:

fountain pens; carbon paper; film; VCR's; Cassettes ad CD players in cars; iPods; The Dewey. Decimal System; Stockings, girdles and garter belts; Alarm clocks; Mimeograph machines and hand calculators;

Now, "There's an App for that." There are things on their way out which may be obsolete by the printing of this column like telephone directories, cook books, retail stores, banks, even cash.

As my mind spins imagining the future, I am grateful for some things that never change...like plain old potato chips and coffee. They help fortify me to face the future.

The Olive Free Library (OFL) hosts a new Art Exhibition: Two Neighbors

The Olive Free Library (OFL) hosts a new Art Exhibition: Two Neighbors: Town of Denning Artists in the Town of Olive in its Community Room Art Gallery. Come on Saturday, April 14, 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. to the Olive Free Library to meet the artists from Olive's neighbor Denning, from burgeoning new photographer, Amanda Barnum, to Mercedes Catania's provocative drawings, to critically acclaimed visual artist Orlando Reyes, to Joerg Madlener, a German painter and set designer, and others.

The genesis of this exhibition is the passion of a new member of the Olive Free Library's Art Exhibition Committee, Ed Mues. Not an artist himself, Ed is a confessed 'art junkie' from childhood. A former Town of Olive resident, he retains a deep fondness for the Olive Free Library from his 1976 migration from NYC.

An avid reader, Ed came across an OFL ad looking for volunteers for the Exhibition Committee. A brief meeting was all that was necessary. Ed had an assignment near and dear to his heart. Two neighboring towns in Ulster County sharing a single road, Peekamoose Road, seem destined to share art with one another. This was Ed's vision as his first assignment; the committee embraced it.

Ed's residency in Denning began in October 1989. As has always been his forte, he rapidly befriended artists of many and diverse disciplines: amateurs and professionals. Ed's take on it all? Every artist starts as an amateur.

Participating Artists:

Amanda Barnum

Amanda Barnum has lived in Sundown her whole life. She developed a passion for photography while studying at SUNY Sullivan from 2001 to 2004. Amanda graduated with an AAS in Computer Graphics and an AAS in Photography. She enjoys taking pictures of nature.

Hovey Brock

The basic question that guides Hovey Brock's practice is "What is subjective experience?" Is it an illusion, an epiphenomenon of our conscious processes, or something else? Different media give Hovey different perspectives. In painting, he observes how his own consciousness plays out as the recursive process of building a surface creates the work. The time-based medium of video mirrors the flow of subjective experience. In social practice, he sees how his self-awareness requires a social context in order to come into being.

Mercedes Catania

Mercedes Catania is a student of healing and justice and an uncontrollable doodler. As a descendant of "real" artists, she never thought she could claim that title. Yet art is something Mercedes can't keep from coming out of her. Strange, abstract and often simple, she began to channel drawings to assist in energy healing. When Mercedes realized the impact these had on clients' energy fields, she understood how healing even the most simple drawings could be. Her life is a process and her art is an anchor, a healer, and a mirror.

Steve Ellis

Steve Ellis is an artist working in Denning, N.Y. and New York's Lower East Side. He paints lighters, ripped print media, ripped print media on fire, crumpled packaging, guitar picks, whiskey bottles, broken bottles, crashed cars, and bad weather. All subjects represent a narrative parallel inspired by experience. For near 20 years he has exhibited nationally and internationally in spaces ranging from the Conde Nast lobby at 4 Times Square to the Jerry Lee Williams Memorial Outhouse Gallery in upstate New York. Steve's series have investigated the transitory beauty of mundane to glamorous, dangerous and disposable still lifes, and uses pop culture iconography to explore various issues including contemporary consumerism, idolatry, the environment and the death of print media. Ellis' works are held in private collections in Tokyo, Rome, Australia, Seoul, Moscow, Singapore, Abu Dhabi, Los Angeles, Chicago, Miami, Dallas, New York, and London.

Jim Lee

Jim Lee is represented by Nicelle Beauchene, NYC. He has shown internationally at Galerie VidalCuglietta, Brussels; Motus Fort, Tokyo; FDC Satellite, Brussels; and Galerie Markus Winter, Berlin. Additionally, he has been included in exhibitions at Ratio 3, San Francisco; LAND, Los Angeles; Islip Art Museum, NY; Galerie Ruth Leuchter, Dusseldorf; Galerie Lelong, New York; Andrae Kaufmann Gallery, Berlin; IMOCA, Indianapolis; White Flag Projects, St. Louis; Atlanta Contemporary Art Center, Atlanta; Larry Becker Contemporary Art, Philadelphia; and the Neuberger Museum of Art in Purchase, NY. Lee lives and works in Brooklyn, NY and has a home in Denning, NY.

Joerg Madlener

Joerg Madlener is a German visual artist who was born in 1939. As an artist in painting, drawing, and photography he has been assistant professor at the Technical University in Darmstadt, Germany and in two Art Academies in Brussels. He is the founder and director of International Dolomite Academy for Painting and Digital Photography in Italy from 2000 to 2005. He studied architecture and philosophy, and teaches art theory. He has been a set designer for theater and opera in Belgium, Netherlands, Germany, and the U.S. His work is in public collections like Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, the Museum of Modern Art in Brussels, and the Bayrische Staatsgemaltesammlung in Munich among others. Joerg shares his time between N.J. and Denning.

Pixie Piera

Born in Woodstock, New York, of artist parents, who were part of the Maverick art colony, Pixie Piera was educated in Woodstock and New York City. Banderas Piera was started in 1977, first making decorative banners and evolving into Jackets, Coats and Doublets. The name Banderas, Spanish for banners or flags, was chosen first for its description of the initial objects. Over time Pixie realized that the garments she made were really banners of personal expression for the people who bought them, whether intentional or not. She created these expressions for specific individuals even though she had not yet met them personally. Esoterically 'custom made'. Each time someone would buy a jacket, the transaction became a very special experience. For the maker and for the owner!

Orlando Reyes

Orlando Reyes is a painter, curator and arts entrepreneur residing in Jersey City, New Jersey. His paintings are experimental compositions of chemical reactions, in which paint fractals manifest as studies of life, line, and nature. Born in 1968 to Puerto Rican parents, Reyes grew up during the birth of Hip Hop, and found his creative voice through break dancing and graffiti. An early exposure to large scale, public painting via graffiti, led Reyes to pursue two apprenticeships under established fine art painters in 1983. In 1991, Reyes took his art to a public realm as he helped launch a series of socially engaged, street-based art campaigns around controversial issues such as AIDS, art censorship, and the corporate irresponsibility. His travels took him to Europe from 2000-2003, where he carried out various solo shows and private commissions in fine art metropolises, including Copenhagen, Brussels, Paris, and Florence. His love for and mastery of color and pigment eventually led him into an abstract and non-linear approach, culminating in the complete abandonment of brushes. Reyes' present day painting approach incorporates the use of specially designed tools as a way of pursuing an organic, pigment-centered style. His cultural, urban, and nomadic roots resonate throughout his art. Reyes' work continues to be exhibited in galleries, museums and in public, both nationally and internationally. He shares his time between N.J. and Denning.

Saito San

Saito San was born in 1928 in Shizuoka, Japan. He graduated from Kanazawa College of Art in 1952 and received a scholarship to attend the Art Students League from 1958-1959. Saito San studied oil painting and lithography. He returned to the United States in 1966 and now resides in upstate New York. In 1969, Saito's painting was published in Time Life Magazine for the Osaka Expo 70 campaign. Later, the same painting was purchased and placed in the permanent art collection at S.C. Johnson & Son. He won awards in The Chautauqua New York National Art Festival in 1960, The Boston Art Festival in 1960, The North Shore Art Society in Little Neck Long Island in 1971, and The Cooperstown Clark Memorial in

The Piano Plus! Concert Series is celebrating its fifth season with a concert featuring Joanne Polk at Olive Free Library

West Shokan, NY: Each spring for the past five years the Olive Free Library in West Shokan has hosted the Piano Plus! Concert series featuring world-class pianists along with guest performers. Tickets are a suggested $12 donation at the door. The second concert of the series will feature Joanne Polk playing selections from Cecile Chaminade, Fanny Mendelssohn, Amy Beach, and more.

Pianist Joanne Polk was catapulted into the public eye with her recordings of the complete piano works of American composer Amy Beach (1867-1944) on the Arabesque Recordings label. Ms. Polk celebrated the centennial of Beach's Piano Concerto by giving the work its London premiere with the English Chamber Orchestra at the Barbican Center under the baton of Paul Goodwin. A few days later, Ms. Polk performed the Piano Concerto with the Women's Philharmonic in San Francisco with conductor Apo Hsu in a performance described as "brilliant" by critic Joshua Kosman of the San Francisco Chronicle. He went on to describe Ms. Polk's performance as, "an enormously vital, imaginative reading. Her playing was expansive in the opening movement, brittle and keen in the delightful scherzo. She brought a light touch to the foreshortened slow movement and fearless technical panache to the showy conclusion."

The first recording in the Beach series, by the still waters, received the 1998 INDIE award for best solo recording. Empress of Night, the fifth volume of Ms. Polk's survey of Beach's piano works, includes the Piano Concerto with the English Chamber Orchestra, Paul Goodwin conducting. (Contd. Pg. 7)

The FamilyMemoir, PROSILIO...

... in Greek means "Toward the Sun," was written by Carol Olsen LaMonda. Carol writes the column "The Olive Jar" for Ye Olde Tri-Valley Townsman. This local author has been busy guesting at book clubs who have chosen this local memoir as their book choice. Each year, as summer approaches, the story of a carefree vacation in the Catskills should be added to your summer "must-read" list. The memoir is available at Amazon or Barnes and Noble on-line as a soft or hard cover or as a downloadable e-book for Nook or Kindle. Go to amazon.com or barnesandnoble.com and type in Prosilio in the search to order your copy of Prosilio and the Larks played their hearts out. We in the audience shouted ourselves hoarse with gratitude."

Before recording the complete piano music of Amy Beach, Ms. Polk recorded Completely Clara: Lieder by Clara Wieck Schumann, her debut CD for Arabesque Recording, featuring Metropolitan Opera soprano Korliss Uecker. This CD was selected as a "Best of the Year" recording by The Seattle Times and was featured on Performance Today on New York Public Radio. Ms. Polk's CD for Albany Records, Callisto, features the solo piano music of Judith Lang Zaimont. Her 2007 CD titled Songs of Amy Beach, recorded with baritone Patrick Mason for Bridge Records, was nominated for a 2007 Grammy Award. In 2010, Ms. Polk's two-CD set of solo piano music by Fanny Mendelssohn Hensel, Songs for Pianoforte, was released on the Newport Classic label. Ms. Polk's solo piano CD, titled Fanny and Felix Mendelssohn, was released in June 2012 on the Bridge Records label.

In September 2014, Ms. Polk's CD titled The Flatterer, solo piano music of French Romantic composer Cécile Chaminade, was released on the Steinway and Sons Label. The CD was a "Pick of the Week" on New York's classical radio station WQXR and debuted at number 1 on the Classical Billboard Chart. In September 2017, Joanne Polk's most recent CD, Gershwin & Wild, was released on the Steinway and Sons Label and features Earl Wild's transcriptions of Gershwin songs, as well as Wild's Piano

Sonata. American Record Guide called Ms. Polk's playing on this CD, "plush and dreamily attractive..."

In December 2014, Joanne Polk was named as one of Musical America's Top 30 Professionals of the Year in an article titled, "Profiles in Courage." Ms. Polk's profile focused on her work promoting the music of women composers.

Ms. Polk received her Bachelor of Music and Master of Music Degrees from The Juilliard School and her Doctor of Musical Arts Degree from Manhattan School of Music. She has given master classes at many summer festivals and universities across the country, including Summit Music Festival, New York Summer Music Festival, Montclair State University, Kutztown University, and at the University of Minnesota. Sullivan County Activists Attend Planned Parenthood Day of Action in Albany on March 13th

On Tuesday, March 13th, twelve Planned Parenthood volunteers from Sullivan County traveled to Albany to attend the Planned Parenthood Lobby Day along with another 1,500 like minded men and women. The attendees listened to speeches from NYS Governor Andrew Cuomo, Planned Parenthood President Cecile Richards, NYS Comptroller Thomas DiNapoli, NYS Senate Democratic Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins, NYS Assembly Leader Carl Heastie and others. At approximately 3:00pm, after several hours of lobbying our representatives, the NYS Assembly voted on the Women's Agenda legislation with the passage of three bills. We are very proud to have been involved in achieving this victory! The Sullivan County group included Joan Stoddard (SCDC Liberty Committeewoman & DWSC Secretary), Carol Montana (SCDC Executive Comm., Neversink Democratic Comm. & DWSC Vice President) and Donna Schick (SCDC Chairwoman, NYS Democratic Rural Conference Board Member, NYS Fed. of Democratic Women President & Sullivan County Human Rights Commissioner.) Other local activist volunteers included Barb Schmitt, Cindy Coker, Alexandra Lalieu, Kevin McDaniel, Victoria Smith, Brandon Jersey, Janet Barbarite, Mary Mancuso, and Eva deNardis.

This was a first time experience for several delegation members who found the day exhilarating and empowering to see firsthand how government operates. They also realized that some aspects of the Women's Agenda easily were passed in the State Assembly but may not come to a vote in the State Senate unless more constituents voice their strong support. Volunteers will be calling for telephone calls to be placed and letters to be written in order to achieve the progress that is required for the women of New York.

Summer Is Just Months Away - and so is Camp!

While it may be hard to think about summer plans when snow is still on the ground, summer is just a few months away and this the perfect time to start thinking about fun, safe, and active ways for your child or teen to spend their days when school's out.

Registration is in full swing for Frost Valley YMCA's various Overnight and Day Camp programs and sessions are filling fast. Frost Valley provides an enriching summer experience to children ages four-17. Counselors extensively trained in childcare and recreation lead campers through days of adventure and excitement, with a foundation focused on achievement, relationships, and belonging.

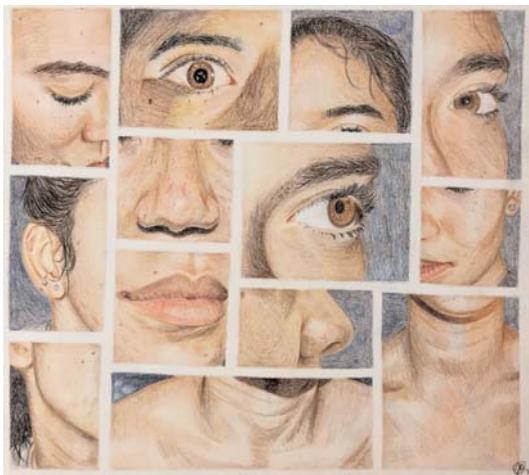

Frost Valley YMCA Day Camp offers children in our community various one- or two-week sessions between June 25 and August 31, and registration is available online at FrostValley.org or by calling 845-985-2291. For families who would like to visit the camp first, or have other questions, Frost Valley is hosting several free Day Camp Open House informational events this spring. During an Open House, families tour the grounds where camp is held; learn about Frost Valley's fun programs, secure environment, and experienced leadership; and discover how day camp can help a child or teen build confidence and character while having fun and making friends.

Day Camp Open Houses will take place April 29, May 20, and June 10 from 10am-1pm, and the last two Overnight Camp Open Houses will take place on April 15 and May 20 from 11:30am-3pm. If these Sundays don't work for you, Frost Valley is happy to accommodate a private tour. Families who attend a free open house will enjoy a tour, presentation, Q&A session, lunch in the camp's dining hall, and more. Please contact Frost Valley in advance to reserve your spot.

Don't forget! Mark your calendars to enjoy an afternoon of family fun and wellness at Frost Valley YMCA on Sunday, May 20, from 1-4 pm during Healthy Kids Day. Although the event is free, reservations are highly recommended, and can be made at 845-985-2291 or FrostValley.org/Contact-Us.

Cochecton Artist Allan Rubin To Show Tin Can Sculptures at DVAA

"Canon," an exhibition of Allan Rubin's sculptures inspired by self portraits of famous artists, opens at Delaware Valley Arts Alliance, 37 Main St, Narrowsburg, NY on Friday, April 6, with a reception from 7 to 9 pm. The show will be on view at the Alliance Gallery through May 5. The exhibit will feature almost 50 small-scale painted sculptures fashioned from recycled metal food cans.

"I began this series of reinterpreted masters' self portraits as three-dimensional sculptures made of metal cans," Rubin says. "I recreate each artist's image and emulate his/her style on shapes the cans dictate."

A few years ago Rubin reinvented himself at an age that many people might think of retiring. "My studio was full to overflowing with outrageously large and unwieldy pieces that I felt were no longer taking me forward," Rubin recalls. "Thanks to DVAA's annual Art In Sixes show, I experimented with using recycled metal food cans as a medium upon which to paint smaller portraits. This led to a desire to represent and celebrate the canon of painting masters that has inspired and influenced me from the beginning as a painter," he says.

Supportive friends supplied Rubin with their used cans. Even local restaurants chipped in their bags of recyclable large juice and sauce cans. Coffee cans became heads, tomato and olive oil cans the torsos. Bean cans made great arms. Sardine cans were best for hands.

Rubin notes that when he was a student in the late 1960s, his art history textbook did not include a single female painter. "I intend to try to remedy that oversight by including as many worthy women artists as I can Google," he says.

This is the fifth solo show at DVAA for Rubin, who received a BFA in Painting at The Cooper Union in 1970. Over his nearly 50 year career he has gone from painting surreal landscapes to large shaped aerial interpretations of New York City and the Delaware River Valley (DVAA, 1992), to aerial topographical painted constructions (DVAA, 1994), through expressionistic landscapes (DVAA, 1998), large branch and canvas abstract portrait sculptures (DVAA, 2007), and now to smaller figural painted sculptures in oil on metal cans.

Born, raised and schooled in New York City, Rubin relocated with his life partner Candy Spilner to Cochecton, NY in 1989. They have thrived in our creative community of friends and neighbors, and frequently exhibit at galleries across Sullivan County.

Delaware Valley Arts Alliance is located at 37 Main Street, Narrowsburg, NY. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 am - 5 pm. The activities of the Delaware Valley Arts Alliance are made possible in part by a grant from the New York State Council on the Arts with the support of Governor Andrew Cuomo and the New York State Legislature.

Rain Gardens & Xeriscape Lessons for Gardeners in a Changing Climate

LIBERTY, NY- These are challenging times for gardeners, according to Barbara Bravo, Cornell Cooperative Extension (CCE) Ulster County Master Gardener Volunteer. In the years to come, people will need to be prepared for unaccustomed weather events, be it too much or too little precipitation and long periods of drought conditions.

The public can learn about Rain Gardens & Xeriscape on Monday, April 9, 2018. Cornell Cooperative Extension Sullivan County offers this unique workshop from 5:30 to 7:00 pm at its Extension Education Center on 64 Ferndale-Loomis Road in Liberty.

Barbara Bravo will present what conditions are needed for both garden types, how to select and prepare a site, as well as plant recommendations.

"Xeriscape, a term first defined in Denver, CO by the Denver Water Department in 1981, is a style of gardening that works naturally with nature and minimizes water use," says Bravo.

"Plants selected for Xeriscape gardens are capable of thriving without supplemental watering once established. Another important consideration is the practicality of lawns and how we might re-envision our backyards. Rain Gardens are basically a shallow sunken garden designed to capture and retain rainwater. Plants selected for these gardens are chosen for their ability to endure both flooding and dry periods. Rain Gardens process rainwater that has been redirected from impervious surfaces removing pollutants and allowing it to return to ground water, bypassing storm drains."

Cost is $ 15 per person or $10 per CCE Sullivan County enrollee. Anyone can enroll for an annual contribution of $25 and receive a monthly subscription to the Extension Connection magazine.

Registration can be completed by calling 845-292-6180, emailing sullivan@cornell.edu, or visiting www.sullivanconnection.org. Payment can be made in advance by check, cash, or credit. Program fees support the cost of instructors, refreshments, materials, and facilities.

insight on the interaction between CCA and Community Distributed Generation projects (CDGs).

"Community Choice Aggregation allows participating local governments to procure energy supply service and distributed energy resources for eligible customers in the community," explained District 4 Legislator Catherine Owens, chair of the Legislature's Agriculture and Sustainability Policy Committee. "The CCA initiative is part of New York State's 'Reforming the Energy Vision' (REV), which is Governor Andrew M. Cuomo's comprehensive energy strategy for New York. REV helps consumers make more informed energy choices, develop new energy products and services, and protect the environment while creating new jobs and economic opportunity throughout the State."

"Community Choice Aggregation can empower local communities to have more control of their overall energy costs, while encouraging investment in local clean energy development, improving customer choice and value, and protecting our environment," said Sullivan County Sustainability Coordinator Heather Brown. "It is my hope that local representatives that attend this session will leave with a clear understanding of what CCA is, and that they will feel confident in future discussions and decisions related to this initiative."

This event is free and open to the public. Town and Village board members are particularly encouraged to attend. For further information, contact the Sullivan County Office of Sustainable Energy at (845) 807-0578.

While not Ideal, the Omnibus had Priorities for the Nation and Upstate New York

The budget process in Washington is seriously broken, and the timing of this legislation - more than six months into the fiscal year - is a perfect illustration of this dysfunction. Nonetheless, the omnibus appropriations bill includes numerous priorities for Upstate New York communities, families, and businesses. Many of the provisions in this bill were issues I advocated for, including rebuilding the military, increased funding for mental health services, more robust funding for combating the opioid crisis, and numerous environmental improvements. Most important, this legislation reverses serious declines in military readiness and addresses critical priorities set forth by Defense Secretary James Mattis. President Trump signed this legislation into law on Friday afternoon. Want to know what was in the legislation? Find out by reading up on the ten priorities I highlighted here: <https://faso.house.gov/news/documentsingle.aspx?DocumentID=932>

VA Launches New Tool to Help Veterans Track Benefits Appeals

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs launched a new online tool to help veterans track the status of their appeals process in a prompt and convenient manner. The tool will allow Veterans to access detailed information about the status of their benefits appeals, and receive alerts for any actions that they may need to take as a part of the process.

This is an encouraging step forward for the VA as it has consistently fallen behind in offering veterans services that leverage the most modern technology. Last year, I voted to support H.R. 2288, the Veterans Appeals Improvement and Modernization Act of 2017, which was also signed into law by President Trump. We must continue to look for ways to improve health care for our veterans and modernize practices at the VA.

USDA Opens Grant Process for Broadband Infrastructure

Access to broadband is a necessity in a rapidly evolving world. Many rural communities in Upstate New York still lack access to broadband, and that puts students, emergency responders, businesses, and others in those communities at a disadvantage. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Community Connect Program is a great opportunity for stakeholders at the local and state levels to gain access to funding for improving broadband infrastructure in order to bridge the digital divide.

The grant process just recently opened and the deadline is May 14th. Click here to learn more about the program, including how to apply, and be sure to contact my Kinderhook office (518-610-8133) if you have any questions.

In addition, the government funding bill contains significant increases for rural broadband projects. Local officials and local internet providers should contact my office for additional information.

Senator Bonacic Supports a Package of Bills to Protect NY's First Responders

(Albany, NY)- State Senator John J. Bonacic (R/C/I-Mt. Hope) voted in favor of a package of bills today aimed at protecting New York's first responders. The legislation would increase protections for the state's law enforcement community, firefighters, and other emergency service workers, including the

"Community Heroes Protection Act."

The measures are in direct response to the numerous incidents of violence directed at New York's first responders and would increase penalties for assaults or threats to police, increase safety at correctional facilities, and increase benefits for those who became sick from their heroic service during the World Trade Center recovery.

The "Community Heroes Protection Act" was inspired by those who have lost their lives, were wounded, or targeted specifically because of their profession as community protectors, such as last year's fatal shooting of NYPD Officer Miosotis Familia. The bill (S1114A), which Senator Bonacic co-sponsors, would make certain crimes explicitly committed against law enforcement, firefighters, and first responders punishable as hate crimes.

"Our first responders are our protectors, keeping us safe from harm, and they need to know that their government has their back," said Senator Bonacic. "I'm pleased to support these bills because I know they will increase much-needed protections for these brave men and women."

In addition to the "Community Heroes Protection Act", the other pieces of legislation passed today includes:

- S1747, helps protect retired police officers from retaliation by individuals who had been arrested by the officers when they were still on active duty;
- S1984, strengthens existing penalties by creating a new crime when a terrorist threat is made against a police officer;
- S2125, prohibits civilian drone use within 1,000 feet of a correctional facility;
- S5337, expands the permitted use of TSA body image scanner devices in correctional facilities across the state as part of an effort to reduce a high level of inmate "slashing" violence through the use of smuggled blades;
- S6898B, expands line of duty sick leave to include every public officer or employee who, on the job, engaged in World Trade Center rescue, recovery, or cleanup activities; and
- S1302 increases penalties for criminals who target law enforcement through vehicle vandalism. As a result of serving and protecting communities all across the state, law enforcement personnel are placed in dangerous situations on a daily basis.

In addition to the bills taken up today, the Senate Republican conference has been a consistent advocate for the law enforcement community throughout the state. In last year's budget the Senate secured $4 million to help retrofit NYPD patrol cars and command vehicles with bulletproof windows and door panels to help save the lives of law enforcement.

Job Fair To Connect Young Adults With More Than 40 Ulster County Area Businesses

Kingston, N.Y. - Ulster County Executive Mike Hein announces that the 10th Annual Ulster County Young Adult Job Fair is being held on Thursday, April 5, 2018 from 11:00 am to 3:30 pm at the Andy Murphy Midtown Center located at 467 Broadway in Kingston. More than 40 businesses from every corner of the county are attending this event to promote jobs in healthcare, banking, recreation, retail and manufacturing. Full-time, part-time and summer jobs are all available. The job fair is open to young people ages 16 to 24.

"Our Young Adult Job Fair is a great opportunity for our young people to find work right here in Ulster County. There will be hiring managers with real job openings at this event. This is a great opportunity for any young person who is looking for a job, whether they are seeking a full-time, part-time or summer position. We urge you to join us to find what you have been looking for," said County Executive Mike Hein. "Jobs not only help young people learn vital skills and gain experience to assist them with their future endeavors, it also benefits the employers and their business."

"We are delighted with the response we have received from businesses," said Lisa Berger, Director of Ulster County's Office of Employment and Training and Workforce Development Board. "We have hiring managers looking for applicants that they can grow into long-term employees, therefore job seekers should have résumés with them and be dressed for an interview."

Anyone attending this year's job fair will be entered into a drawing for a Kindle Fire which is being generously donated by Key Bank. Attendees will also be eligible for a $25 iTunes gift card.

The Young Adult Job Fair is organized by an Ad Hoc Committee of the Ulster County Workforce Development Board with staff support from Ulster County's Office of Employment and Training.

Young adults attending the job fair should come "dressed to impress." Clothes that are clean, neat and professional are preferred. Young adults should bring copies of their résumé. If they do not have one printed out, résumés on a USB drive or emailed to themselves will be able to be printed onsite.

Businesses wishing to participate in the job fair should call: Ulster County's Office of Employment and Training (845) 340-3170. For a list of businesses attending the job fair visit: <https://www.ulsterworks.com/youth-and-young-adults>.

If you are not planning on a Yard Sale, but have gently used items you would like to donate to the Sundown UMC's Yard Sale – please arrange to bring them to the church hall by Tuesday, May 1st.
