Just when we thought it was the end of the Tractor Parade, another tractor came around the Agriculture Barn. Also marching in the parade were huge cows, chickens and other farm animals. Thank you to Tri-Valley FFA for adding a little extra humor to the pageantry.

The Tractor Parade showed many of the tractors that were on display this past weekend at the 25th Neversink Annual Roundout Antique Machinery Association (NRAMA) Show. (Contd. Pg. 19)

OBITUARY

Diane Kay (Oldenburg) Nyhof

passed quietly into heaven's light on Friday, September 19, 2025, surrendering to the long-term of dementia and physical failings of her mortal shell.

Being born to Harry and Grace Oldenburg on October 13, 1937, in Grand Rapids, Michigan, and after graduating from Alger High School, she attended Hope College in Holland, Michigan where she met her life-long love, Rev. Harlan P. Nyhof. After graduating with a Bachelor's Degree in Education and Minor in Music from Hope College in Holland, Michigan, they married on June 22, 1960, and moved to Monroe, South Dakota. Harlan was then serving as pastor to the local Reformed Church, and Diane began her career not just as A teacher, but rather as THE teacher, serving the rural prairie community in a 1-room schoolhouse for pupils in kindergarten through eighth grade.

As they moved between calls to different churches in the mid-west, Rev. and Mrs. Nyhof had three sons: Scott Harlan, born in South Dakota, Paul Jeffrey born in Wilmar, Minnesota and David Alan, born in Waterloo, Iowa. After moving the family from the midwest to the Catskill Mountains in New York State in February 1976, Rev. Nyhof served three rural parish churches (Claryville, Grahamsville, and Woodbourne) simultaneously. Mrs. Nyhof resumed her teaching career in the late 1970's, working initially as a substitute teacher in Sullivan County, New York, eventually returning as a full-time teacher in 1980 at Tri-Valley Central Schools. earning her Master's Degree in Elementary Education from SUNY New Paltz, she taught 5th grade at TVCS through Spring 2000. After retirement, she and Rev. Nyhof moved from Grahamsville to Warwick, New York, where they would live in peace the remainder of their days.

She is preceded in death by her parents, Harry George Oldenburg and Grace Katherine (Lyon) Oldenburg, brother Garry Alan Oldenburg (b. 1-Apr-1943, d. 28-Sep-1997) and his wife Cherie Nan (Kleinschmidt, d. 8-Dec-2008), and her husband Rev. Harlan P. Nyhof (b. 24-Oct-1933, d. January 21, 2021). She was also preceded in death by her daughter-in-law, Rosemary (Kuszak) Nyhof, late wife of Paul Jeffrey.

Neither of Diane's parents, Harry, nor her mother Grace, had siblings. Similarly, there were no children in the marriage between Garry and Cherie Oldenburg. As such, while growing up Diane never knew the first-hand experience of a larger extended family that would include cousins, aunts, uncles, nephews, or nieces. Only through her marriage to Harlan would blessings of a larger family join her life.

Even though she suspended her teaching career from 1963 until the late 1970's to raise her family, she dutifully served her husband's churches as the minister's wife. These duties included being the backup church pianist, record keeper for 311 baptisms, too many funerals, and 213 weddings, serving as interim coordinator for many. Her professional career as an educator spanned 25 years, positively affecting the lives of more than 500 pupils while in her charge.

Later in life her hobbies and interests included genealogical research into her and her husband's families, gardening and "puttering" in the flowers, several trips abroad, such as cruises and land tours throughout Europe and North America, and spending January and February in central Florida to avoid deep winter in the northeast. Her true hobby, along with that of her husband Harlan, was their grandchildren, Adam Paul and Megan Courtney. There was precious little that Harlan and Diane would not do if the grandchildren could be included in the plans. Diane and Meghan were like "two peas in a pod", like Harlan and Adam before.

Diane is survived by all three of her sons: Scott H. and Susan L. Gardner-Nyhof, Paul J. Nyhof, and David A. and Elizabeth H. Abbott. (Contd. Pg. 4)

I have learned from some of our readers if you cut scented dryer sheets into 1-inch strips and tie them on greenery tips or in trees the scent repels plant-munching deer. Choose a polyester non-woven base to avoid melting during wet weather.

The Big Apple

Delicious, crunchy, juicy, and sweet are all adjectives used to describe apples. They travel well, making them a popular lunchbox food and snack. Apples are extremely versatile.

Around 2,500 apple varieties are grown in the U.S., and 7,500 grown worldwide

The weather patterns this year had some affects on the local apple crop this year. You may also have noticed the size of apples this year is a bit smaller, too. They are smaller than normal this fall, but tend to be sweeter due to the effects of the summer-long drought that affected many of the state's orchards. Drought makes apples crunchier and sweeter. With less water content, the concentration of sugars in each apple is higher.

Although they are often thought of as distinctly American, they actually originated in Mesopotamia. People have been eating apples from very ancient times. Greek legends tell how Hercules recovered the golden apples. Ancient Celts dipped for apples to predict the future. This custom survives today as our Halloween game of bobbing for apples. The ancestor of modern apples came from the Black Sea region of Europe and where it still grows there today. The apples are golf-ball size and more sour than our modern varieties.

Apples were brought to America by the earliest settlers. As the frontier moved westward, so did apple trees. One of the first things a pioneer did after clearing his homestead and building a log cabin was to plant some apple trees in his yard.

Pioneer families relied on apples for cider, vinegar to keep food from spoiling and dried apple rings for winter eating.

Did you know that George Washington is not only the father of our country but may also be the father of apple pie? In a 1779 letter he invited dinner guests to feast on "pyes". One was beefsteak 'pyes' and the other one of apples since his cook had discovered that they made fine fruit 'pye'.

Before the Revolutionary War pies were traditionally made with meat. However, after the war, American kitchens were so bare, including the one at Mount Vernon, that colonial cooks improvised recipes using apples and other native fruit.

The apple (Malus domestica) is a deciduous tree in the rose family. Blossoms are produced in spring simultaneously with the budding of the leaves, and are produced on spurs and some long shoots. The 1.2 to 1.6 in flowers are white with a pink tinge that gradually fades, five petaled, with an arrangement of flowers consisting of a cyme with 4-6 flowers. The central flower of the flowerhead is called the "king bloom"; it opens first, and can develop a larger fruit.

Apple trees don't "breed true" meaning that new young trees don't produce apples that are exactly like the parent tree's fruit. Most of today's favorite varieties came from chance seedlings, enhanced over the last fifty years by scientific breeding.

American orchardists have perfected and upgraded apples by grafting a budding twig from a favorite variety onto a small size tree so that the twig becomes the top of the new tree producing apples. These small stocky grafted trees called dwarfs are easier to care for and harvest more crops than from the usual bigger trees.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away!" still applies today. Studies have shown many health benefits of eating apples.

Our state is the second-largest apple-producing state in the country! At the heart of New York State - the "Big Apple"!

LOOKING BACK

Beatrice Akerley Published September 17, 1998

The goldenrod is yellow, The corn is turning brown The trees in apple orchards, with fruit are bending down

A few lines from a poem I learned in fifth grade in the early 1900's. I don't recall the name of the poet. Each Friday we recited a poem in our English class.

September where has the summer gone? The children are back in school and it seems like only a few years ago and I too was a little child looking forward to the first day of school. In the little one room school house in Grooville, my dad was a trustee. Us kids were always looking forward to meeting our new teacher. In the good old days, the teacher did more than teach us knowledge, she bandaged our cuts, dried our tears, settled fights, defended those who were being picked on, reasoned with bullies, sewed on "popped" buttons, braided hair and many other necessary things.

Can you imagine what it was like teaching eight grades in one room? All in one day? That's how it was back then. Each grade had a particular lesson to recite. The teacher would call each class to the recitation bench while the rest of us remained in our seats to work on our lessons.

Literature lessons were usually given to all students at the same time. We all sat engrossed—at times in tears or shaking in fear—as our teacher read from a library book. We always enjoyed recess, fifteen minutes in the morning and 15 minutes in the afternoon.

I'll always remember Miss Warren, one of our teachers. She loved baseball and when we played ball, she always gave a couple of snaps to her garter belt or girdle, got a grip on the bat and then hit a homer!! She loved to play "cops and robbers" and "cowboys and Indians" with us too.

For nature study, trips were taken to some farmer's pasture near a creek where we would shoo away the cows and study insects, butterflies and plants.

The little white school house still stands in the same spot as it did 100 years ago. It's not used anymore but for those of us who attended, we were given a rich beginning in that much loved school and the guidance of unique teachers will always be treasured.

Legacy Mysterious Book Report No. 147 Blood World

Mysterious Book Report No. 419 by John Dwaine McKenna

Published September 24, 2020

By combining sci-fi and crime-fiction, thriller writer Chris Mooney has come up with an irresistibly striking story that's as thought-provoking as it is entertaining and explosive to read. In his recently released Blood World, (Berkley Books, $27.00, 436 pages, ISBN 978-0-593-19763-9) Mooney posits a world in which near-immortality is attainable for a wealthy and privileged few . . . but only at the expense of the most innocent and vulnerable among us . . . our children. The younger the better.

The novel begins in a near-future United States, where scientists have discovered a new wonder drug that makes the blood of certain "carriers" into a virtual fountain of youth. It means that those who have the means and connections – the elites – to obtain this precious blood can have their ailments and diseases cured as well as their power and strength amped up until they are almost superhuman. All of that, and all of the money involved makes carriers of the exotic blood into targets for criminals. So-called "blood farms" spring up around the country, where kidnapped children are held and routinely bled, so that their blood can be sold to the unscrupulous, self-centered and wealthy . . . with its epicenter in Los Angeles, California . . . where youth and beauty are Hollywood's stock-in-trade.

The problem is so pervasive that the LAPD has formed an elite 'Blood Unit' to combat the problem. It's exclusive and highly sought-after assignment that accepts only the highest quality candidates, which is why a young officer named Ellie Bautista joined the police But she's been department. consistently denied a transfer to the Blood Squad, until she and her partner are ambushed during a routine stop. What happens next gains her an undercover assignment that plunges the dedicated young police officer into a seamy and depraved underworld where life is cheap and death comes often in an environment more treacherous and deadly than she could ever have imagined.

Then, a terrifying psychopath comes up with a disgusting new way to increase the potency of carrier blood by a thousand-fold . . . and only Ellie Bautista stands in his way.

BLOOD WORLD CHRIS MOONEY

The Olive Jar

by Carol Olsen LaMonda

STAY AT HOME VACATION

I am a seasoned traveler. I have been to Spain, Hungary, Austria, Germany, England,, Orkney, Oaxaca, Mexico, Aruba, Italy, St. Lucia, Barbados, Puerto Rico, Scotland, Wales, Monaco, Greece, Turkey, Cayman Islands, Canada, Tobago, Belgium, St, John, St. Thomas, Grand Turk, St..Martin, Bermuda, Algeria, Haiti, Peru, Iquitos, Dominican Republic, and Bahamas. I'm sure there are some I have forgotten. However, I always want to click my ruby slippers and head home because truly there is no place like home, especially if home is in the Catskills during the fall.

... in Greek means "Toward the Sun," was written by Carol Olsen LaMonda. Carol writes the column "The Olive Jar" for Ye Olde Tri-

Valley Townsman. This local author has been busy guesting at book clubs who have chosen this local memoir as their book choice.

Feel the warmth of "Prosilio" as you read Carol's memoirs cuddled up in your favorite chair. It also makes a great gift!

Prosilio is available at

Amazon or Barnes and

a core to the Sun*

Transact the Sun*

Noble on-line as a soft or hard cover or as a downloadable e-book for Nook or Kindle. Go to: http://amazon.com or http://barnesandnoble.com and type in Prosilio in the search to order your copy of Prosilio

So I am going to give you some good reasons to stay home and vacation like a pro. First of all, you are saving, for two travelers, around ten thousand dollars because you do not need airfare, transfers to resort, insurance, suitcases, souvenir money, and splurge money. You can enjoy the same or better amenities right here.

The thing I like best about traveling is eating out at specialty restaurants. Well, one can do that around here for, again for two figuring a week's vacation has two days of airport food and five dinners out, for $500-$600.

The next thing I enjoy doing is seeing the sights. Instead of $1500 airfare, I can get six hundred miles on my hybrid car for $35. There is so much to see in our area. Be a tourist here.

The last thing I look forward to doing is sitting in the sun reading a book. The lounge chair on my deck beckons me.

I also might feel an obligation to houseclean while I am vacationing at home, so hire a housekeeper for a few days. It is cheaper than the pet sitter I need to hire to fly away someplace.

Another bonus of being home is not dealing with airport hassles that are so common that they are expected. Also, the dirty laundry goes right in the washer and not bunched up in a suitcase.

Your favorite pillow is here; your friends are here; and you speak the language. You do not need to pause your mail. if you feel compelled to shop for souvenirs, try the Amazon app with free delivery.

Believe me, when the days are sunny and in the seventies and the nights cool enough to sleep comfortably, there is no place better than the Hudson Valley this time of year.

The Digital Information Age and the DPL

By Lisa Carroll

GRAHAMSVILLE-There's no doubt about it, we're smackdab in the middle of the digital age. Also known as the Information Age, it's the current time period characterized by the widespread use of computers and the internet thus changing how we communicate, access information, develop social bonds and work.

I know; everyone is already aware of this. However, I'm bringing it up for a good reason. Not all of our patrons are registered to receive our "email blasts." Those random electronically sent notes from us that share vital information; such as: upcoming programs, new books, deadlines for registration, etc. And it's so simple to do. If you aren't receiving our emails, and you know who you are, just drop us a line. Share your name, email address and phone number and we'll set you up lickety-split. You can do this by stopping in and filling out a short form at either circulation desk or via our website (just scroll to the bottom of the home page) at www.danielpiercelibrary.org.

Speaking of our website, it's updated continually, thanks to Michelle Gorman, our resident IT guru (she is many, many things here including the go-to person for internet/tech hiccups. Check it on Monday and it's bound to have new information by Tuesday. That's the first stop anyone interested in knowing what's going on at the library should make. It's also where registration for all of our programs; such as: volunteering for our 39th Annual Giant Pumpkin Party on Saturday, October 4, our fall Children's Programs starting the week of October 15, and this really cool new program Root to Rise, happens. It's also where new information, like how our summer book tent season is coming to a close, therefore bags of books are now $3.00, can be found. Programs are constantly being added to our offerings and checking the website is a great start to become more informed.

Now, our website is just one avenue for up-to-date information (and of course, calling us or stopping by is ALWAYS an option. We love chatting!) Another opportunity is logging in to Facebook and/or Instagram. Our Community Programs Associate, Nicole Richardson, has those platforms spinning with new information constantly. And, there are a lot of different things that you wouldn't find on our more formal website. Our Facebook and Instagram (two very popular social media platforms) pages are filled with things like thank-you's to all the donors and sponsors for GPP raffles or our Bingo games, plugs for our new book displays, fabulous pictures of programs and a great video of Pierce, our beloved rock python. There's more flexibility with timing and material and Nicole really knows her way around it all. To gain access to either social media platform, you just have to download the app and log in. (And if you need help with that, we can show you. We're a library after all; a fount of information!) Once you're on, don't be afraid to comment, we love to hear what an amazing job we're doing!

And, of course, you are reading this column right now. I always make sure it's chock-full of timely info so you're always in the know.

Now back to all our goings-on. I've spoken at great lengths regarding our upcoming GPP and the fall Children's Programs, for more info regarding those try out the aforementioned avenues. We're also in need of volunteers for GPP, so sign up through our website if you're interested in sharing your time and experience.

There are a host of interesting programs coming up in October, including one that I haven't talked about yet: Root to Rise. On Saturday, October 18 from 10AM to 11AM join us and special guest, Kelsey Riley, who will share the principles of Yoga, Reiki and Ayurveds. The one-hour class will include a lecture period with active learning. You'll leave the program with the knowledge and skills to hear your body speak, how to move energy for optimal vitality and how to practice meditation and breath work for grounding the mind as well as the body and spirit. It will be such a worthwhile experience, especially as we enter the busier seasons. Advanced registration is required (through our website). A special shout out to Central Hudson too, for making this program possible.

While I'd love to share a great book recommendation with you all, I haven't been reading much as of recently. I'm hoping to get back to it as soon as things settle down again, but you know how life can be. Instead, we've come up with some really great book displays, both in adult fiction and non-fiction, with interesting books to check out and we've got great fall inspired books displayed on the children's floor to get everyone ready for pumpkin season. Come check them out!

McQuillan Park on an Autumn Night under a Crescent Moon

In Saint Paul Minnesota just south of the Gnome Restaurant lies a neighborhood park much used and loved. Kids noisily play "your it" on the climbing equipment and in the adjacent grassy area. Teens and young adults hang out at the metal table and benches or on the swings. Adults play net games or exercise their dogs on the secluded court. Few notice the two memorial trees with small plaques at the northeast and southwest corners. A scraggly blue spruce stands tall in the corner near the Gnome. The plaque tells of a girl who died way too young, sadly unable to grow up in the park. A gingko tree grows near the tall rose bushes in the southwest. The tree was planted for a man who passed in that still creative time of early old age, a long-time park volunteer and flute player in an Irish band.

Ordinary and not often noticed. But for a while now this story has been passed from one retiring park volunteer (they know the park best) to the one who will next retire. And this volunteer shares the story with you. Each year, on a chill October night, a night of the crescent moon, stillness in the park gives way to the distant sounds of an Irish flute. Eventually, misty figures emerge, from one tree a man playing a flute and from the other the figure of a little girl. The music starts off softly in sad ballads, for the will-o-the-wist player emerges first. Then, as the misty image of the girl leaves the tree and approaches a swing, the music becomes more lively. For the time that the girl plays—she explores every swing, climber, bridge and slide—sounds of reels and jigs waft through the air. And then, perhaps as a cloud covers the moon, the will-o-the-wist girl returns slowly to the tree. The flute music becomes slower and sadder and gradually fades away—as does the flute player—for another year.

This original story is in tribute to the new book Haunted USA written by Heather Alexander and illustrated by Sam Kalda. Sam lives in the Ramsey Hill neighborhood and is a volunteer at McQuillan Park.

Free of Fiscal Stress, as Analyzed by the NY State Comptroller's Office Maintains Best-Ever Scores in Annual Fiscal Stress Rankings

Monticello, NY - The NYS Comptroller's Office has designated Sullivan County free of fiscal stress, with the County's finances continuing to be in the best shape since reporting began.

'No Designation' Is the Best Designation

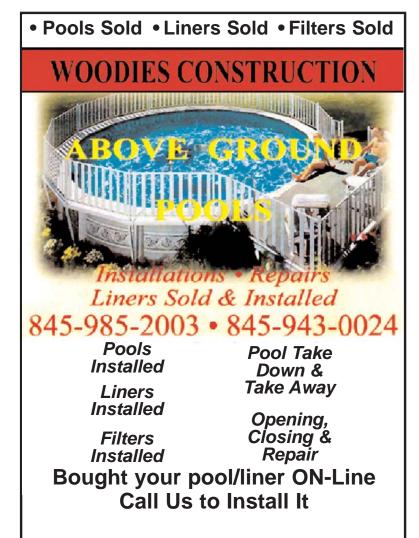

The Comptroller's Office just released its 2024 Fiscal Stress rankings for municipalities Statewide, based on the annual financial reports submitted to the Office. Sullivan County scored as good as ever, once again earning the best rank of "No Designation" (meaning there are no indications of the County being susceptible to fiscal stress at this time).

Municipalities receive a fiscal score and an environmental score. Based on the fiscal score, the system assigns a municipality to one of three categories of stress or to the "No Designation" category if its score doesn't meet the threshold of stress. (The three categories of stress are "Significant Fiscal Stress," "Moderate Fiscal Stress" and "Susceptible to Fiscal Stress.")

"This latest report shows our commitment to maintaining County government's fiscal stability," Sullivan County Manager Josh Potosek said. "And for the fifth year in a row, we also received 'No Designation' for environmental stress."

A Perfect Score

The past years have seen ongoing improvement in Sullivan's fiscal situation. In 2020, the County earned a Fiscal Stress score of 35.8 points. That improved dramatically to 13.3 in 2021 (a lower score indicating better finances), then to 3.3 in 2022, dropping to the lowest (and best) score possible of 0 in 2023, which carried on into 2024.

Meanwhile, the Environmental Stress score dropped from 23.3 in 2020 to 20 points in 2021, then a best-ever 13.3 for 2022, where it remained for both 2023 and 2024. Unlike Fiscal Stress, the data used to create the Environmental Stress score - population changes, poverty levels, tax base, unemployment rates, state/federal aid and other items - represents issues that are not fully within the County's control.

"Sullivan County continues to rank among the best fiscal performers in all of New York State's municipalities," noted County Treasurer Nancy Buck. "We once again achieved a perfect score of 0 for Fiscal Stress, based on how we managed our fund balance and cash flow, the state of our cash ratios, our complete lack of short-term debt, and rising revenues. Taxpayers should be assured we are handling their monies in a fiscally responsible and efficient manner."

SC ROAD CLOSURE

Ferndale, NY - The Sullivan County Division of Public Works is closing a portion of County Road No. 72 (Lieutenant J.G. Brender Highway) in the Town of Liberty to repair a section of failing roadway embankment, located approximately 0.2 miles south of the intersection of County Road No. 71 (Ferndale Road).

This section of CR 72 is scheduled to be closed to all traffic starting 8 a.m. October 1, 2025, and will remain closed for approximately five (5) weeks, though that may be extended as needed due to the weather or other unforeseen circumstances.

The Sullivan County Ferndale Transfer Station will remain open during the road closure.

SLAC Meeting Sept. 26, 2025

The meeting will be held in the Legislator's Conference Room at 10AM. Our agenda is as follows:

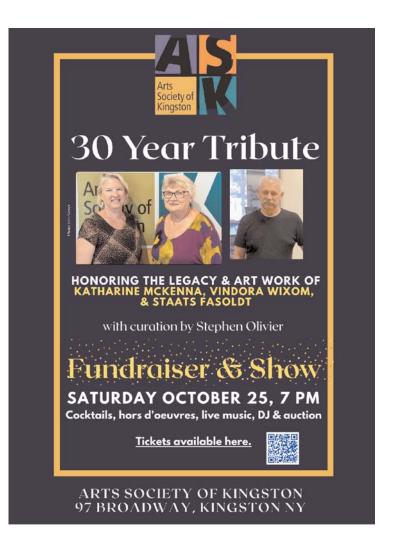

Update on the excellent progress being made in the ACC facility.

Update on the work still needed to bring Garnet to another Town Meeting to explain why so many necessary services have been cancelled, and how they can justify these cancellations.

Update on the status of the Homeless Transfer Shelter which is still in limbo, since the place, the cost, and the amount of people to be served is still contested by some in the Legislature.

We still want any and all ideas brought to us, so that we can make as forceful and effective a presentation as possible, regarding both Garnet Hospital Systems and the Homeless Shelter.

We won with the ACC situation, and will attempt to do the same with the Hospital and Homeless situations.

Lots of Sun! Lots of Fun! Lots of Tractors!

(From Pg. 1) The tractors ranged from little tiny ones in a sandbox that kept many of the kiddies entertained. Other children drove around the stage area on pedal powered tractors. There were the very old tractors -all makes and models. Some were small and some were huge.

This year's show also featured a car show, sawmills, hit & miss engines, shingle mills; an Antique Museum displaying antique household items and small farm equipment. It also had an outhouse, complete with corn cobs and an old magazine!

The antique/vintage car and truck show was a big attraction. Children enjoyed hayrides, face painting and a favorite -Timmy the Train rides.

Numerous vendors provided something for everyone!

Part of the proceeds from the show went to the Tri-Valley Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA). Some of the members of the local chapter were busy at the gate, collecting fees and greeting guests. The balance of the proceeds will go toward the annual NRAMA scholarship.

The Tri-Valley Lions at their Soda Booth or the Grahamsville Fire Department cooking burgers, sausages, and hot dogs were a familiar site for decades. While many things have been added or changed over the years, at the heart of every Neversink Rondout Antique Machinery Association Show for the past 25 years, the most important point continues, "to educate, demonstrate, and preserve" farm equipment and antique machinery.

It was a great day. Many guests claimed, "It was the best Tractor Show yet!"

Senator Gillibrand Announces New Bill to Ban Stock Holding for Trading by Senior Government Officials

• From 2019-2021, one in three members of Congress traded stocks or other financial assets, many of which posed potential conflicts of interest with their legislative responsibilities

• 86% of Americans support passing a bill to ban members of Congress from trading individual stocks

Washington, D.C. - Today, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand held a virtual press conference to introduce the No Stock Act. This critical legislation would ban senior government officials---including members of Congress, Supreme Court justices, the president, the vice President, and their immediate families---from holding or trading stocks and certain other financial assets.

Despite the passage of Senator Gillibrand's STOCK Act in 2012-which bars congressmembers from using insider information to buy and sell stocks-recent data indicates that one in three members of Congress traded stocks or other financial assets from 2019-2021, and over 3,700 of those trades posed potential conflicts of interest with their legislative responsibilities. Senator Gillibrand's new legislation would help eliminate these conflicts of interest by banning stock trading for high-ranking government officials altogether.

"Government officials are entrusted with privileged and often confidential information to carry out important work and serve the American people. It is absolutely unacceptable that so many of them seem to be using their power to advance their own financial interests," said Senator Gillibrand. "The American people deserve to know that their elected officials are working in their best interest, not watching their stock portfolios grow. By banning stock holding and trading, the No Stock Act will solve this problem once and for all. I am determined to get it across the finish line."

Senator Gillibrand has been a champion for transparency and good government throughout her career. Gillibrand led Senate passage of the STOCK Act in 2012, and she was the first member of Congress to post a daily report listing her official meetings, personal financial disclosures, earmark requests, and taxes online. In 2023, she also introduced the bipartisan Ban Stock Trading for Government Officials Act, legislation that aimed to create stringent stock trading bans and disclosure requirements for Congress, senior executive branch officials, and their spouses and dependents.

Gillibrand, Colleagues Introduce Bipartisan Bill to Expand Working Families' Access to Child Care

Legislation reauthorizes the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) for the first time in over a decade
In New York, a family of four is eligible for child care services under CCDBG if they make less than $113,567

Washington, D.C. - U.S. Senators Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY), Deb Fischer (R-NE), John Hickenlooper (D-CO), and Susan Collins (R-ME) introduced the Child Care Modernization Act, which will help provide quality, affordable child care to America's working families by reauthorizing and improving the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG).

"Affordable, quality child care is a necessity - not a luxury. Unfortunately, that is not the reality, especially in rural areas," said the senators. "With the Child Care Modernization Act, we will reauthorize and improve the Child Care and Development Block Grant to provide significant, positive change in child care access and quality. The CCDBG has provided working families with child care services for 30 years; we will continue to work to fund the program to ensure these changes can be implemented and continue to serve families who need child care assistance. It's time to reauthorize this important program to extend child care to more hardworking American families."

For over three decades, the CCDBG has been the primary federal program to help provide families with access to quality child care. Despite bipartisan support, the program has not been reauthorized since 2014. Senator Gillibrand is steadfastly committed to working in a bipartisan fashion to get these grants reauthorized and to secure funding for them.

The Child Care Modernization Act will:

- o Strengthen child care services by moving states to use cost estimation models for setting provider rates, which will adequately compensate child care providers.
- o Ensure parental choice by allowing states to develop a mixed delivery system of child care and preschool for children 0-5 and before-school, after-school, and summer care for school-age children
- o Increase child care supply by introducing a new grant program within the CCDBG framework to assist providers in creating and expanding the supply.
- o Improve state child care plans by improving support for families and communities, reducing barriers to the program, and increasing access and affordability to serve more families.
- o Assist in-home and rural child care providers by providing technical assistance, including strategies to support best business practices, and the development and use of shared services initiatives such as family child care home provider networks.
- o Reduce duplicative regulatory burdens on child care providers by ensuring states review their state and local health and safety requirements to determine redundancies and oversights that may exist.

The bill is endorsed by Afterschool Alliance, Alliance of New York State YMCAs, Bipartisan Policy Center Action, Buffett Early Childhood Institute, Child Care Aware of America, Early Care and Education Consortium (ECEC), Executives Partnering to Invest in Children (EPIC), First Five Years Fund, Independent Restaurant Coalition, KinderCare Learning Companies (KLC), Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC), Low Income Investment Fund, Moms First, National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), National Association of Counties (NACo), National Association of Women Business Owners (NAWBO), National Child Care Association, National Children's Facilities Network, Save the Children, Start Early, Tootris, and YMCA of the USA.

"Access to affordable, reliable child care is one of the biggest challenges facing working families. The Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) is a vital part of facing that challenge head on. We're grateful to Senators Deb Fischer (R-NE), Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY), John Hickenlooper (D-CO), and Susan Collins (R-ME) for their bipartisan leadership in introducing the Child Care Modernization Act. This legislation offers an important opportunity to strengthen and sustain CCDBG while also addressing child care needs in real time. This will help serve more families both now and in the future," said First Five Years Fund Executive Director Sarah Rittling.

"BPC Action is proud to endorse the Child Care Modernization Act, which reauthorizes and modernizes the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG). CCDBG has long been a bipartisan program that delivers for families, and this legislation strengthens that legacy by helping parents better access affordable, high-quality care while supporting the workforce that provides it. Child care is essential economic infrastructure for working families, and we commend Sens. Fischer (R-NE) and Gillibrand (D-NY) for their bipartisan leadership in advancing solutions that strengthen children, families, and the economy," said Michele Stockwell, president of Bipartisan Policy Center Action.

"For decades, America has treated child care like a personal problem instead of what it really is, an economic imperative. That's why it matters that Senators Fischer and Gillibrand are reaching across the aisle with the Child Care Modernization Act. Families everywhere are drowning in child care costs, and businesses are losing talent because parents can't find or afford care. No parent should have to choose between feeding their babies and funding their daycare. This bill takes a critical step by funding the supply of child care we desperately need. This is what real pro-family policy looks like," said Reshma Saujani, CEO of Moms First.

"Facilities are an essential program feature often omitted from the discussions about increasing access to affordable, quality care. This legislation is particularly impactful because it incorporates resources for states to address facilities obstacles that inhibit the ability child care operators to provide affordable, quality care. Many child care providers lack the ability to address facilities needs because razor-thin operating margins, unpredictable operating streams, and lack of consistent and effective capital subsidies make it difficult to access to mainstream financial products. This bill will make it possible to better serve children, families, child care professionals and local communities." - Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC)

"The Low Income Investment Fund applauds Senators Gillibrand (D-NY) and Fischer (R-NE) for their bipartisan leadership in addressing the needs of families, child care providers, and communities through the Child Care Modernization Act," said Dan Nissenbaum, CEO of the Low Income Investment Fund. "By recognizing the critical importance of federal investment in child care facilities, this legislation will help modernize infrastructure, strengthen quality, and ensure the health and safety of our nation's children while helping expand our workforce."

"The Child Care Modernization Act, if funded sufficiently, offers a meaningful opportunity to improve the Child Care and Development Block Grant. Because the bill would invest in the early childhood education workforce, improve how educators are paid, and build the supply of quality child care, NAEYC endorses this legislation, and is particularly appreciative of the bipartisan leadership of Senators Fischer, Gillibrand, Collins, and Hickenlooper to call for the funding necessary to implement it. We look forward to working with these offices and other leaders in Congress to continue to increase support and investment for policies that improve access to a quality child care system that works for children, families, educators, and our economy," said Daniel Hains Chief Policy & Professional Advancement Officer of NAEYC.

We are pleased to report we will be working with the Hubbard Center for Genome Studies at the University of New Hampshire. The chapter contacted fifteen possible sources to sequence the fin clippings from our 2024 efforts before making the final decision. These studies have been undertaken in partnership with the Ashokan Watershed Stream Management Program (AWSMP); they have awarded several grants to the chapter for these efforts. We also received assistance from the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYS DEC) Region 3 Fisheries. Plus, we will continue working with Dr. Spencer Bruce, who will analyze genetic sequencing results. For folks wanting to know more about this endeavor, I highly recommend the Adirondack YouTube video "South Inlet Revival", which can be found https://www.pbs.org/video/south-inlet-revival-5xypa5/. Dr. Bruce is featured in it.

Due to low streams conditions, and lack of a prior sequencing source for our 2024 fin clips, our 2025 study was postponed until 2026. When completed, that will be our fifth such undertaking since 2019.

On August 27th the New York City Department of Environmental Protection (NYC DEP) held a semi-annual review of their SPDES Permit for the Shandaken Tunnel (ST) via Zoom. The meeting was chaired by Kevin Cwalina, NYC DEP Associate Project Manager. Several DEP participants assisted, also in attendance were NYS DEC Region 3 Fisheries, NYS DEC Division of Water, NYS Health Department, Greene County Soil and Water Conservation, others, plus Tony Cocozza and myself - possibly the only Trout Unlimited members. Kevin did a nice job running the meeting and presentations and responding to questions. I collected three pages of notes, plus an email with several presentations.

Kevin presented data on Schoharie Reservoir operation with regards to water diversions via the Shandaken Tunnel for the last several months, and it was in compliance with SPDES Permit provisions. He also said the ST's High Level Intake (HLI) was operational from June 16 through July and addressed DEP's coldwater plan for the Esopus Creek, which is required by this permit. The HLI can operate between reservoir elevations of 1080 feet and 1125 feet, but its usage is also governed by SPDES permit Esopus Creek mandated flows.

There was also a lengthy presentation on various ongoing projects at the Schoharie Reservoir. Currently two of the eight Shandaken Tunnel intake gates are nonoperational, and eventually all eight gates will need to be repaired again. This will require several tunnel shutdowns. As of now, these dates are undetermined.

The High Level Outlet (HLO) planned for the Gilboa Dam, to release water downstream of the reservoir, is currently in design phase and not expected to be completed before November, 2029 at a cost of $41 million dollars. Overall, NYC DEP will have invested over half-a-billion dollars on Schoharie Reservoir renovations when these are completed. That's quite a sizeable investment in the operation and safety of their smallest Catskill reservoir.

Bobby Adams, of NYS DEC Region 3 Fisheries, wrapped up the meeting with a presentation on his experimental usage of a Cataraft, with DEP's help, electrofishing portions of Esopus Creek. Tony and I thanked NYC DEP for the information shared.

Olive Day

On September 6, our chapter had a public outreach booth at Olive Day, and chapter members spent the day talking to Esopus Creek watershed basin public members. The booth was administered by John Yanzek and his wife Amanda, Chet Karwatowski, Victoria Lawrence, Russell Martin, Roy Meyerhoff, and myself. Chapter members Chris Hensley and Paul Mihm also stopped by.

Precipitation Report

Jody Hoyt recorded Boiceville rain data for two summer months. During July, there were eight measurable events with 4.57 inches of rain having a weighted pH of 5.8. July 2024 also experienced eight events with 3.66 inches of rain with a 5.5 weighted pH. In August, there were five measurable storms, but only 1.74 inches of rain with a 5.9 weighted pH. During August 2024, there were seven storms with 8.07 inches of rain and a 5.5 weighted pH. In 2024, September and October were very dry months, like we have been experiencing of late. (Contd. Pg. 42)

Blue Mountain Trout News (From Pg. 41)

Given the lack of rain, like almost all Catskill freestone trout waters, the Esopus - actually a tailwater from the Shandaken Tunnel downstream - lies in peril due to drought conditions. As of September 17 the Schoharie Reservoir - smallest of all NYC's Catskill reservoirs - had less than 20% of its 17.6-billion-gallon capacity left, per NYC DEP's website. That was just a bit more than 3.4 billion gallons of water, which isn't much. On that same day, Esopus Creek flows at Coldbrook, per the USGS gage, registered 200 cubic feet per second (cfs), while diversions from the Shandaken Tunnel registered 180s cfs. Doing the math, 90% of Esopus flows at Coldbrook came from the Portal. Without Portal diversions, Coldbrook flows would have been 20 cfs!

Recently NYS DEC, working with NYC DEP, has twice requested NYC to reduce Portal diversions to prolong water available to the Esopus Creek via the Shandaken Tunnel, and DEP has agreed to do so. A partnership in action for the protection of Esopus Creek wild trout!

In light of the extreme low water conditions, DEC's The Fishing Line reminds trout anglers to adhere to ethical standards of fair chase on drought-stricken streams statewide. These include: land fish quickly, keep fish in water, consider a 'no-fish day' if conditions are bad, use barbless hooks and artificals, respect landowners and property, and be aware of spawning fish. Do not target trout actively spawning, allow them to finish nature's journey. Please adhere to these ethics and share them with others.

Stone Dams Block Spawning Fish!

With stream flows so low and with spawning season of brown and brook trout fast approaching, when you're out and about fishing and you come upon a stone dam left behind by summer wet waders, please make an effort to breach it. You don't have to dismantle the dam, just create an opening in the rocks so water can flow through. No permit is needed if you do this by hand. Most often you encounter quite a few dams on NYS Forest Preserve waters. If the dam is located on private property, seek permission first before attempting this, and take the opportunity to educate the landowner. The trout will thank you and your efforts should increase your odds of catching wild trout in 2026.

Jerry Bartlett Angling Collection to Honor Ed Van Put on Nov. 2

The next installment in the Jerry Bartlett Angling Collection "Sporting Legends of the Catskills" series will feature the late Ed Van Put. On Sunday, November 2, 2025 from 1 to 3 PM at the Phoenicia Library, Judy Van Put will present a program about the life and career of her husband, Ed. Noted author Nick Lyons will join her in conversation. Copies of Ed's latest book, Flyfisher's Revelations: Practical Tips, Strategies, and Wisdom from Fifty Years Experience, will be available for sale.

Iconic Five Arches Bridge - Gone but not Forgotten

NYC's 28A Five Arches bridge has long been an Esopus Creek angler's icon. It was in service since 1913, outliving its projected lifespan. In recent years, unfortunately, its design also contributed to flooding during significant storms. Work to replace it started in November of 2021 and should be completed by the end of the year at a cost of roughly $33 million dollars.

I fondly recall Arnold Gingrich's The Well-Tempered Angler and the chapter "Preston Jennings for President--- or, There Is a Royal Coachman." Before there was an extended trout season, Gingrich writes about "fishing for bass" in November, in the shadows of Five Arches and hooking rainbow trout the size of salmon grilse, 22 to 25 inches long. Gingrich and Five Arches are gone now, but not forgotten.

Chasing Wild Brook Trout in the Catskills

As this newsletter touched earlier upon wild brook trout, you might enjoy Alvin Montana's YouTube video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=S0MRQ6pf3pE. Alvin - aka the Adirondack Trout Bum - is an active member of TU's Mohawk Valley Chapter and is involved with preservation of Adirondack brook trout. This video takes place near the heart of Cecil Heacox's "Charmed Circle of the Catskills."

Three Angling Legends Pass

Perhaps you're aware, but if not, since the last newsletter we lost three talented flyfishers who made celebrated contributions to our pastime. On August 2 ,noted bamboo rod maker Art Weiler, Jr. (age 80) passed away. On August 20, noted fly tyer/author A.K. Best (age 90) passed. On August 26 noted saltwater flyfisher/tyer, author, and host of ESPN's Walker's Cay Chronicles Flip Pallot (age 83) passed. May they all Rest in Peace. And I don't know about you, but at my age I'm starting to not recognize the forest as its stately trees are being dismantled.

Treasurer's Report

At the end of August, John Yanzek reported the chapter's total cash assets remained the same at $12,739.11. This report does not include any funds from the chapter's September 13 annual Dinner and Stewardship Evening. The next newsletter will contain details on that.

Ulster County Website Redesigned to Better Meet User Needs

KINGSTON, NY - Visitors to ulstercountyny.gov may have noticed a major upgrade: The County government website has been fully redesigned to better serve residents, municipalities, businesses, and visitors with a more modern, user-friendly experience.

The website overhaul, led by Assistant Deputy County Executive Rebecca Rojer with support from the Ulster County Information Services and Executive Communications teams, addresses long-standing issues with the previous site, which was plagued by outdated content, broken links, and a layout that was challenging for users to navigate. The new site is streamlined, intuitive, and designed to help people more easily find the information and services they need. Several departments with the most public-facing services received a full content refresh, while others will be updated in phases starting this fall.

"The old County website was clunky, hard to use, and something of a dinosaur that hadn't been modernized since it was first created more than a decade ago," said Ulster County Executive Jen Metzger. "The refreshed website is now much more intuitive, friendly, and accessible by users of all kinds, including residents, businesses, tourists, community providers, and local governments. I want to give a special thanks to Assistant Deputy County Executive Rebecca Rojer, who led this massive undertaking, working with the website consultant and dozens of County departments, and bringing her exceptional design and organizational expertise to the task."

Key features of the new website include:

- o Topic-Based Service Directories: Nearly 250 programs, services, and resource guides cataloged by topic, such as health, housing, forms and permits, emergency and crisis, business, agriculture, etc. Previously, users had to search department webpages individually to find information they needed, making it challenging to access information in a timely way, especially if users were not familiar with County departments.
- o Functional Search: A powerful search bar that helps users find what they need quickly.
- o Top Tasks & Emergency Resources: Popular services and urgent contacts featured prominently on the homepage. This level of quick accessibility is especially important for residents in times of emergency or crisis.
- o Accessibility & Plain Language: Pages are consistently formatted and written in clear, straightforward language to support translation through browser tools.
- o Mobile-Friendly Design: Fully responsive layout for phones and tablets.
- o Transparency Center: Easy access to budgets, policies, reports, and public records.
- o Local Directory & Events Calendar: Contact info and programming from across County departments.
- o Coming Soon: Digital forms, online payments, and a Boards & Commissions portal.

A public feedback survey is available on the site to help guide future improvements.

The project began with extensive community and staff surveys, stakeholder interviews, and web traffic analysis in 2023.

Over the past year, the team worked closely with departments to rewrite and reorganize content, prioritize high-traffic pages, and ensure legal compliance.

"This was a big job - but a necessary one," said Assistant Deputy County Executive Rebecca Rojer. "We knew from the start that the old website wasn't serving our community well. Our goal was to build something that's not only functional and accessible but also reflects the values of transparency and public service. In doing so, we had the opportunity to take a comprehensive look at the many services Ulster County provides and it was a powerful reminder of just how much our government does to support residents every day. I'm incredibly proud of what we've accomplished and excited to keep improving based on user feedback."

The launch is just the beginning. Ulster County will continue to audit and refresh department pages, expand digital services, and collaborate with departments on communications planning. Visitors to the new site are invited to share their experiences through the live survey, which will help shape improvements in the future.

To explore the new website and learn more, visit https://ulstercountyny.gov.

Ulster County Historian Supports 3rd Annual New Paltz Community Partners Lecture

KINGSTON, NY - The Ulster County Historian was proud to help the New Paltz Community Partners plan their 3rd Annual Community Partners Lecture, taking place on Saturday, October 4, from 4:00 to 5:30 PM at the Elting Memorial Library, 93 Main Street, New Paltz.

This year's lecture, Repair At the Ruins: Preserving African American Spaces, will feature a presentation by Scott Ruff, Adjunct Associate Professor of Architecture at Pratt Institute. The program will explore how African American knowledge, labor, and creativity shaped both monumental and everyday structures, and how architecture continues to convey the presence, aspirations, and expertise of African Americans across time.

The New Paltz Community Partners Lecture Series brings together the Margaret Wade-Lewis Center, Elting Memorial Library, Historic Huguenot Street, and the New Paltz Historical Society to present programs that highlight diverse stories and perspectives in local and national history.

"Events like this strengthen our understanding of Ulster County's past while fostering dialogue about how history connects to the present," said Ulster County Historian Eddie Moran. "We are proud to support our local partners in creating opportunities for learning and reflection."

This program is free and open to the public. Space is limited and registration is required. Register by going to huguenot-street.org/calendar-of-events/2025/10/4.

DEC Reminds New Yorkers to Use Caution When Outdoor Burning

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Amanda Lefton today urged all New Yorkers to exercise extra caution before any outdoor burning. Current warm and dry conditions are causing an increased fire risk across New York State, and DEC encourages people to put safety first, not leave fires unattended, and ensure all fires are fully extinguished.

"Much of New York is abnormally dry and fire risk is either high or moderate for the entire state, so it's absolutely essential New Yorkers are mindful of the risk when doing any kind of residential outdoor burning," said Commissioner Lefton. "Campers, hunters, and other outdoor enthusiasts should avoid building campfires outside of established fire rings or pits to not only keep themselves safe, but also our Forest Rangers who respond to fires that start burning out of control."

Daily fire danger ratings may fluctuate based on weather, but the overall risk is elevated beyond what is typical for this time of year. These conditions are expected to continue through the month of September and may persist through October. With the fall foliage and dry autumn season beginning, fire risk will continue to be a concern.

Since Aug.1, DEC Forest Rangers have responded to 53 fires burning nearly 26 acres of land. Approximately half of those were caused by campfires that broke containment or were not extinguished properly. People often think a fire has been extinguished, but in dry conditions, hot embers burn into the ground where they can smolder for days or even weeks before being detected as a wildfire. To properly extinguish a campfire, pour copious amounts of water on the fire, stir any remaining coals to mix the water into the fire bed, and make sure the fire is cool to the touch before leaving it.

If you encounter a wildfire in the forest, dial 911 to report the fire and be prepared to give a location of the fire to first responders. If you encounter unattended campfires on DEC lands, contact Forest Ranger Dispatch at: 1-833-NYS-RANGERS (1-833-697-7264).

Wildfire Prevention Tips

- o Completely extinguish all campfires. Fires should be doused with water and stirred to mix ashes and water until ashes are cool enough to touch with the back of your hand. Remember, if it's too hot to touch, it's too hot to leave.
- o Never discard ashes from campfires, charcoal grills, woodstoves, or cigarettes on vegetation or the forest floor.
- o Refrain from smoking in areas with flammable vegetation or organic soils. Cigarette butts and ashes should never be discarded in the forest regardless of location. If you carry it in, carry it out!
- o Do not drive off established road or park on top of vegetation. Hot mufflers and catalytic converters can ignite vegetation that touches them.
- o When operating chainsaws, generators, and other power equipment ensure it has a functioning muffler with spark arrestor. Have supplies (shovel, water, fire extinguisher) to deal with a fire if one should start.
- o Check local regulations for your intended destination for any additional restrictions on fires.
- o Make sure that all vegetation and flammable material are far away from your fire.
- o Never leave a fire unattended. Always be careful with fire.
- o And "Remember...Only You Can Prevent Wildfires."

Fallsburg CSD Introduces Food Pantries for Families

FALLSBURG - The Fallsburg Central School District is excited to announce the opening of two food pantries, which are located at both the Fallsburg Junior-Senior High School and Benjamin Cosor Elementary School. These pantries are designed to provide families with easy access to nutritious food and essential household items.

The pantries are made possible through the generous support of Sullivan 180, which funds the program, and the Hudson Valley Regional Food Bank, which supplies the food and household goods. Items available vary each month, but families can expect essentials such as canned goods, rice, beans, condiments, cooking oils and shelf-stable dairy products, as well as non-food items including laundry detergent, dish soap, and deodorant.

Parents and guardians of Fallsburg students may schedule an appointment to visit the pantry or request a pre-packed bag of items. Delivery is also available upon request. To access this resource, please contact Lindsay Severino at Iseverino@fallsburgcsd.net or (845) 434-6800 extension 1277.

Senator Gillibrand Announce New Bill to Ban Stock Holding or Trading by Senior Government Officials

- From 2019-2021, one in three members of Congress traded stocks or other financial assets, many of which posed potential conflicts of interest with their legislative responsibilities
  - 86% of Americans support passing a bill to ban members of Congress from trading individual stocks

Washington, D.C. - Today, U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand held a virtual press conference to introduce the No Stock Act. This critical legislation would ban senior government officials---including members of Congress, Supreme Court justices, the president, the vice President, and their immediate families---from holding or trading stocks and certain other financial assets.

Despite the passage of Senator Gillibrand's STOCK Act in 2012-which bars congressmembers from using insider information to buy and sell stocks-recent data indicates that one in three members of Congress traded stocks or other financial assets from 2019-2021, and over 3,700 of those trades posed potential conflicts of interest with their legislative responsibilities. Senator Gillibrand's new legislation would help eliminate these conflicts of interest by banning stock trading for high-ranking government officials altogether.

13 North Hd

Bloomingburg, NY

"Government officials are entrusted with privileged and often confidential information to carry out important work and serve the American people. It is absolutely unacceptable that so many of them seem to be using their power to advance their own financial interests," said Senator Gillibrand. "The American people deserve to know that their elected officials are working in their best interest, not watching their stock portfolios grow. By banning stock holding and trading, the No Stock Act will solve this problem once and for all. I am determined to get it across the finish line."

Senator Gillibrand has been a champion for transparency and good government throughout her career. Gillibrand led Senate passage of the STOCK Act in 2012, and she was the first member of Congress to post a daily report listing her official meetings, personal financial disclosures, earmark requests, and taxes online. In 2023, she also introduced the bipartisan Ban Stock Trading for Government Officials Act, legislation that aimed to create stringent stock trading bans and disclosure requirements for Congress, senior executive branch officials, and their spouses and dependents.

Introducing the House Companion to Senator Cotton's No Bail Post-Jail Act

This week, I introduced House companion legislation to Senator Tom Cotton's (R-AR) No Bail Post-Jail Act that ensures violent repeat offenders are kept off our streets. The bill denies bail for any individual previously incarcerated for a violent felony who is arrested for a new felony offense. It defines violent felonies to include heinous crimes such as murder, aggravated assault, robbery, and sexual assault, and applies to adults as well as juveniles charged as adults. It also establishes prior incarceration as serving any time in a state or federal correctional facility, comprising sentences as short as 30 days, but excluding pretrial detention without conviction. For too long, dangerous criminals have cycled in and out of our justice system while innocent families pay the price. If someone has already been convicted of a violent felony and commits another, they should not be released back into our communities while awaiting trial.

This commonsense reform restores accountability and prioritizes law-abiding citizens. After years of soft-on-crime policies that have emboldened repeat offenders, I introduced this bill alongside Senator Cotton to put public safety first, guarantee violent criminals stay behind bars, and restore faith in our justice system.

Calling on Syracuse University to Hold Professors Accountable For Celebrating Charlie Kirk's Murder

While Americans across the country are mourning the tragic murder of Charlie Kirk, two Syracuse University professors, Jenn Jackson and Farhana Sultana, used their platforms to celebrate and mock his death. Their appalling remarks included comments such as "rest in piss," "give him what he valued: no empathy," referring to him as "trash," and even thanking a so-called "witch" for cursing his life.

This type of conduct is reprehensible and has no place in any institution of higher learning. Syracuse University must immediately hold these professors accountable and publicly disclose the steps being taken to address their behavior. If the University continues to employ Professors Jackson and Sultana, it should forfeit every dollar of federal funding. Academic freedom does not extend to celebrating the assassination of an American citizen. Syracuse must act now.

Protecting America from Terror-Sponsoring Regimes

Alongside Senator Ted Cruz (R-TX), I reintroduced the Strengthening Entry Visa Enforcement and Restrictions (SEVER) Act to block Iranian regime officials from setting foot on American soil. Building on President Trump's 2019 executive order that sanctioned the Iranian Supreme Leader and senior officials for sponsoring terrorism and committing horrific human rights abuses, this bill ensures that those same officials are categorically denied entry into the United States, including for appearances at the United Nations. The Iranian regime under President Masoud Pezeshkian continues to fund terrorism, destabilize the Middle East, and brutalize its own people while threatening Americans and our allies. The SEVER Act empowers President Trump to guarantee that the United States will never be a platform for tyrants and terrorists to spread propaganda or legitimize their oppression.

No Free Society Without Rule of Law

The fight to keep repeat violent offenders off our streets is part of a larger challenge, restoring law and order across our nation. Criminals are exploiting sanctuary city policies, leaving families, businesses, and entire communities at risk, while leaders like Mayor Bowser in Washington, D.C., refuse to cooperate with law enforcement. ICE and the National Guard are working diligently to take the worst of the worst off our streets, but their efforts are undermined by radical policies that shield criminals.

Here in New York, we've seen firsthand what weak leadership and anti-police rhetoric produce: convenience stores forced to lock up basic necessities due to rampant theft, law enforcement stretched thin after defund and demoralize campaigns, and families grieving lives lost to drugs and violence fueled by illegal immigration and trafficking. A free society cannot exist without respect for the rule of law. That's why we must invest in law enforcement, end sanctuary city policies, and prioritize the safety of law-abiding Americans.

As your representative in Congress, my top priority is championing legislative initiatives that benefit you and your families. Each week, I review numerous bills and letters, engaging in thorough discussions with members of our community to determine which actions to support and address your needs. Below are a few bills I recently cosponsored.

H.R. 1575, No American Land for Communist China Act: This bill would prevent the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) or any other Chinese government-affiliated companies from buying land adjacent to federally owned land in the United States. China has aggressively ramped up its malign activities across the world, and land acquisitions near military bases and federal installations pose one of the most significant national security and economic threats to the United States. This bill enhances our national defenses and safeguards critical federal properties from foreign actors seeking to expand their dangerous influence globally.

H.R. 2251, Protecting Individuals with Down Syndrome Act: This bill would prohibit doctors from knowingly performing an abortion because of a baby's prenatal Down syndrome diagnosis. Specifically, this legislation holds the doctors who perform the abortions, and doctors can face a fine, imprisonment of up to five years, or both. All children deserve the chance to live, and discriminatory abortions based on an individual's genetic code are a reprehensible practice that must be ended.

H.R. 175, Deport Alien Gang Members Act: This bill would make non-U.S. citizens who have assisted criminal gangs inadmissible for entry into the United States and non-U.S. citizens within the U.S. deportable. Specifically, this bill established procedures and guidelines for federal law enforcement to deport or deny entry to noncitizens who are known to be aiding illegal activities by gang members. Additionally, this bill would establish guidelines for the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to designate a group as a criminal gang. Those who aid gang members in committing crimes should be held accountable, and this bill would assist law enforcement in keeping our communities safe.

This Week with Claudia (From Pg. 55)

Transparency in Congress and a well-informed electorate are vital to preserving our self-governing Constitutional Republic. My constituents deserve to know how their members of Congress vote, which is why I have explained every vote I have cast in Congress since I was first elected.

Monday, September 15

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 3400, the TRAVEL Act of 2025. This bill authorizes the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to assign VA doctors to temporarily serve as traveling physicians in U.S. territories for up to one year. For veterans living in the U.S. territories, access to VA medical care is often challenging. This legislation provides additional help to our veterans and allows the VA to carry out its function to serve those who fought for our freedoms. This bill passed the House by a vote of 371-21.

Tuesday, September 16

I voted "Yes" to H.R. 2721, the Honoring Our Heroes Act of 2025. This bill establishes a pilot program under the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to furnish a headstone or burial marker for deceased veterans who died on or after December 7, 1941. Under current federal law, the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) does not provide government-issued headstones for veterans who died before November 1, 1990, which has been a struggle for families wishing to honor their loved one. This bill helps family members replace old, worn-out gravestones to ensure that our veterans' graves are properly marked and their service and sacrifice is honored. This legislation passed the House by a unanimous vote of 413-0.

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 4922, the DC CRIMES Act. Over the past several years, Washington, D.C. has experienced alarming increases in violent crime and theft due to the radical pro-crime and pro-criminal policies of the Marxist DC City Council. Overall crime is up significantly, homicides are now twice as high as they were in 2012, and car thefts have also more than doubled since 2022. Instead of cracking down on criminals, the D.C. Council moved to change the law so that offenders as old as 25 would still be treated as "youths," shielding them from adult charges. H.R. 4922 reverses this change, and requires a public website detailing juvenile criminal statistics, so the public has the information they need to keep them and their families safe. H.R. 4922 passed the House by a vote of 240-179.

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 5140, To lower the age at which a minor may be tried as an adult for certain criminal offenses in the District of Columbia to 14 years of age. In 2024, DC's homicide rate was the fourth highest in the nation, and its overall crime rate was also among the highest in the country. A disproportionate amount of these crimes are committed by youth, who under DC's current laws, cannot be charged as adults no matter the crime. This bill would esnure that individuals 14 and older who commit heinous crimes, such as murder, sexual abuse, or armed robbery, are charged as adults and held accountable for their actions. We cannot allow soft on crime policies by Mayor Bowser and the DC City Council to continue threatening the safety of all Americans who visit our nation's capital. H.R. 5140 passed the House by a vote of 225-203.

Wednesday, September 17

I voted "No" on the Motion to Table H.Res. 713, Censuring Representative Ilhan Omar of Minnesota and removing her from the Committee on Education and Workforce and the Committee on the Budget. Congresswoman Omar disgraced both herself and the House of Representatives when she promoted a post on X (formerly known as Twitter) that said heinous things about Charlie Kirk and his tragic assassination. While every American enjoys their First Amendment right to Freedom of Speech, this freedom provides protection from prosecution and imprisonment, not freedom from consequences. Congresswoman Omar should not be allowed to continue serving on Committees in the House of Representatives given her disgraceful victim blaming and promoting content that celebrated Charlie Kirk's death. I voted against the Motion to Table to ensure Congress could consider this important resolution. All members of Congress must be held to the highest ethical standards and Congresswoman Omar clearly failed to meet even the most basic standards of decorum. The Motion to Table passed by a vote of 214-213.

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 5125, the District of Columbia Judicial Nominations Reform Act. Under the Constitutional process for filling judicial vacancies, the President nominates an individual of their choosing with the advice and consent of the Senate. However, under the DC Home Rule Act, the President's power to nominate judges to the DC Superior Court and the DC Court of Appeals is inappropriately hampered by requiring the consent of the DC Judicial Nomination Commission. No other State has a similar body or power, and the DC Judicial Nomination Commission suffers from left-wing bias and radical influences. This important bill removes the DC Judicial Nomination Commission's influence on this process, allowing the President to exercise his constitutional authority and nominate the judges that he would like to nominate. H.R. 5125 passed the House by a vote of 218-211.

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 5143, the District of Columbia Policing Protection Act. As part of the DC City Council's support for crime and criminals, the DC City Council banned law enforcement officers from engaging in a vehicular pursuit of a suspect, unless they have committed a violent crime or pose an immediate threat of death or serious bodily injury to another person. By handcuffing our law enforcement officers, instead of allowing them to handcuff criminals, the DC City Council has made it clear that they do not care about everyday Americans. Each year, millions of Americans visit our nation's capital to honor our nation's history and heritage, however, DC's pro-crime policies pose a threat to these patriotic Americans. This bill will allow law enforcement officers in DC to pursue criminals as necessary, helping to keep DC safe for all. H.R. 5143 passed the House by a vote of 245-182.

Thursday, September 18

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 3062, the Promoting Cross-Border Energy Infrastructure Act. This bill streamlines the outdated permitting process for cross-border pipelines and transmission lines, replacing decades-old executive orders with a clear and modern framework that brings certainty to energy developers. By giving the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) and Department of Energy (DOE) responsibility for reviewing these projects, we can make permitting decisions based on affordability and practicality, not advancing radical political agendas. Projects like Keystone XL should never again be stalled or cancelled, no matter which administration occupies the White House. New York families deserve access to affordable, reliable energy without bureaucratic delays or political gamesmanship. This legislation is a smart step to create good-paying jobs, strengthen energy security, lower costs, and reinforce our integrated North American energy market. This bill passed the House by a vote of 224-203

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 3015, the National Coal Council Reestablishment Act. This bill restores the National Coal Council (NCC) as a formal advisory body to the Department of Energy, giving coal communities and energy experts a seat at the table as we chart our nation's energy future. By reestablishing the NCC under its prior charter and shielding it from automatic termination under federal advisory rules, the bill ensures continuity, transparency, and long-term input from an industry that's too often villainized and dismissed.

This Week with Claudia (

(From Pg. 56)

At a time when our outdated grid is under further strain from increased demand, this legislation sends a clear message that energy reliability is non-negotiable and all energy sources, including coal, deserve a fair hearing in our national strategy. This bill passed the House by a vote of 217-209.

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 1047, the GRID Power Act. This bill cuts through the backlog in our nation's overwhelmed interconnection queue by giving grid operators the authority to fast-track critical, reliability-enhancing projects like natural gas, nuclear, and advanced baseload power. It ensures grid operators still conduct feasibility and system impact studies but accelerates approvals, so shovel-ready projects don't sit idle while communities face rising energy prices and potential blackouts. We cannot afford to gamble with the reliability of America's electric grid, especially as electricity demand surges due to the growth of data centers, domestic manufacturing, and AI infrastructure. Power generation simply isn't keeping up as the retirement of power plants currently outpaces new generation. This legislation is a commonsense approach to ensure the reliability of New York's power supply. The bill passed the House by a vote of 216-

Friday, September 19

I voted "Yes" on H.R. 5371, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2026. This clean continuing resolution (CR) extends government funding through November 21, 2025. While CRs are never ideal, this bill does not expand government spending and gives Congress additional time to negotiate the final Fiscal Year 2026 appropriations bills and go through regular order. This CR was strongly supported by President Trump to allow his administration to continue doing its important work for the American people. Unfortunately, Congressional Democrats refused to support this bill, despite the fact that they had requested a short-term clean CR. Instead, Congressional Democrats want to play politics with a government shutdown, and debate nongermane and unrelated policy provisions. Luckily, House Republicans are committed to keeping our government functioning for the American people. The bill passed the House by a vote of 217-212.

I voted "Yes" on H.Res. 719, Honoring the life and legacy of Charles "Charlie" James Kirk. Our nation watchedin horror last week as Charlie Kirk was brutally assassinated in an act of political violence. I am heartbroken by the tragic death of Charlie Kirk and my prayers are with his wife, Erika, and their children as they walk through this unimaginable loss. Charlie dedicated his life to awakening young Americans to love their country and defend its values. He inspired countless students and future leaders to stand and fight for America. This horrific act has stolen a husband, a father, and a courageous voice for truth. While disappointing, it is sadly not surprising that 58 Democrats voted against this resolution that condemned political violence and honored the life of Charlie Kirk. We must condemn political violence whenever it occurs, as violence is never acceptable. The resolution passed the House by a vote of 310-58, with 38 members voting present.

Amidst the chaos and dysfunction in DC, my mission remains clear: serving you and fighting back against any policy that would harm Hudson Valley families.

Here's some of how I fought for a more affordable, more safe, and free Hudson Valley:

FIGHTING BACK AGAINST UNITED HEALTH'S HARM-FUL MONOPOLY

UnitedHealth owns the insurance company, they own your doctor, they own the pharmacy and they own the software that processes all of your information - and they use it all to keep prices high and drive quality down.

I introduced my "Patients Over Profits Act" to change that by breaking up UnitedHealth. Read more about it here https://patryan.house.gov/media/press-releases/congressman-patryan-introduces-patients-over-profits-act-lower-costsand?fbclid=IwZXh0bgNhZW0CMTAAYnJpZBExQ3o5Z2Vya3 FMNVdwcEF5bQEeGf0fyaV1E-

4CwC_eGI7oQuH21dqyAyYwyLFN2hY9lMW3BCshQKlf1W8 6iVo_aem_wOaffivMTPToN6w4TX-gbA

We need to bring back the local, independent doctors offices and pharmacies whose sole priority is caring for you and your family - not United's quarterly earnings report.

We need to bring down the price of your care, and make sure you're not billed a dime more than you owe.

We need to build a system where patients can quickly access quality care right here in the community, without facing endless roadblocks, and healthcare workers get the fair wages they deserve for their heroic work.

Breaking up UnitedHealth's insurance and physician businesses is the first step toward building something better, where every American can get the care they deserve at a price they can afford. PROTECTING CRITICAL FUNDING FOR HUDSON VALLEY SCHOOLS

Thank you to Highland Falls-Fort Montgomery Central School District Superintendent McElduff and his team for meeting with me to discuss the importance of federal Impact Aid funding and how my Fairness in Education Funding Act would protect this crucial funding program.

The Federal Impact Aid program delivers funding for school districts that are located near federal lands and lose out on dollars from local property tax revenue - like the Highland Falls-Fort Montgomery Central School District next to West Point and the Hyde Park School District near the National Park Service-operated Home of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

With Hudson Valley students depending on this funding, I introduced the "Fairness in Education Funding Act" to ensure that the Federal Impact Aid program remains fully funded and that our schools can rely on it for years to come. HONORING A HERO

This week, we lost a true hero, New York State Police Sergeant Nigel Barnett, to a tragic motorcycle crash.

Rebecca and I send our deepest condolences to Sergeant Barnett's loved ones, his fellow officers at NYSP, and our entire Hudson Valley community.

He will be greatly missed by us all. (Contd. PG. 58)

SAFEGUARDING MEDICARE

Using artificial intelligence (AI) to decide which seniors get the healthcare they need and who's out of luck while funneling record-breaking profits to healthcare monopolies?

That's a big NO from me and is why I joined colleagues on a letter to demand that the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services immediately end its plan to begin a pilot program to require prior authorization for certain procedures and hire private companies to use AI to do it. Read more about it here.

https://www.nytimes.com/2025/08/28/health/medicare-prior-approval-health-care.html?partner=slack&smid=sl-share&fbclid=IwY2xjawM5AlNleHRuA2FlbQIxMABicmlkETFFZkRSU1JaakpLQWxKQWIYAR7svcMe_yGT5JJ6ykYRQcxFc93NXFVJ1ZKWcamc3zuKeZlzHcsFXAQRIXuSQQ_aem_-uxSh-t2rDXc1_blgkg_cw

I will keep fighting back against the attacks on Medicare and any policy that would harm Hudson Valley families.

FIGHTING ALONGSIDE OUR MILITARY FAMILIES

It was truly an honor to meet with TAPS, an incredible organization dedicated to providing care and resources for grieving military families.

Your strength is an inspiration. I will be fighting right alongside you every step of the way.

New York School Bus Incentive Program (NYSBIP): Governor Kathy Hochul announced $200 million in new funding for zero-emission school buses through the Environmental Bond Act of 2022. Distributed via the NYSBIP, the funds support electric bus purchases, charging infrastructure, and fleet planning to improve air quality and reduce pollution in communities across the state. The funding is available on a first-come, first-served basis with incentive amounts covering up to 100 percent of the incremental cost of a new or repowered electric school bus. This helps offset some or all of the difference in purchase price between zero-emission buses and comparable diesel or gasoline buses. All school bus fleet operators in New York State can also qualify for funding for fleet electrification plans, which provide a customized roadmap for electric bus adoption.

Weatherization Assistance Program is the largest residential energy conservation program in the country. NYS WAP assists income-eligible homeowners and some renters* in our state by reducing heating and cooling costs through energy-conservation measures, while also addressing health and safety issues in their homes. Households with incomes at or below 60% of state median income are eligible for assistance. Program services are available to both homeowners and renters, with priority given to senior citizens, families with children, and people with disabilities. If a household contains a member who receives Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) benefits or certain other forms of public assistance, the household is automatically eligible for NYS WAP services. Applications are accepted from renters, homeowners, and rental property owners. Potential program participants apply by contacting the WAP provider that serves their area.

Welcome to Kirsten's New York Minute!

Here's what she's been up to this week:

1. Working to ban congressional stock trading

Americans deserve to have confidence that their elected officials are using their power to advance the interests of their constituents, not grow their stock portfolios.

That's why this week, Kirsten introduced the No Stock Act, which would ban senior government officials-including members of Congress, Supreme Court justices, the president, and the vice president-from holding or trading stocks and certain other financial assets. This is a commonsense bill, and Kirsten is determined to get it passed.

2. Fighting for paid family leave

National paid family and medical leave is vital to make sure that workers can handle serious medical and family events without fear of losing their jobs or their paychecks.

This week, Kirsten joined Rep. Rosa DeLauro to lead the fight for paid leave by reintroducing the FAMILY Act. This critical legislation would create the nation's first permanent, guaranteed paid family and medical leave program, giving workers the flexibility and dignity they deserve.

3. Demanding FDA oversight of foreign drugs

Ensuring that all drugs imported into the United States fully comply with our laws and regulations is crucial to keep Americans safe. (Contd. Pg. 60)

Welcome to Kirsten's New York Minute!

(From Pg. 59) This week, Kirsten held a Senate Aging Committee hearing to discuss the FDA's pattern of allowing foreign generic drugmakers to export drugs to America even when their facilities have been found to fall below our standards. Following the hearing, she and Aging Committee Chairman Rick Scott sent a bipartisan letter to the FDA raising concerns and requesting information about FDA's oversight of foreign drug manufacturing and how it may threaten the quality and safety of drugs sold in the United States.

4. Fighting for affordable child care

Access to high-quality, affordable child care is critical for working families in New York and across the country. It's time that we bring child care into the 21st century so that every family has the resources they need for their kids to thrive.

That's why this week, Kirsten introduced bipartisan legislation to help states expand child care facilities; recruit, train, and retain qualified child care workers; and help ensure that care is available to every family that needs it.

5. Meeting with New Yorkers

Kirsten enjoyed meeting with a variety of New York groups this week, from affordable housing advocates to Gold Star families.

At her meeting with the North Country Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian government, her pup Maple even got to join!

6. Helping constituents get retirement benefits

A Brooklyn constituent contacted Kirsten's office for help withdrawing funds from his federal retirement account after repeatedly contacting the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and receiving no response from the agency.

Kirsten's office worked for several weeks with OPM on his behalf. As a result, he was finally issued a refund of his nearly $30,000 in FERS contributions.

Individual casework is Kirsten's top priority. If you need help with any federal agency, contact her here.

7. Celebrating the city of Buffalo

Wednesday was Buffalo Nite in Washington, and Kirsten had a blast! She celebrated all that the city has to offer by enjoying wings, beef on weck, and sponge candy.

Gillibrand, Scott Demand FDA Investigation in to the Safety of Foreign-manufactured Generic Drugs, Request Answers on Ties to Forced Labor in China

Washington, D.C. - Following a Senate Aging Committee hearing earlier this week, Ranking Member Kirsten Gillibrand and Chairman Rick Scott sent a bipartisan letter to Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Commissioner Martin Makary raising concern and requesting information about FDA's oversight of foreign drug manufacturing and how it may threaten the quality and safety of drugs marketed and sold in the United States. This letter follows the committee's hearing on America's overreliance on foreign-manufactured generic drugs and the risks this poses to our seniors and national security.

"Ensuring that all drugs imported into the United States fully comply with our laws and regulations is crucial to keep Americans safe," said Senator Gillibrand. "I am deeply concerned by the FDA's pattern of allowing foreign generic drugmakers to export drugs to America even when their facilities have been found to fall below our standards. This is a threat to our seniors and our national security. We must provide better oversight to ensure that all Americans are protected, and I'm committed to pressing the FDA on this issue."

"We've seen the FDA impose import bans on foreign drug manufacturing facilities for violating basic quality and safety standards, only to later issue exemptions, waivers, and carve-outs that allow drugs from those same facilities to still be imported simply because they're on a shortage list. That means the FDA may be allowing potentially unsafe, low-quality drugs into American homes, and our seniors are especially at risk. That's unacceptable," said Senator Scott. "This week, I, alongside Ranking Member Kirsten Gillibrand, sent a letter to Commissioner Makary requesting information and answers to this ongoing problem. I'm deeply concerned that the FDA's enforcement decisions are being overridden to address short-term shortages while ignoring long-term consequences. We need transparency, accountability, and a serious commitment to strengthening domestic manufacturing and ensuring every drug, whether made here in the U.S. or abroad, meets the same high standards Americans deserve."

In the letter, the chairman and ranking member highlight a troubling pattern in which the FDA's Center for Drug Evaluation and Research appears to override safety-related enforcement actions recommended by the agency's own Office of Inspections and Investigations, allowing drugs from facilities potentially in violation of the FDA's standards to be imported into the U.S., putting seniors at risk of purchasing lowquality and potentially unsafe generic prescription medications. This includes cases such as Sun Pharma, a major generic drug manufacturer in India, where imports have continued despite repeated violations. The senators also questioned the FDA's potential noncompliance with the Uyghur Forced Labor Prevention Act, pointing to the possibility that pharmaceutical suppliers operating in China's Xinjiang region may be linked to forced labor. The chair and ranking member asked the commissioner to look into this and provide answers to the committee.

The letter can be found HERE: https://www.gillibrand.senate.gov/wp-content/uploads/2025/09/LettertoFDA.pdf
