Christmas 2011 -- Birth of a New Tradition Begins with a Townsman Volunteer Submitted by: Barbara Barkley

As the holidays approach, the giant Asian factories are kicking into high gear to provide Americans with monstrous piles of cheaply produced goods --merchandise that has been produced at the expense of American labor. This year will be different. This year Americans will give the gift of genuine concern for other Americans. There is no longer an excuse that, at gift giving time, nothing can be longer an excuse that, at gift giving time, nothing can be found that is produced by American hands. Yes there is! (Contd. THANK YOU:

Dear Friends,

I would like to take this opportunity to say 'Thank you' for your vote of confidence. I am truly honored and humbled by the support the people of the Town of Neversink showed to me.

Whether you put up with me approaching you at the Transfer Station, a pancake breakfast, or knocking on your door, people were always friendly and responsive. I received many kind words of encouragement, advice, handshakes and even some hugs. Some took signs and some passed on my message to friends. I will never forget those moments and I will never forget that I serve all of you. I promise to always remain approachable, willing to listen, and to put the interest of the town above all.

I would also like to thank the other candidates; Bryan, Mike, and Don. Early on Bryan approached me and said, "as long as we are going to do this, let's have fun doing it". From that day on I looked forward to every day... and it was fun. It was challenging, exciting, friendly and I am pleased to say, a clean race. Overall, the experience has reaffirmed my appreciation of the town and its people. Thank you again.

Most sincerely yours, Chris Mathews

P. S. I also need to thank my wife, Caryn, and my daughters; Ashlyn and my 11 year old "Campaign Manager", Gillian.

November Is Family Caregiver Month

"Identifying Family Caregivers" is the theme of November 2011 National Family Caregivers Month shared by the Sullivan County Caregiver Resource Center program. Caregiving facts, provided by the National Family Caregivers Association (NFCA), include:

o More than 65 million people in the United States provide care for chronically ill, disabled or aged family members or friends during any given year.

o Those 65 million people spend 20 hours a week providing that care.

o That care is valued at $375 billion a year, which is almost twice as much as is spent on homecare and nursing home services combined. The Caregiver Resource Center of Sullivan County (a co-partnered program of Cornell Cooperative Extension and Office for the Aging) thanks family caregivers for providing dedicated help to family members and friends and reminds our communities to extend a helping hand during the upcoming holidays. "Winter Renaissance Neversink Wonderland"

The "Winter Wonderland" project of the Town of Neversink Reaissance will be presented to the public on December 4th at 5:00. The project is a salute to the winter season, a time when beauty is sometimes forgotten as the cold weather descends upon us. The Bicentennial Park on Main Street in Grahamsville will be the month long location. Christmas trees, donated by the East Mountain Tree Farm will be decorated by local organizations, businesses and school groups. Some trees will display a theme while others will just be decorated. This is always a challenge since each tree has to be weather and wind proof. The lights will go on at five on Sunday, December 4th. There will be music and refreshments. The display will be on each evening during the entire month of December.

Everyone is invited to "Winter Wonderland", a Renaissance presentation. Why not bundle up and join the festivities on December 5th? See you there!

It's time to think outside the box, people. Who says a gift needs to fit in a shirt box, wrapped in Chinese produced wrapping paper?

Everyone -- yes EVERYONE gets their hair cut. How about gift certificates from your local American hair salon or barber?

Gym membership? It's appropriate for all ages who are thinking about some health improvement.

Who wouldn't appreciate getting their car detailed? Small, American owned detail shops and car washes would love to sell you a gift certificate or a book of gift certificates.

Are you one of those extravagant givers who think nothing of plunking down the Benjamins on a Chinese made flat-screen? Perhaps that grateful gift receiver would like his driveway sealed, or lawn mowed for the summer, or driveway plowed all winter, or games at the local golf course.

There are a bazillion owner-run restaurants -- all offering gift certificates. And, if your intended isn't the fancy eatery sort, what about a half dozen breakfasts at the local breakfast joint. Remember, folks this isn't about big National chains -- this is about supporting your home town Americans with their financial lives on the line to keep their doors open.

How many people couldn't use an oil change for their car, truck or motorcycle, done at a shop run by the American working guy?

Thinking about a heartfelt gift for mom? Mom would LOVE the services of a local cleaning lady for a day. My computer could use a tune-up, and I KNOW I can find some young guy who is struggling to get his repair business up and running.

OK, you were looking for something more personal. Local crafts people spin their own wool and knit them into scarves. They make jewelry, and pottery and beautiful wooden boxes.

Plan your holiday outings at local, owner operated restaurants and leave your server a nice tip. And, how about going out to see a play or ballet at your hometown theatre.

Musicians need love too, so find a venue showcasing local bands.

Honestly, people, do you REALLY need to buy another ten thousand made in China, lights for the house? When you buy a five dollar string of light, about fifty cents stays in the community. If you have those kinds of bucks to burn, leave the mailman, trash guy or babysitter a nice BIG tip.

You see, Christmas is no longer about draining American pockets so that China can build another glittering city. Christmas is now about caring about US, encouraging American small businesses to keep plugging away to follow their dreams. And, when we care about other Americans, we care about our communities, and the benefits come back to us in ways we couldn't imagine.

THIS is the new American Christmas tradition.

Ed Notes:

Thank you Barbara! What a great idea!

TO ALL LOCAL BUSINESSES -If you offer gift certificates, please accept our holiday invitation!

To promote this idea, if you are a business and have a service or product and offers gift certificates, please let us know. If you haven't offered gift certificates in the past, perhaps it is a good time to start and this idea could work for you.

To promote local business "Made in America" products and services, if your business offers Gift Certificates, The Townsman will post your business name, address and phone number and the service/product you offer in each issue of The Townsman published before Christmas (Three issues: Dec. 1; Dec 8: and Dec. 15). The quicker you let us know, the better. You can send us your information: by email - tvtownsman@yahoo.com; The Townsman, P O Box 232, Grahamsville, NY 12740; or you can drop it off at the drop box on the porch of the First Aid Building in Grahamsville.

For those with computers, we have posted Barbara's email on The Townsman web site: http/thetownsman.com. Why not copy and paste it and forward it to everyone on your mailing list -post it to discussion groups -- throw up a post on Craigslist in the Rants and Raves section in your city -- send it to the editor of other local papers and radio stations, and TV news departments.

This is a revolution of caring about each other, and isn't that what Christmas is about?

Eureka Market & Cafe Welcomed to the Grahamsville!

AMERICAN WILD TURKEY By Peggy DeWire

"Gobble, gobble," said the wild tom turkey sitting on a limb in a maple tree almost hidden in the leaves. "You caught me resting after my lunch of grasshoppers and seeds. I'm called Tom Two Toes and I'll tell you how I got named."

He settled himself more comfortably on the limb fluffing out his beautiful brown plumage, tail hanging down neatly folded and beard tassel on his chest swinging to and fro.

Two years ago when I was a small chick, my Mom moved me and my twelve brothers and sisters away from our nest on the ground hidden in the woods to the edge on an open field.

There we watched how she pecked at ants, bugs and berries (strawberries are my favorite). She showed > us things that are good to eat. She walked along very slowly to keep her brood together and stopped often, spreading her wings so we could rest under their shade.

We came to a pond on our way to the next open meadow and the whole family waded in with Mom cackling at us to stay together and paddle quickly across.

All the splashing caught a snapping turtle's attention and it investigated, managing to bite off two toes of the last chick to struggle up on land, safely across. I limped along at first but I kept right up with my family after that awful experience.

also remember my first flight one summer day when I was about two weeks old. Mom and all of us were feeding together in a field pecking at ants and grass seeds. My keen eyesight helped me get the smallest bits of food as well as keep a sharp lookout for danger.

Suddenly Mom flew up into a tree and landed on a limb six feet off the ground. From there she called perk, perk encouraging us to join her.

One by one we flapped out little wings to get up there, the smaller chicks landing short on the ground and launching themselves again and again till they suc-ceeded. I made it on my first try and snuggled beside Mom proudly. After that day we never slept on the ground but always in a tree.

By the end of my first summer I was nearly as big as Mom and looked like her in my new brown-bronze plumage. My head and wattle turned red, white and blue, my wing feathers brown with white edging. Half-inch long yellow spurs grew on my legs. A grand five-inch brown bristle beard drooped from my chest.

My brothers and I practiced loud gobbling, dragging wing tips on the ground and spreading our tail feathers into wide showy fans.

All this gobbling commotion was too much for Mom and she drove all her young toms out of the flock with loud yelping cries, and led our sisters off and

During the winter it was very hard to find enough food until we joined some deer that scraped snow aside uncovering moss and grass. While they foraged, we turkeys with sharp eyesight watched every alert for danger. And then we ate.

I'm now a full-grown gobbler who controls the clearing you're standing in looking up at me. This spring I fought another tom and beat him in a knock-down fight for this spot. He grabbed me by the neck but I spurred him hard enough on the chest to draw blood. He let go and fell flat on the ground defeated. I jumped on his back and did a victory march to and fro. Then I let him escape. Now I gobble to attract hens to my clearing where I'll be the alpha male for the next ten years, barring a hunting accident. I think it's easier for you to call me Tom Two Toes rather then my full name, Meleagris galloparva.

Helpful Hint from Mary

Don't Throw that Sponge Out! Instead of throwing away a sponge that has a stale odor, simply toss it in the dishwasher and wash it with the next load of dishes. It will come out clean and fresh smelling and will kill any bacteria in the sponge, so it's a good idea to toss your sponges into the dishwasher often..

MYSTERIOUS BOOK REPORT NO. 26 - By John Dwaine McKenna

Who says there's no such thing as magic? Of course there's magic in the world, and to prove it, this week, through the magic of literature and books, the MBR will take us from Africa to China, just by finishing one book, and beginning another. Poof! like magic, we're instantly transported from one world to another of a wholly different kind, where we'll be introduced to new cultures, customs and peoples in the blink of an eye and a finger's-touch. If that's not magic, please, tell me what is. And so, without smoke and mirrors, arcane words or prestidigitation . . . here's MBR Number 26, Flower Net, by Lisa See. (Random House Paperback, $14.95, 333 pages, ISBN 978-0-8129-7868-1). Many of you may already be familiar with Lisa See, the author of Snow Flower and the Secret Fan, a best seller, read by many book clubs. Before that however, she debuted with a wonderful mystery entitled Flower Net, the subject of our Mysterious Book Report this week, and it's a dandy. The novel begins with the discovery of a body, frozen in the ice of a popular skating lake in Beijing, China. A few days later a second body is discovered aboard a foundering merchant ship off the coast of California. The vessel is filled with illegal Chinese immigrants and abandoned by the crew. The bodies, one Chinese and one American, have been murdered in a gruesome . . . and mysterious way that draws the attention of assistant U.S. attorney David Stark in California and Lin Hulan, a detective with the Ministry of Public Security, or MPS, in Beijing. When the victims are identified as the son of the U.S. Ambassador to China, and the son of a dragon, a Chinese man of formidable wealth and power, the governments of both countries agree to investigate co-operatively . . . thus setting the stage for the two unlikely allies to be drawn deeper into a plot that takes a new twist on almost every page. If you're a fan of mystery novels, this one's sure to appeal to you. Have fun, it's a perfect book for those long, cold and wintry nights. You can have fun at the Daniel Pierce Library and Time and the Valleys Museum too. Drop in and see what's the latest in books and exhibits, they're always coming up with new . . . and new-old things. Remember what Confucius, (Kung Fu-Tse 551-479 BCE) said . . . "You must read, or surrender to ignorance."

I'm sorry to report that there's been a printing snafu, and The Neversink Chronicles won't be released until December first. We hope. Keep your fingers crossed and please accept our apologies for missing the November 15 deadline.

All of the Mysterious Book Reports can be seen on my website: johndwainemckenna.com where you'll also find reading lists, a short story, news and information about me, or Rhyolite Press, you can ask questions, make comments, kvetch, gripe, whine or report the local news and weather ... you can pre-order a copy of The Neversink Chronicles which I'll cheerfully sign and inscribe, with a personal message if you want. Lights on Broadway! (From Pg. 1)
Hinchey was instrumental in obtaining funding for Sullivan Renaissance, which purchased $90,000 worth of lamp posts for the village. "The installation of dozens of attractive new street lights on Broadway complements and caps off the reconstruction of Broadway and is literally a shining example of the progress being made in revitalizing downtown Monticello. I was delighted to partner with Sullivan Renaissance, the Delaware Valley Job Corps, and the Village of Monticello to make this wonderful project possible, and I encourage people in the region to visit Monticello and see for themselves the incredible transformation of Broadway that has occurred in the past few years," Hinchey said.

Hinchey also arranged for Job Corps students to be involved in the installation of the 15-foot-tall lights as part of their training as electricians helpers, under the supervision of instructor Eric Possemato. "These students come from all across the country to receive job training through our programs and learn skills that will help them find gainful employment in this challenging economy. This project presented a unique opportunity for hands-on learning, while helping the community at the same time," said DVJC Director Dr. Curtis Price.

The village contributed over $20,000 to purchase materials and hire McDowall Electric to supervise and coordinate. "We are appreciative of all the work the Job Corps students did to help the village," said Monticello Mayor Gordon Jenkins, "By partnering with Job Corps, we saved village taxpayers over $50,000 and we couldn't have done this without their help. grant program to help entrepreneurs open businesses on Main Streets, and the village board has grants pending to assist property owners with building renovations. The village is also reviewing zoning regulations to encourage reinvestment on Broadway. Finally, the Monticello Business Association has been collaborating with village officials to create events and is developing a brochure to market properties to potential investors.

Sullivan Renaissance is a beautification and community development program principally funded by the Gerry Foundation. For more information call 845-295-2445.

The Santa Express will arrive at the Corner store in Eldred at 5:00 PM. It then heads down Proctor Road to Circle Park in Glen Spey. After stopping there, Santa will head to the River Market in Barryville to greet everyone there and then head to the four corners in Yulan.. The final stop will be in front of the School in Narrowsburg at Approx. 8:00 PM. At each stop Santa and friends will greet the children and parents, hand out cookies and candy canes, and conduct a sing-a-long with the Snow Queen onboard his sleigh. All children should make sure they bring their letters to put into Santa's onboard mailbox and also make sure they add their names to Santa's list.

This year the Santa Express has added a 2nd night to his Christmas agenda. On December 17th the Santa Express will head towards the town of Bethel at 5:30 PM and then head out to the folks on main street in Liberty. This will be the first trip for the Santa Express to those towns and he couldn't be happier.

Families are encouraged to be on the lookout for Santa either from their homes or at any of the stops. Signs and banners welcoming Santa are encouraged. A fun filled night of holiday cheer your family will remember forever. The Santa Express is a 50' foot long Christmas scene filled with thousands of lights, lighted reindeer, Christmas decorations, an 8000 watt generator, and a 2000 watt sound system.

For more information on The Santa Express, please contact Lou Monteleone at (845) 557-3321 or visit his Facebook page at www.facebook.com/santaexpress. You can also get more details by listening to the official Santa Express radio stations by dialing in to 98.3 (WSUL) & 95.9 (WVOS FM) or picking up a copy of the Sullivan County Democrat or River Reporter. Be the Santa in you this Holiday season and come out and enjoy the best Christmas event you will ever see.

Fanslau presents 2012 Tentative Sullivan County Budget

Monticello - County Manager David Fanslau has filed the 2012 Tentative Sullivan County Budget with the Clerk of the County Legislature, in compliance with the County Administrative Code and New York State Law. Fanslau issued the following statement: "This 2012 Tentative Sullivan County Budget complies with the New York State Property Tax Cap Law, while continuing services at the current levels, keeping our workforce intact and providing the services that our citizenry deserves and expects.

Sullivan County's budget is predominantly driven by the unfunded mandates imposed by the New York State Government - mandates that support some of the most expensive social services in America. Without substantive mandate reform and relief, coupled with substantive reform and repeal of the property tax exemption statutes -the programs and services that are provided by the County Government are unsustainable. The County Legislature In addition to beautification projects, there are sev- will have to take specific actions to address the financial eral other initiatives designed to revitalize the down-town business district. The Sullivan County Division of Planning recently announced a micro-enterprise those programs that are dictated by the New York State Government. Moreover, more than ninety-three percent (93%) of Sullivan County's property tax levy is consumed to pay the bills for the services that the State Government requires to be provided on the State's behalf, and yet the State fails to fund their own programs. Therefore, only seven percent (7%) of the County's property tax levy is available for the discretionary spending that includes Public Works and Public Safety.

> The 2012 Tentative County Budget appropriates a total of $193,845,603, an increase of $2,869,594from the 2011 adopted budget. I would note that this increase in spending is directly connected to the uncontrolled growing bills from the State to Sullivan County for the State's programs, as opposed to increased spending for local priorities, such as public works and public safety. This appropriation was also necessary to address increases associated with the various collective bargaining agreements. I have also provided for salary increases and longevity payments as part of the 2012 budget in compliance with various collective bargaining agreements.

> This is neither a time to override the property tax cap law, nor a time to layoff a large number of our employees. However, it is the time to hold Governor Cuomo to his often repeated promise that relief from State mandates will follow the enactment of the property tax cap law. The property tax cap law was enacted last June, and counties are waiting for action by the Governor and the State Legislature on the promised substantive relief from their mandates. This budget is developed, in part, based upon the Governor's commitment that New York State will provide the needed, significant, and substantive relief from State mandates. We must also call upon Sullivan County's representatives in the New York State Senate and the New York General Assembly, and request that their top priority in the upcoming State legislative session must be for New York State to join fortyeight other States, and to takeover the full costs of Medicaid, and to take the Medicaid expenses off of the backs of the property taxpayers of Sullivan County. This single move will realize a cost avoidance of more than $21 million in 2012, and the single move that would stabilize and reduce Sullivan County's property tax levy for years to come.

There is also a prudent policy need to comprehensively examine any possibility to enhance the County's revenues, outside of the property tax levy, as cutting expenses will require the reduction or elimination of programs and services. Therefore, I would recommend that the Legislature charge the Management and Budget Committee, together with the County Manager, Budget Office, and County Treasurer to examine possible revenue enhancements that may be employed in 2012, with an initial report to the Legislature by the end of the first quarter of 2012.

The required Tax Exempt Impact Report is included as a part of this 2012 tentative budget document. Sullivan County has about $10.17 billion of equalized value real property assessments. However, more than $1.995 billion is exempt from real property taxation. If all non-governmental properties were subject to the real property tax, there would be an additional $7.386 million realized at the proposed 2012 County tax rate. Therefore, the County Legislature should demand that the New York State Legislature seriously undertake the issue of tax exempt reform. Furthermore, if all non-governmental tax exempt real property were presently subject to real property taxation there would either be a net reduction of the property tax by 14.8 percent (14.8%), or there would be no appropriation of Fund Balance or a greatly reduced appropriation of Fund Balance. At the very least there should be an ability authorized by New York State to realize revenues from the impacts of providing County government services associated with improvements on tax exempt properties, so that the eighty percent (80%) of the balance of taxable real property owners do not have to shoulder the burden of one hundred percent (100%) of the property tax levy.

This 2012 Tentative Sullivan County Budget places our residents and taxpayers first, by complying with the New York State Property Tax Cap Law, and not reducing services. However, to accomplish these necessary goals, I have recommended that a certain level of the County's undesignated and unreserved Fund Balance be appropriated to fund a gap that would have otherwise existed between revenues and expenses. Without relief and reform of State mandates, the Legislature must make certain decisions no later than the first quarter of 2012. A fundamental reality is that Sullivan County will have to ultimately choose to reduce or eliminate services, or override the property tax cap law, IF Governor Cuomo and the New York State Legislature fails to follow through with the promised mandate relief.

The formal reorganization of the Sullivan County Economic Development Corporation should be the County's primary conduit to the business community, retaining, recruiting, and expanding job opportunities for Sullivan County residents. The Planning Commissioner has been directed to Sheppard the EDC, and as a result the County has submitted more than $52 million in grant application through the Governor's Regional Economic Development Council. This $52 million, if awarded, will have a total project cost of more than $707 million, with $641 million in leveraged sources. Most importantly, the award of this $52 million request would realize the creation of 2,068 jobs in Sullivan County. The accomplishments of these efforts reflect upon the prudent decision last year to relocate the Center for Workforce Development within the Division of Planning and Environmental Management.

The Olive Jar - by Carol LaMonda -

One Percent

I never really understood math. It was too precise. No room for creative solutions. It was right or wrong, black or white. I am more of a "shades-of-gray" person.

When the catchphrase circulated the media using the One-Percent vs the Ninety-Nine, I got to understand the math's sociological implications. Using the smallest and the largest numbers that add up to 100%, the polarity of our economic society is glaring. We are becoming, more so than in the past, a society skewed to rich and poor. The middle class has morphed, unevenly, into the economic levels of wealthy and struggling. The rich are getting richer and the less fortunate more so.

I recently had surgery to remove all hardware, plates and screws that were used to put my fractured wrist back together from a fall last year. A nasty infection, osteomyelitis, of the bone developed from or at the surgical site. The follow-up involves eight weeks of daily infusions of antibiotics. It meant 56 rounds trips to Kingston to sit and let an IV drip "bug juice" into my bloodstream. It also meant additional weekly blood tests at the lab.

I don't know the exact percentage, but I felt like the 1% when I was told my health insurance would allow a RN to come to my house, teach me the infusion process, change dressings and that a pharmacy would send me all the medicine and equipment. The nurse would also draw blood to deliver to the lab. With joy equivalent to winning the lottery, I left the medical center knowing that all Medicare, Medicaid and less-er plans provided no such service. I had survivor's guilt being given the "stretch limo" version of the same treatment. The 99% had to feel righteously jealous that treatment options were that unfair.

Most of the time, I am probably in the 99%, but being the 1% on this one health plan gave me a new perspective. There is no Utopian socialist solution, but the 99% points out the problem. The Occupy Protests springing up across the nation are but a symptom of our economic realization that the comfortable plateau of The Middle Class has eroded into an abyss of "Lower Class," and the sharp pinnacle of "Upper Class" is further away. The mathematical formula of work hard and save equals success doesn't add up.

As I sit and receive a half hour of IV treatment in the comfort of my own home, I will ponder a solution. The protestors have done their part in making us aware of the discrepancy in wealth distribution. The next step is to derive a solution that will, once again, foster the good old "Work Hard--Get Ahead" value that made America strong. Good paying jobs and good health treatment should be there for all Americans.

A picture is worth a thousand words!

These pictures are of the North Mississippi Allstars, that was mentioned in this column last week., but due to technical difficulties, the pictures were not available until this week.

The North Mississippi Allstars opened their recent Bearsville Theater show with a smokin' version of "Sitting on Top of the World".

The drummer for the North Mississippi Allstars, Cody Dickinson, has the music in him! and was in the groove from beat one.

Following Cody's lead, the band set up the groove, and when, and only when, the groove was established, did they start the actual song! That's just how I like it done! I wanted to go out for a smoke, but I was transfixed! I literally was not able to leave the room until the song ended!

The band plays at a level far beyond their years, and why shouldn't they? Both Cody and his brother Luther have a second generation musical pedigree handed down from their father, Memphis legend Jim Dickinson. You could do a lot worse than absorbing music at the feet and on the knee of Jim Dickinson. That's how you get the music in you!

The Allstars are mostly a blues band, but at times I could swear I was listening to The Grateful Dead or The Allman Brothers Band, circa 1971! It's these small variations on a theme that keep the Blues eternal!

In a band such as the North Mississippi Allstars, with two very prominent and well known members in Luther and Cody, there is a tendency for the two brothers to suck the oxygen out of the room, but I feel special mention must be made of bassist Chris Chew, a mountain of a man who holds his bass strung high on his chest, plays lefty, and of course, with no pick. Covered in tattoos and looking like he'd be more at home in a hip hop crew than a rock band, Chris has nevertheless managed a mind meld with the two skinny rock n rollers and, in the process, they've all driven the Blues into the 21st century!

I'd be remiss if I completed this review of the band's performance without mentioning that during one song, Cody sat at the drums, keeping the beat going with his feet, and at the same time picked up a guitar and soloed with Luther! He plays the guitar as good as he plays drums, and maybe, just maybe, is a better guitarist than his brother! It makes you wonder what else this multi-talented group is capable of. I, for one, will be watching and listening to find out!

My thanks to WDST for bringing this fine band to town, and to Drew at the station for making this review possible.

Three Quarters Of One Percent

Newly re-elected Town of Olive Supervisor Berndt Liefeld delivered on his promise to keep the 2012 tax levy below the 2% NYS tax cap, not including storm damage which will be mostly covered by FEMA storm damage reimbursement. Facing a little more headwind then in past years, Supervisor Liefeld attributed the nearly even election outcome to the fallout resulting from Tropical Storm Irene. Usually, Supervisor Liefeld wins by a two to one margin. We wish Supervisor Liefeld the best of luck in these trying times.

Peter Friedel and Donald Van Buren won the 2 Olive Town Council seats and the Hon. Ronald Wright received the largest number of votes by far to be re-elected to Town Justice.

Olive Boy Scout Troop 63 carried out a very successful food drive to help restock the Olive Food Pantry. Troop 63 also visited the seniors last Monday and made wood-fired pizza for the seniors and some neighbors. Don't think for a moment that our seniors don't know how to party, they do.

Young Artist a Hit at Old Stone House Show

"Jonathan Jimenez close-up with one of his large, colorful pieces at his show's November 6th opening reception ."

Jonathan Jimenez, a 21-year-old Sullivan County artist, proudly presented his fledgling career's latest work in a one-man exhibition at the Old Stone House in Hasbrouck.

House in Hasbrouck.

The show, which runs through November 27, includes several large and dramatic artworks created through paint, burnt and carved wood, and other techniques. Jimenez' pieces always demand closer attention -- drawing visitors to mere inches away -- even when a more distant impression is already satisfying.

The young artist emerged from a federal jobs program in Sullivan County to attend SUNY Sullivan, where his talents took hold. His impressive range of styles and subjects demonstrates, he says, the value of supportive teachers

Catch Some Hudson Valley Holiday Cheer!

Catch some holiday cheer at the many Hudson Valley wineries, distilleries, and breweries tucked into the hills up and down the river. Gift giving this season is not only easy, it's fun when you visit the beautifully decorated facilities producing some of the best spirits in the country. Tastings are available of the wine, little nips of the distilled spirits and brews so you can choose your favorite.

The Hudson Valley may be the oldest wine producing region in the United States, but the ever expanding spirits industry has brought new distilleries to the area. Tuthilltown Spirits in Gardiner is New York's first whiskey distillery since Prohibition. Host a Mad Men party with their Hudson Baby Bourbon distilled from 100% New York State corn, or gift a favorite uncle with their vodka from apples grown at the local orchard. Palates preferring a sweeter libation will want to try the fruit brandies and liqueurs at Warwick Valley Winery. Savor the Sour Cherry Cordial and pear brandy. The steam fired German copper still produces exceptional dessert quaffs that make great hostess gifts.

Equally tasty, local brews can be found throughout the region. The Captain Lawrence Brewing Company in Pleasantville crafts award-winning beers produced on the premises including seasonal brews such as Pumpkin Ale, Golden Delicious, Nor'easter Winter Warmer and Smoke. Tour the brewery and sample these golden elixirs for yourself in the tasting room. There's nothing like a good beer paired with wonderful food, and the Taproom at Brown's Brewing Company in Troy features over a dozen ales and lagers on draught. The hand-crafted standards are renowned for their freshness, character and taste. Right now, Oktoberfest and Pumpkin Ales are on draught, and November and December feature monthly Beer Suppers with a delightful holiday menu. Beers at both breweries are available for sale and make a wonderful accompaniment to Thanksgiving dinner.

Speaking of the grand turkey day, the Bavarian Manor Country Inn in Purling will do all the work for you with a traditional dinner featuring freshly roasted turkey and slow baked smoked country ham with autumn vegetables and side dishes that go with an American Thanksgiving. Sip a glass of wine or beer while your table is served family-style with leftovers wrapped for you to take home!

Wineries are known for their charm and ambiance; two in the Hudson Valley come to mind. The Winery at St. George is located in an historic church in Mohegan Lake. Limited edition wines are produced from three grape varietals grown locally: Cabernet Franc, Seyval Blanc, and Noiret (a Pinot Noir hybrid). Taste it in the sanctuary, but recognize that this goes far beyond communion wine! Brotherhood Winery in Washingtonville actually stayed open during Prohibition because it produced communion wines. As the oldest winery in the United States, the renovated facility housed in hundred year old buildings boasts a beautiful new tasting room with stations for different varietals.

Don't miss the chance to sip some super vintages on November 19th at Millbrook Winery's Grand Portfolio Tasting. It's a good chance to explore everything their winemaker has to offer, including limited editions of previous vintages. Tastings are accompanied by light hors d'oeuvres and special wine discounts. That same day, Hudson-Chatham Winery in Ghent is hosting their Bread, Wine & Cheese Celebration from 12-5PM. Local creameries and bakers bring savory cheeses and breads to pair with the dry reds the winery is known for as well as their usual selections from dry to sweet to sparkling. For

Hinchey to Announce Start of LIHEAP Application Period Congressman Will Speak Out Against Proposed Cuts to Federal Heating Assistance

On Monday, November 14, 2011 Congressman Maurice Hinchey (D-NY) held a press conference to announce that the regional Low Income Heating and Economic Assistance Program (LIHEAP) office will begin accepting applications for the program on Wednesday, November 16. Representatives from Ulster County Social Services were on hand to provide details on the application process.

Hinchey stressed his opposition to cuts to the LIHEAP program that have been proposed by both the U.S. House and Senate. Hinchey fears the regional office will run out of funding if cuts to the program move forward.

DiNapoli: Uncertainty Continues to

Impact Budget Projections

A report released today by New York State Comptroller Thomas P. DiNapoli as part of the state's Quick Start budget process projects a current year shortfall that appears manageable, but finds that out-year deficits are likely to increase. Over the three-year forecast period, revenue and spending could deviate from current estimates by more than $1.5 billion. The report will be revised following the release of the Mid-Year Update to the Financial "The current year enacted budget made positive strides in addressing the ongoing structural deficit," DiNapoli said. "However, we still face challenges and risks and there is much that could undermine some of the good work of the last year. Fiscal pressures - particularly on the revenue side pose a significant challenge, and achieving balance will require an ongoing commitment by state leaders to live within our means." DiNapoli's report notes there remains risk that some of the actions taken in the SFY 2011-12 Enacted Budget to eliminate a $10 billion gap and reduce future spending may not be as effective as projected. While the structural imbalance has been reduced, variables including global market volatility, lower Wall Street employment and income, high state unemployment and the struggling housing market continue to pose budget risks. Economic uncertainty has the potential to affect the state's revenue estimates, and makes accurate forecasting more difficult. The report stressed that close monitoring is critical to ensure that actual results comport with projections. Comptroller's report projects structural gaps in future fiscal years, with All Funds spending expected to reach $137.3 billion by fiscal year 2013-14, while All Funds receipts are projected to only be $134.4 billion. DiNapoli warned that this year's revenue collections are currently below Financial Plan projections and may be slow to bounce back due to the state's reliance on revenue related to employment and consumption. DiNapoli's report also found:

Current projections in the First Quarterly Update to the SFY 2011-12 Enacted Budget Financial Plan, released in August, remain too optimistic for both spending and tax revenue.

0. The Comptroller's report projects that All Funds spending could be $97 million higher than current Financial Plan estimates; even taking into account the spending limits enacted in the 2011-12 Budget for Medicaid and school aid. All Funds receipts are estimated to be $214 million lower than currently anticipated in the Financial Plan.

0. The Comptroller's report projects that All Funds spending in 2012-13 could be $82 million higher than current Financial Plan estimates; All Funds receipts are estimated to be $546 million lower than currently anticipated in the Financial Plan.

The Comptroller's report projects that All Funds spending in 2013-14 could be $75 million higher than current Financial Plan estimates; All Funds receipts are estimated to be $498 million lower than currently anticipated in the Financial Plan.

0. While more than 75 percent of the actions taken to reduce the 2011-12 budget gap were intended to be recurring, there is risk that the level of savings anticipated could be difficult to achieve. However, given the enactment of spending limitations in Medicaid and school aid, the most significant risk to the Financial Plan relates to tax collections.

DiNapoli has recommended and continues to advocate for a series of reforms to improve the budget process and solve the state's chronic long-term structural budget gaps including improved budget transparency, restricting the use of non-recurring revenue, improving plans to close budget gaps, strengthening capital planning and using a binding revenue consensus fore-

Statement from NY Attorney General Schneiderman Regarding the Feds' Proposed Fracking Regulations

Attorney General Eric T. Schneiderman issued the following statement in response to revised draft hydrofracking regulations posted today by the Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC), with the approval of its supporting federal agencies.

"By issuing these modified draft regulations, the federal government continues to ignore New Yorkers' concerns about the impact fracking may have on our environment, health and homes. Though modified, these regulations still lack the benefit of a full environmental impact study, which is required by law and dictated by common sense. Without it, the federal government does not have a complete understanding of the health and safety risks fracking poses, even as it stands to open up the Delaware River Basin to thousands of new gas wells. These regulations are both inadequate and illegal, and I will continue to use the full authority of my office to require that the federal government meet its clear legal obligation to fully study the environmental impacts of fracking in the Basin.

Gillibrand: Our Servicemembers put Their Lives on the Line for the Country and ULSTER COUNTY 2011 ELECT. Deserve to Come Home to Good-Paying County Executive, Mike Hein (D) Jobs

As Veterans' Day approaches, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand called on her Senate colleagues to swiftly pass legislation to address unacceptably high rates of unemployment among veterans including incentivize their hiring and ease their transition into the work force. The VOW to Hire Heroes Act of 2011, which includes bipartisan job training provisions from both the House and Senate Veterans' Affairs Committees, aims to ensure that all troops returning from Iraq and Afghanistan have the necessary tools for a seamless transition from military service to the civilian work-

The unemployment rate among our veterans is a national crisis," said Senator Gillibrand, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "Our men and women in uniform have put their lives on the line in the service of this country and deserve to come home to good-paying jobs and the genuine opportunity to support their families and advance their careers. Our troops represent some of our most talented, courageous and productive citizens and it is our moral imperative to provide them with the necessary tools to compete in today's difficult job market."

The VOW to Hire Heroes Act represents the latest effort by Senator Gillibrand in her long-established commitment to combating rising joblessness among veterans. Last February Senator Gillibrand hosted roundtables across New York State with local veterans and business leaders to seek out solutions to unemployment among veterans. The new bill, which was introduced this week, reflects the approaches discussed at the roundtable and expands upon Gillibrand supported legislation.

The VOW to Hire Heroes Act of 2011 contains a WOODSTOCK- Supervisor-Jeremy Wilber D series of tax credits available to employers hiring veterans including a credit worth up to $2,400 for employers who hire veterans unemployed for over four weeks, a credit worth up to $5,600 for veterans unemployed for over six months, and a credit worth of up to $9,600 for unemployed veterans with a service-connected disability. The credit is based on 40 percent of first year wages of qualified individuals, up to the caps noted above.

In addition, the bill expands and improves upon several existing benefits aimed at helping service members find jobs. The legislation would make mandatory the Transition Assistance Program (TAP) which provides career counseling and job search skills to service members, and would allow troops to begin the federal employment process while still serving in the military. The bill would also provide up to one year of additional training benefits for disabled veterans through the Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment program. Finally, the bill would expand education and training opportunities for nearly 100,000 veterans from past eras by providing an additional year of Montgomery GI bill benefits to be put toward programs at community colleges and technical schools.

A Welcome Sight on Our Road

I want to welcome two new residents on our road. One appears permanent and the other may be just passing through.

The first is sleek and slender topping out at 142 feet. Its arms are busy waving away as the hillside winds power it. I can see this tribute to wind power from my kitchen window. You might wonder how I can be so welcoming... if we think beyond the moment of today; we know that our world needs to power up on more than foreign oil. Hence - this wind turbine may be a symbol of hope for our future. Here's to many more of them!

The second welcome sight is normally 31 inches in length with a wingspan of 80 inches. Imagine my surprise to find a mature bald eagle flying right in front of my car and parallel with my windshield. At first, I thought it was a rare event. Now I'm hearing more stories of sightings on our road right next to the bridge crossing the brook.

There is too much not going well with the world. I am happy to report on these two positive events.

Three separate programs were presented; one for grades K thru 3,a second for grades 4 thru 6 and a final assembly for Middle and High School students. For the lower grades, several students primarily Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, prepared and delivered short messages of the need to SERVE--Serve your country, but also serve your family your community your school, and your neighbors.

A number of veteran's were invited to attend.; men representing those who had who served in every war from the Second World War to the more recent Middle East Fighting In the lower grades each veteran was asked to tell the children about their experience in military service. For the upper grades, Jim Richardson, a Vietnam veteran and past Commander of the VFW and the DAV delivered an excellent talk on military service. Each Assembly concluded with the singing of a patriotic song, and in the program for the older students, with a rousing medley played by the Tri Valley High School Band. What a great way to honor not just those who served their country but to instill in each student the need to serve the broader community, their school, their family, and their neighbors ---right now and right here in TriValley. What a great message TriValley School is sending to these students. Keep up the good work,

LIBERTY - Each year New York State designates one week to recognize the efforts of all school board members.
